PROXY MARCH STARTS

Rally One Of Biggest Since '65 Selma Trek

. . . MARCHERS SHOVED TO SHOULDER

Hernando, Miss. (UPI) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and the nation's biggest civil rights groups took up James Meredith's march through Mississippi Tuesday at the spot where a sniper shot him down. They vowed to make it "bigger than Selma."

Only about 20 men marched Tuesday after state troopers shoved them off the pavement — but leaders said they expected several hundred would turn out Wednesday.

Coldwater Bridge

They stopped for the day at the bridge over the Coldwater River, eight miles from the woods where Meredith was shot Monday, and went back to Memphis for a mass meeting.

Meredith was to join the march to Jackson, more than 200 miles away, when he is released from a Memphis hospital — possibly Wednesday.

It was one of the biggest public assemblages of Negro leaders since the 1965 Selma-to-Montgomery trek. In addition to King of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, speakers were Roy Wilkins of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, Whitney Young of the Urban League, Stokely Carmichael of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, and Floyd McKissick of the Congress of Racial Equality.

Overflow

More than a thousand persons overflowed Cenetenary Baptist Church and many had to be housed in another church several blocks away — thus forcing their leaders to make two identical speeches.

Wilkins, in his 10-minute speech, urged Negroes to "use your energy" to get civil rights legislation passed instead of "hating the whole white race. We must convice Mississippi that she is a part of the 50 States."

Young told the crowd, "Don't waste your time being mad at dumb, ignorant white people. Let us be mad at people who don't register to vote. The blood my forefathers spilled as slaves . . fertilizes the grass and trees," Young cried. "That soil and this America is mine."

King was the last of the speakers.

Not Beggar

Stokely Carmichael told the crowd that "I'm not going to beg the white man for what I deserve. I'm going to take it."

McKissick said Wednesday morning "we're going to the Coldwater River Bridge" to resume the march. McKissick said he wouldn't be "scared of white people because it inconveniences me too much."

Gov. Paul Johnson announced in Jackson that he would provide "sufficient policemen and any other state forces to see that these demonstrators get all the marching they want, provided they behave themselves, commit no acts of violence nor take a position of provocative defiance."

Meredith's admitted attacker, Aubrey James Norvell, a 40-year-old unemployed hardware contractor from Memphis, waived a preliminary hearing before a justice of the peace on charges of assault with intent to murder. He was rejailed until he can raise bond of $25,000 which his lawyers pleaded was excessive.

Norvell's case is scheduled to come before a grand jury in November.

Tax Bills Get First-Round Okay

. . .MORRISON'S REVENUE SOLUTION ACCEPTED WITH MINOR CHANGES

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Tuesday accepted—with minor amendments — Gov. Frank Morrison's proposed legislative solution to the revenue problems created by a court-directed change in the valuation of stock in foreign corporations.

All three bills submitted to the special session by the governor were accorded a public hearing and then handed unanimous first-round floor approval.

Tuesday's strong, solid and swift response to Morrison's proposals indicated that the major decisions facing the session have been resolved.

Essentially, senators will now "mark time" until the constitutional and legal requirements for enacting the bills into law can be fully met.

Seven legislative days will be required to conform with constitutional provisions, indicating that the measures will probably be enacted early next week.

The two major bills of the special session both cleared their first floor hurdle on 43-0 votes.

Restore Method

LB1 would restore the method of valuing stock of foreign corporations for tax purposes to "fair market value."

LB2 limits automatic tax refunds to illegally paid penalties instead of providing blanket refunds of all taxes, assessments and penalties paid under an illegal statute.

The two bills grew out of a State Supreme Court decision holding that present intangible property tax laws provide that stock in foreign corporations be taxed at book value, rather than market value.

50% Reduction

State Tax Commissioner George Dworak has roughly estimated a 50% reduction in revenue from foreign stock as a result of the change to book value.

Thus, LB2 will prevent automatic refund of perhaps half of the taxes paid on foreign stock since the intangible property tax structure became operative in 1921.

At the suggestion of Sen. Eric Rasmussen of Fairmont, lawmakers amended LB2 to provide that persons seeking refunds of penalties will have 60 days, rather than two years, to file claims with their county boards.

Further Change

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff informed his colleagues that he will seek to amend the bill further to assure that individual taxpayers may recover illegal taxes paid since 1960 through court action.

Carpenter indicated he may also attempt to extend the time for seeking relief to one year.

Also approved on general file by the lawmakers was LB3, a routine measure to pay the costs of the special session. The $19,000 bill won 41-0 endorsement.

No Opponents

No one testified against any of the measures when they were accorded public hearing before the entire legislative membership Tuesday morning.

Representatives of the League of Nebraska Municipalities and spokesmen for the municipal governments and school districts of Lincoln and Omaha urged adoption of LB1 to prevent loss of local revenue.

Revenue derived from the intangible property tax is distributed one-third each to cities and school districts and one-sixth each to the state and counties based on where the stock is taxed.

$3 Million Loss

An estimated $3 million in revenue would be lost to the state and those subdivisions without the enactment of LB1.

To recover revenue lost to communities throughout the state would require an average property tax levy increase of one-half mill, Randall Sims of Lincoln testified.

The most conservative estimates of the combined increase in school district, city and county levies in Douglas County has ranged from 1.47 to 1.75 mills. Comparable figures for Lancaster County have ranged from 1.5 to 1.8 mills.

Doubly Hurt

Lincoln City Attorney Ralph Nelson told the lawmakers that Lincoln would be doubly hurt by a reducation in its tax ceiling since its ceiling is tied by city charter to the state tax structure, including the value of intangible property.

If property taxes were not raised to recover lost revenue, senators were informed, local subdivisions would be required to reduce salaries or services.

Attorney General Clarence Meyer said LB2 would eliminate automatic refund of taxes paid under an illegal statute, but not prevent individuals from seeking refunds through court action.

'Wide Open'

The tax refund statute now "leaves things wide open" and provides for "a blanket refund without the necessity of court action," he said. In terms of its effect on government, such a statute is "potential dynamite," Meyer noted.

Only major legislative criticism of the governor's special session legislation was voiced by Carpenter.

Why, asked he, did not the administration also present legislation to recover revenue lost by court decisions which essentially prevent collection of taxes on intangible property owned by banks.

Central Nebraska Tech School OK'd

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

The State Board of Education officially approved Tuesday the creation of the Central Nebraska Vocational-Technical School near Hastings.

The school, approved by the voters in 17 counties in the May primary election, plans to begin classes in September.

It was the first area trade school to be established under 1965 enabling legislation.

Opens Way

State Board action on the school, which will be operated on property abandoned by the federal government at the old Hastings Naval Ammunition Depot, opened the way for the allocation of $100,000 in state funds for establishment of the school.

Dr. Chester Gausmann of Lincoln, the school's administrator, said the funds are "vital" in hastening the establishment of the school.

State Education Department officials were directed to determine and expedite the formal steps for release of the funds on a matching basis.

Officials of the area trade school noted a $920,000 budget had been adopted. Other estimated revenue includes a two-mill tax levy of $500,000 plus $195,000 in federal aid, and $125,000 in tuition.

Estimated expenditures included $167,000 for administration, $405,000 instruction, $110,000 operations, $78,000 fixed charges and $160,000 capital outlay.

The trade school district includes Adams, Buffalo, Clay, Dawson, Franklin, Furnas, Gosper, Hall, Hamilton, Howard, Kearney, Merrick, Nance, Nuckolls, Phelps, Platte and Webster counties.

Change Sought

Gausman requested a change in the state board's formula for allocation of federal funds which gives the state's trade schools at Milford and Sidney priority over area schools.

But, Cecil Stanley, the department's vocational education administrator, said, "No federal funds would be available for the area school next year unless pulled from existing programs, including 200 high schools over the state."

The board also approved as within state policy the school's proposed tuition rates of $68 per quarter for area residents, $126 for other Nebraskans and $168 for non-Nebraskans.

Up To 500

Gausman said intital enrollment of 100 is anticipated with rapid growth to 500.

In other action, the board set July 12 for the public hearing on a petition for formation of a Mid-Plains Area Vocational - Technical School at North Platte.

The board also passed a resolution requesting 1,200 acres and buildings at the soon-to-be-deactivated Sioux Army Depot near Sidney for the establishment of a second state trade school.

AEC Plans To Dismantle Hallam Unit

Washington (AP) — The Atomic Energy Commission announced Tuesday it will dismantle its Hallam, Neb., nuclear power plant.

The plant, 19 miles south of Lincoln, has been shut down since September 1964 because of technical difficulties. Because of these problems, AEC terminated its contract with Consumers Public Power District for operation of the plant. Consumers decided May 24 not to exercise an option to buy the plant.

CPPD will help in the plant dismantling and will be reimbursed, according to Lincoln officials of the firm. The fuel at Hallam will be removed from storage, canned and shipped to a processing plant which will separate the used from the unused material. This will go back to the AEC.

The reactor was started up in August 1962. It was one of the first nuclear power plants undertaken by the AEC on a cooperative basis with utilities.

Strike Closes Local Western Union Office

The Lincoln office of Western Union was closed at 10 p.m. Tuesday by a nationwide strike.

Office Manager V. C. Wyman said the strike idled 10 local employes. Most are members of Commercial Telegraphers Union Local 112.

Wyman said he would be at the office Wednesday morning to handle messages which have accumulated for Lincoln. But he said he would await instructions from the company regarding future action since he would be unable to handle, by himself, any heavy volume of messages.

The office was also closed four hours last Wednesday by a walkout.

(See Page 26 for details on the national Western Union strike.)

Meredith Made 'Mistake' In Carrying Bible, Not Gun

Memphis, Tenn. (UPI) — James Meredith said Tuesday he could have "knocked off" his intended killer with one shot if he had taken a rifle instead of a Bible on his walking trip to Jackson.

In a long, hand-written note read to a news conference by his lawyer, A. W. Willis, Meredith expressed chagrin over his shooting in the second day of the planned two-week march.

"What did I think while the man was shooting me?" Meredith asked. "I was thinking that I had made a mistake not to carry a gun with me. . .

"I felt embarrassed because I would have knocked the intended killer off with one shot had I been prepared, but I was not.

"My father would have been prepared."

Meredith said the night before he went to Mississippi he made the "fateful decision" to carry a Bible instead of a gun.

The wounded Negro said he feared the drama of his shooting would overshadow the significance of his walk.

Brown Claims Narrow Win, Faces Reagan

San Francisco (AP) — Actor-Republican Ronald Reagan was nominated Tuesday night for governor of California. Democratic Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown claimed victory after a tougher-than-expected primary match with Samuel W. Yorty.

Reagan won easily over George Christopher, former San Francisco mayor. Brown—bidding for renomination to a third term—was leading Yorty, mayor of Los Angeles and a self-labeled maverick Democrat.

The Yorty showing could spell trouble for the Democrats in November — anJ Brown acknowledged it.

"You have to work ten times harder than you have ever worked before," the governor told cheering supporters in Los Angeles.

Reagan, cast as the conservative in his Republican race, said he would try to enlist all elements of the GOP for his November race, then bid for Democratic and independent backing, too.

Strike Knots Hue

Saigon (AP)—Buddhist opposition to the military regime rose again in the far north Tuesday. A general strike crippled Hue and troops broke up a budding demonstration in Da Nang with tear gas grenades.

In Hue, U.S. military advisers were threatened by both Vietnamese troops and civilians as they tried to drive through the streets. Soldiers pointed their guns at the Americans when they tried to remove Buddhist altars cluttering the streets. The Americans turned back.

The next step in the Buddhist campaign to bring down the military regime of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky may be announced Wednesday, when the Buddhist Institute holds a news conference.

The Buddhist militants have cold-shouldered the regime's decision to add 10 civilians, including moderate Buddhists, to the 10-man military junta. They may decide to take to the streets again in the violent sort of demonstration that plagued Saigon and other cities last month.

Also awaited Wednesday was an announcement by the electoral commission, named by the military regime to arrange for the election Sept. 11 of a constitutent assembly to draft a constitution.

In the war, North Vietnamese regulars came out of hiding and attacked a military camp of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division before dawn. The enemy was driven off into the hills and jungles about 260 miles north of Saigon leaving 77 dead, a U.S. spokesman reported.

This was the first contact with North Vietnamese in Operation Hawthorne, designed to search and destroy enemy forces coming down the Ho Chi Minh trail from Laos.

In the air war, Air Force and Navy planes again pounded targets in North Viet Nam but on a reduced scale because of clouds. Air Force, Marine and Navy planes struck in force at enemy positions in South Viet Nam.

In Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon, the general strike paralyzed the market area but some shops and government offices remained open elsewhere.

Householders in Hue moved their altars into the streets at the urging of their militant Buddhist leader, Thich (Venerable) Tri Quang, to show the city was Buddhist.

Tri Quang had charged that Vietnamese troops were coming to attack the pagodas. Three battalions of government troops arrived outside the Buddhist stronghold, but their officers said they were en route to fight the communists.

Hernando, Miss. (UPI) — Comedian Dick Gregory staged his own march Tuesday in support of James Meredith, walking from the spot where his friend was wounded to Memphis

Gregory said that after the 15-mile hike with his wife and a group of friends he would return to Chicago

The Negro comedian veteran of numerous civil rights marches, asked the FBI and Justice Department for protection.

Gregory visited Meredith in a Memphis hospital and said upon leaving that "it is a very frightening situation when a man can walk safely in outer space and another man cannot walk safely in America."

SHE 'NEVER GAVE UP'

Mrs. James Meredith tells newsmen in the lobby of her New York apartment building that the hours after the first reports of her husband's shooting were "indescribable," but "I never gave up." Mrs. Meredith, 28, read from a prepared statement and said she expects to remain in New York City.

U.S. Favors Re-Election Of Thant

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey announced Tuesday the United States favors re-election of Secretary-General U Thant for a second 5-year term.

The announcement came after the vice president had been Thant's guest at a luncheon and had talked privately with the secretary-general.

Britain and France have announced that they want Thant to accept a second term. The Soviet Union is reported to have urged Thant to stand for re-election, but so far there has been no public Soviet declaration on the subject.

Speech

Humphrey's statement was in a prepared speech for delivery to U.S. employes of the United Nations at a reception given by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg.

Humphrey omitted the passage in delivering the speech, but Goldberg said it had been left out inadvertently and Goldberg read it to the gathering.

The pertinent sentence said:

"He (Thant) is a great international servant, and it is no secret that the United States government is among those who hope that he will be available for re-election as secretary-general this fall."

'Fine, Great'

After the luncheon in Thant's 38th floor office suite, Humphrey told newsmen: "We feel he is a very fine international servant and he's doing a great job as secretary-general."

Earlier, a U.N. spokesman said Thant would wait until late June before announcing whether he would take a second term.

If Thant does not run, the Security Council will have to find a successor. The council recommends and the General Assembly elects the secretary-general.

House Approves Aid To Farmers

Washington (AP) — The House passed and sent to the Senate for final action Tuesday a compromise bill to authorize federal aid for farmers unable to plant crops because of natural disasters.

A voice vote approved the version agreed to Monday by a Senate-House conference committee.

University Of Iowa Honors Philip Adler, Lee President

Iowa City, Ia. — Philip D. Adler, publisher of the Davenport Times-Democrat newspaper and president of Lee Enterprises, Inc., has been named recipient of the 1966 Distinguished Service Award given by the University of Iowa.

Adler

The award will be presented at the university's all-alumni awards luncheon June 11 in connection with commencement activities. The Lincoln Star is a Lee Enterprises, Inc., newspaper.

Adler will be honored for professional achievement and a long record of public service, including his personal leadership in strengthening important programs at the university, where he earned his B.A. degree in 1926.

He has been general chairman of a million dollar fund raising campaign to finance construction of a new museum of art for the university and a part of the other programs in behalf of the institution. He has also been active in other educational circles and in community and professional affairs.

Shooting Puts Washington In Mood For Action

Washington (UPI) — The James Meredith shooting, like the Birmingham church bombings and the Selma march of past years, spurred congressional action Tuesday aimed at making a federal crime out of killing or intimidating civil rights workers.

The mood in Washington in the aftermath of the assault on Meredith was summed up by House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., who told reporters: "There is no question that it will have a good effect on passage of additional civil rights legislation."

Another type of mood was shown by pickets at the White House and by four Negroes who sought to force their way into the office of Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach to demand more federal action to protect civil rights workers such as Meredith. One of the demonstrators was arrested after twice scuffling with guards.

Katzenbach was not in his office. He was on Capitol Hill urging passage of President Johnson's 1966 civil rights bill which would make it a federal crime to commit violence against rights workers. Katzenbach told reporters that if the law had been on the books, Meredith's assailant would have been subject to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

The drive for action now was shown by Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., a leading member of the Southern bloc who is chairman of the subcommittee considering Johnson's civil rights bill. Ervin has been opposed to all parts of it.

Tuesday, however, he told witness Katzenbach that he would introduce a constitutional amendment which would give Congress the authority to make a federal crime out of an assault on a private citizen. Ervin said he did not think Congress now had the constitutional power to enact such a law.

14th Cited

Katzenbach, in reply, said he was delighted that Ervin felt it was necessary for Congress to legislate in this area. But he told the senator that the 14th Amendment gives Congress the authority to pass the bill.

Civil rights leaders have been frank to admit that violence in the past has served to hasten major civil rights legislation, just as Meredith's shooting might do now.

The landmark 1964 civil rights act was passed in the aftermath of the violence at Birmingham when four Negro girls were killed in the bombing of a church.

The 1965 voting rights bill, which is having a big effect on Southern elections, passed quickly after the nightrider slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo during the time of the Selma-to-Montgomery voting rights march.

Hurricane Kills Cuban; Western Third Alerted

Miami, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Alma's fringe gales killed at least one Cuban Tuesday night, and a slight easterly trend led Cuban weathermen to alert the whole western third of the 800-mile-long island for the storm's peak winds, estimated at 120 miles per hour.

Havana Radio reported the wind hurled 18-year-old Abilio Rojas Caceres against the cabin of the sinking boat Two Sisters off La Coloma in Cuba's westernmost province of Pinar del Rio, and he went down with the craft. Two crewmates swam to safety, said the broadcast monitored in Miami.

The broadcast said more than 3,000 persons were removed from La Coloma, on the Caribbean coast at the mouth of the San Felipe River.

Havana Radio said many dairy farm buildings collapsed under heavy winds and rains on Isle of Pines, more than 70 miles south of Pinar del Rio.

Alma's gale - force winds, reaching all the way from Honduras in Central America to the Florida Straits, churned up 200,000 square miles of angry seas.

And squally weather reached out even farther, driving small craft into sheltered waters as far northward as Cape Kennedy in central Florida.

Two ships caught in the hurricane, the Gulf Trader and Marine Service, radioed the Weather Bureau that they were fighting seas 20 to 30 feet tall just north of the storm's eye.

It's 'Silly' To Say Medicare Means Flooded Hospitals, AHA Man Says

Washington (AP) — The onset of medicare on July 1 means headaches for hospitals everywhere and serious strains in cities that already have shortages of beds, doctors and nurses.

But officials of both the government and the American Hospital Association said there is no need to push the panic button in fear that overwhelming numbers of oldsters will swamp the country's hospitals.

"The notion that all the hospital beds suddenly are going to be filled with old people is simply silly," Kenneth Williamson, director of AHA's Washington office, told a reporter.

The AHA, Williamson said, concurs in the estimate of Secretary of Welfare John W. Gardner that average hospital usage will not increase by more than five per cent.

Can Be Absorbed

That increase in most areas "can be absorbed without too much difficulty," Gardner recently advised President Johnson.

But concerned hospitals are bracing themselves and try*ing to fortify their staffs for* the mid-year date on which 19 million Americans become eligible automatically for hospital insurance and more than 17 million of them qualify for the optional doctor-bill insurance.

In some quarters alarm bells already are sounding. These are among the warning notes:

—Forecasts that the increase in demand will far exceed the government estimate. A 50% increase, instead of 5%, is foreseen by Dr. Edward Henderson, executive director of the American Geriatrics Society. In an interview in U.S. News & World Report, he forecast an "overwhelming rush" by millions of elderly persons, and accused the government of "a lack of proper planning to implement the law."

Southern Problem

—Disclosure by the government that 15% of the nation's hospital beds — meaning an estimated 1,000 or more hospitals — are in uncertain status as to whether they will qualify under the law's ban against racial discrimination. "This has raised a grave question whether there will be enough participating hospitals in large areas of the South.

—Indications that a good many elderly persons are "saving up" opeations for hernia, hemorrhoids and other non-critical ailments.

—Surefire problems in cities like New York, where any increase in hospital demand would worsen an already acute shortage of beds, nurses and staff. A number of New York's public hospitals have already asked to be allowed to limit admissions to emergency cases.

—Warnings that it will be impossible in many areas, because of the nurse shortage, to provide the elderly with the 100 free home health visits each year to which the law entitles them -- not to mention the additional 100 visits promised to those who have signed up for the optional medical insurance.

—Statistics indicating an apparent huge deficit in the number of nursing homes that will be available when the extended care provisions of the law take effect next Jan. 1. This raises the possibility that people who need and are eligible for nursing-home care will be occupying hospital beds.

Kennedy Proposal

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., has introduced a $2-billion, 10-year measure to provide federal grants to help voluntary non-profit groups build nursing-home facilities with a capacity of 200,000 more beds.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare estimates that existing federal aid will permit the building of 120 nursing-home units in connection with hospitals this year.

But if the nation's hospitals are teetering on the brink of crisis, their leadership is very calm. Dr. Edwin L. Crosby, Chicago, director of AHA, has stated: "I am one of those who believe that medicare will not produce a swamping of our hospital facilities."

Crosby has pointed out that hospitals can always give priority of admission to emergency cases and acutely ill patients; and that the law provides safety valves in the form of nursing-home and home-health care.

The association's Washington chief, Williamson, acknowledges that cities which will ready have problems will have worse ones. But on his return last week from conferences with hospital administrators in 32 states, he reported:

"The problem is limited both in depth and duration—the hospitals can catch up with the new demand."

Strike Knots Hue

Saigon (AP)—Buddhist opposition to the military regime rose again in the far north Tuesday. A general strike crippled Hue and troops broke up a budding demonstration in Da Nang with tear gas grenades.

In Hue, U.S. military advisers were threatened by both Vietnamese troops and civilians as they tried to drive through the streets. Soldiers pointed their guns at the Americans when they tried to remove Buddhist altars cluttering the streets. The Americans turned back.

The next step in the Buddhist campaign to bring down the military regime of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky may be announced Wednesday, when the Buddhist Institute holds a news conference.

The Buddhist militants have cold-shouldered the regime's decision to add 10 civilians, including moderate Buddhists, to the 10-man military junta. They may decide to take to the streets again in the violent sort of demonstration that plagued Saigon and other cities last month.

Also awaited Wednesday was an announcement by the electoral commission, named by the military regime to arrange for the election Sept. 11 of a constitutent assembly to draft a constitution.

In the war, North Vietnamese regulars came out of hiding and attacked a military camp of the U.S. 101st Airborne Division before dawn. The enemy was driven off into the hills and jungles about 260 miles north of Saigon leaving 77 dead, a U.S. spokesman reported.

This was the first contact with North Vietnamese in Operation Hawthorne, designed to search and destroy enemy forces coming down the Ho Chi Minh trail from Laos.

In the air war, Air Force and Navy planes again pounded targets in North Viet Nam but on a reduced scale because of clouds. Air Force, Marine and Navy planes struck in force at enemy positions in South Viet Nam.

In Hue, 400 miles northeast of Saigon, the general strike paralyzed the market area but some shops and government offices remained open elsewhere.

Householders in Hue moved their altars into the streets at the urging of their militant Buddhist leader, Thich (Venerable) Tri Quang, to show the city was Buddhist.

Tri Quang had charged that Vietnamese troops were coming to attack the pagodas. Three battalions of government troops arrived outside the Buddhist stronghold, but their officers said they were en route to fight the communists.

Tarnov's Famed Bomb 'Kept As A Reminder'

. . . TOWN ACCIDENTAL TARGET BACK IN 1943

By DICK BUDIG

Tarnov—The Tarnov bomb is coming out of seclusion.

Exactly when isn't for sure.

Probably after the renovation of St. Michael's School into the Tarnov Social Hall.

And it will probably occupy a conspicuous place in the building, as it did when the structure was used a a school.

Its function in the social hall will be the same as it was when it sat in the school museum, according to Stanley Kuta, who dug it out of the ground shortly after Tarnov was accidentally bombed in the fall of 1943.

"I want it kept in the building as a reminder," Kuta said. .

Kuta was one of the first men to sound the alarm after the bombs fell.

He remembers the incident as if it happened 10 minutes ago.

"It was about 2:30 in the morning," he recalled.

Tarnov, a town of about 75 persons in 1943, had just tucked itself in bed after one of its fall Polish Festival dances.

"It's a good thing it didn't happen earlier," Kuta said. "The dance hall was packed. We'd probably have panicked."

Kuta got the word from Mrs. Joe Ciecior, whose house took a direct hit from one of the nine target bombs.

"I went to her house. It was filled with smoke," Kuta said. As it turned out, the bomb tore through the Cieciors' roof, barely missed Ciecior's two sleeping daughters, and plummeted through the first floor and into the basement.

In the basement, the bomb hit a sack of flour with such force that it filled the house with fine powder.

Evacuated Town

Kuta called for help, and then began evacuating the town.

"We had everybody out of town by 6 a.m.," he said. "We had to do it. We didn't know but what it was for real."

The bombing was for real, but the bombs weren't.

They were sand-filled target bombs with flash charges set to go off on impact so that night fliers could determine how close they came to their target.

The targets used by navigators were lights, specially arranged, in isolated bomb areas.

But that night, the bombers, flying out of Sioux Falls, S.D., for the bomb range near Stanton, Neb., got off course.

Lights Coincided

As Tarnovites learned later, the number of lights burning in their town and the number of ights at the fliers' target area coincided.

And down came the bombs, burying themselves eight to 10 feet in the ground.

Military ordnance people, who came to Tarnov, retrieved all but one of the bombs.

"I found the last one about a month later and took it up to the school," Kuta said.

The bomb has been a part of the school's small museum since then. It was left there when the school was closed about five years ago.

Besides the national publicity that followed the inadvertent bombing, the only bit of consolation Tarnov residents get from the incident is recalling that "most of the fliers got court martials out of the deal."

Fire Damages Home; Two Firemen Treated

A small boy apparently panicked Tuesday night and started a fire which temporarily hospitalized two Lincoln firemen and caused considerable fire and smoke damage to the Carl H. Rohman residence at 1312 Fall Creek Road.

Lt. Kenneth Michael and Fireman First Class Rhinehart Borchers were treated and released from Lincoln General Hospital following the fire. Michael was overcome by smoke and Borchers suffered a severe cut in his hand.

Tarnov's Famed Bomb 'Kept As A Reminder'

. . . TOWN ACCIDENTAL TARGET BACK IN 1943

By DICK BUDIG

Tarnov—The Tarnov bomb is coming out of seclusion.

Exactly when isn't for sure.

Probably after the renovation of St. Michael's School into the Tarnov Social Hall.

And it will probably occupy a conspicuous place in the building, as it did when the structure was used a a school.

Its function in the social hall will be the same as it was when it sat in the school museum, according to Stanley Kuta, who dug it out of the ground shortly after Tarnov was accidentally bombed in the fall of 1943.

"I want it kept in the building as a reminder," Kuta said.

Kuta was one of the first men to sound the alarm after the bombs fell.

He remembers the incident as if it happened 10 minutes ago.

"It was about 2:30 in the morning," he recalled.

Tarnov, a town of about 75 persons in 1943, had just tucked itself in bed after one of its fall Polish Festival dances.

"It's a good thing it didn't happen earlier," Kuta said. "The dance hall was packed. We'd probably have panicked."

Kuta got the word from Mrs. Joe Ciecior, whose house took a direct hit from one of the nine target bombs.

"I went to her house. It was filled with smoke," Kuta said. As it turned out, the bomb tore through the Ciecіors' roof, barely missed Ciecior's two sleeping daughters, and plummeted through the first floor and into the basement.

In the basement, the bomb hit a sack of flour with such force that it filled the house with fine powder.

Evacuated Town

Kuta called for help, and then began evacuating the town.

"We had everybody out of town by 6 a.m.," he said. "We had to do it. We didn't know but what it was for real."

The bombing was for real, but the bombs weren't.

They were sand-filled target bombs with flash charges set to go off on impact so that night fliers could determine how close they came to their target.

The targets used by navigators were lights, specially arranged, in isolated bomb areas.

But that night, the bombers, flying out of Sioux Falls, S.D., for the bomb range near Stanton, Neb., got off course.

Lights Coincided

As Tarnovites learned later, the number of lights burning in their town and the number of ights at the fliers' target area coincided.

And down came the bombs, burying themselves eight to 10 feet in the ground.

Military ordnance people, who came to Tarnov, retrieved all but one of the bombs.

"I found the last one about a month later and took it up to the school," Kuta said.

The bomb has been a part of the school's small museum since then. It was left there when the school was closed about five years ago.

Besides the national publicity that followed the inadvertent bombing, the only bit of consolation Tarnov residents get from the incident is recalling that "most of the fliers got court martials out of the deal."

James Meredith's Cause

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

We can almost hear it now. "If he had been minding his own business, it would never have happened." That will be the reaction of a few people to the shooting in Mississippi of James H. Meredith as he attempted to walk the highway from Memphis to Jackson, a distance of 225 miles. He was shot on the eve of a Mississippi primary election in which 117,000 Negro voters were eligible through registration to go to the polls.

Meredith was attempting to show the registered Negroes that they had nothing to fear in asserting their rights, particularly their right to vote. Also, he wanted to encourage another nearly half a million eligible Mississippi Negroes to register so they could vote. Fear was the threat he sought to banish but maybe he failed. In failing, however, he accomplished something else. The Mississippi Negro may still be afraid but he ought to be more determined, he ought to be incensed enough to go out and do what Meredith would want him to do.

Failure And Progress

Was it Meredith's own fault that he was shot? Is he to blame for attempting his walk and, thus, setting the stage for the violence with which he met? To say so would be to deny each and every one of us every single right to which we are now entitled. For a right that cannot be exercised is no right at all. Do we have the right to vote when, in exercising it, we are submitted to personal danger?

James Meredith had the right, the perfect right, to do what he did—to walk down the highway between Memphis and Jackson in a demonstration of his conviction. If he had the right only so long as he never exercised it, he would not have it, at all. The fact is that Meredith was doing in one area of things what many of us should be doing in many areas.

We already have far too much apathy, too much willingness to let wrongs and injustices go by the board. Meredith might have thought how he would like to have Mississippi Negroes registered and done nothing about it. He might have said to himself that the Negro should be registered but there was nothing he could do about it. He might have said to himself that the Negro has the law behind him and all he needs to do is exercise it. If he had thought that way, he would never have been shot, would not be lying in a hospital today with shotgun wounds along his body. At the same time, the fear he attempted to dislodge would still be there and much more unknown to the nation than it is today.

This is what happens to many of us along the path of life. In the face of injustice, we turn our eyes the other way; in the face of challenge, we are timid and in the face of responsibility, we weakly throw up our hands. And we are not talking just about crime and violence. It is more dramatic when bystanders watch as a human being is killed but it is important in a lot of other ways, too. Prejudice is an injustice but how many of us are personally committed against it? How many look at their pocketbooks or their twisted convictions when a Negro moves into their neighborhood, wants to join their club or is given a job where they work? For these, equal justice for all is a nice phrase on paper but nothing to live by.

How many parents face the responsibility of their role as opposed to what seems like the trend of the times? Do they say "no" to their children when they think they should or do they go along with what the crowd seems to be doing? How many people do as little rather than as much as they can for their employer?

How many people try to build a world for others, as best they are capable of doing, as opposed to a place in the world for themselves alone? How many are interested enough in the problems of our society to do anything more than condemn them and to find fault with whatever anyone else might try to do? Too many can watch on the sidelines for a lifetime and never lift a finger to shape the course of events.

Meredith may have failed to prove the point he was trying to make but he accomplished much more. Through his personal commitment to a cause of justice in which he believes, he gave an example to all of us. He has shown, too, that the battle for civil rights is a long way from over, that it only began with the passage of new civil rights laws. The man who shot Meredith does not necessarily represent all of Mississippi, all of the South or the total national attitude toward civil rights but he does represent a sickness that seethes beneath the surface of the calm that prevails from time to time.

Battle Not Over

Not many people would shoot a member of a minority group but they contribute to such violence when, in other ways, they refuse to countenance the equal rights which belong to all human beings. The Mississippi shooting is another sad development in the nation's sad history of civil rights. It should stir us all to re-examine the principles by which we live.

The French Crisis

There are a lot of factors involved in General Charles De Gaulle's intransigent attitude toward the United States. Ordering NATO out of France is just an outward manifestation of general French concern.

American industry is in France outdoing the native effort. American words like "Le Drug Store," "Le Supermarket" and 'Le Jazz" are corrupting the French language. The United States is also hiring away the best French brains. In short the American presence there is a reproach to the strength of the French civilization. The fact of all this corruption is that France was not able to think up its own versions and apply them successfully. And that is a sign of national weakness.

And now the worst blow of all is about to fall. NATO or no NATO the French bakers and retailers are about to Americanize the historic French bread. They are going to modify it and package it.

The baguette and the batard, which are the French names for those long loaves of bread, the kind a Frenchman buys out of a bushel basket and transports, nakedly, home under his arm, exposed to the elements, the germs, the grass stain and what not, are about through. So are those croissants and brioches which somewhat correspond to our rolls, though savoring of many things besides bread, are going to be wrapped in cellophane and deprived of the delicious flavor they generally pick up from the street.

We say this is carrying Americanization too far. For as unsanitary as French bread may be, it is the best tasting of anything out of any oven, anywhere.

Hopeful Proposals

Now both the United States and Soviet Russia are proposing the internationalization of the moon and their terms do not seem far apart.

Russia is suggesting that the United Nations draft an all-covering treaty at its next session which would give no earth nation title to the moon and which would also ban the use of any heavenly body for military activity. This is very nearly what President Lyndon Johnson proposed May 7.

Such a treaty has been in the air for a long time. President Eisenhower originally proposed banning outer space for military purposes, to which Russia agreed, but added a then impractical condition that the space treaty include a ban on all nuclear weapons.

Common access to outer space can become a reality. It has a precedent in the agreement which has freed the Antarctic from war and national possession. Indeed it has worked so well that the United States and Russia join in much of their research.

This type of agreement is new to history. It has been a standing principle that an exploring nation can claim as its own whatever it finds. The basic fault of this is that on earth the exploring nation finds areas which are already populated and the principle gives no rights at all to these aboriginal people.

There is no indication yet that space exploration will intrude on populated countries, but the denial of sovereignty to exploring forces on earth has the advantage of limiting the means of earth warfare. If all space were ruled out the danger of nuclear destruction would be greatly reduced and that is a trend in the right direction. Limiting warfare is probably the best alternative to total disarmament.

City Takes Initiative

The City Council has taken commendable action in approving upward adjustments in the city's pay scale. The council, on recommendation of Mayor Dean Petersen and Personnel Director Walter Mitchell, has approved a two-point program costing a total of $370,000 a year.

The 1966-67 budget will include $147,000 for what might be called across-the-board increases and another $220,000 to be distributed on a merit or selective basis. The increases are said by Mitchell and Mayor Petersen to be essential to keep the city competitive in the hiring field.

This has largely been the experience of the city in many areas of operation. Throughout its professional ranks, particularly, the city has been pressed for years in securing any help at all and harassed by a turnover rate that cut efficiency and destroyed continuity in its affairs.

In comparison with other cities and with private business and industry, the city of Lincoln has consistently been below the average. This is a situation that, in the long-run, costs the taxpayers money and does nothing for the city.

If the increases occasion pencil-sharpening in other areas of local government, they still are warranted. The people in the employ of the city form the foundation on which our public programs and services are provided. Without the people to execute them, the best plans there are cannot be effective. We can never obtain the maximum from program appropriations if we lack the personnel to carry out our objectives. The council has been wise in making salary adjustments a first order of business in the coming year's budget.

Auto Safety Bill Tight On Makers

WASHINGTON — The legislation which auto buyers should watch during the auto safety debate is that sponsored by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Rep. James MacKay, D-Ga.

Though the Johnson administration came up with a fairly good bill, these two have rewritten the administration bill and made it stronger. If their revisions pass, automobile buyers can be fairly sure of better protection on the highways.

The auto safety bill which Hartke and Rep. MacKay have put together does the following:

1. Gives the Secretary of Commerce considerably more power than Secretary John T. Connor had asked for himself and his successors.

2. Provides him with investigative powers to probe the automobile industry.

3. Requires an annual progress report from the auto manufacturers telling auto buyers about the performance level of their cars in regard to brakes, doors and how well each make of car can withstand crashes.

4. Permits the public to submit information to the Secretary of Commerce regarding auto safety.

5. Permits a citizen to appeal auto safety standards to the courts.

Finally the Hartke-MacKay bill carries tough criminal provisions against any auto manufacturer who fails to conform to safety standards. This is what Lloyd Cutler, able attorney for the auto manufacturers, is bucking most. His position is that it's an insult to the automobile industry to legislate any criminal penalties at all.

Sen. Hartke and Rep. MacKay reply that every other industry is subject to criminal penalties. The railroads, the airlines, the bus companies—all can be prosecuted criminally and their officials sent to jail if they are negligent where the safety of the public is concerned.

One member of Congress, Rep. James Haley, Democrat, of Sarasota, Fla., even went to jail in connection with a circus fire. When the Ringling Brothers tent caught on fire at Hartford, Conn., Haley was circus manager. And though not present when the fire started, he was convicted and sentenced to jail for criminal negligence.

Sen. Hartke and Rep. MacKay argue that the automobile manufacturers have the same safety obligation to the public, and if negligent should be liable to criminal conviction. A vigorous backstage lobby is operating to sidetrack this provision from the auto safety bill and it will be interesting to see what happens.

Sen. Bass Gets Off LBJ's Bandwagon

WASHINGTON — Tennessee elections often attract attention because of the colorful personalities involved, but are rarely watched for national significance. The reverse suddenly became true when Sen. Ross Bass announced his conversion from a militant supporter of President Johnson's Viet Nam actions to a serious doubter of its wisdom and practicality.

Bass is not a student of foreign affairs. He made a good House record under the Rayburn rule of getting along by going along and was elected in 1964 to serve out the unexpired term of the late Estes Kefauver. This year he is running for a full term.

Recently he returned home to put an ear to the grass roots and to launch his campaign. His Senate colleagues, hardened to inconsistency, were fascinated by the candor with which he then announced that visits across the state had convinced him of the need to "re-evaluate my own thinking of our posture in Viet Nam."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Bass re-evaluation was harsh. He called it fruitless to win military operations, or even a total military victory, unless Viet Nam achieved stability. He promised to discuss the situation with the President. And said he would not support "perpetual policing actions in any part of the world."

One senator feels the statement was roughly equivalent to a bumper strip announcing, "Lyndon Johnson can't help me this time."

Bass's primary rival in 1964, as now, was Gov. Frank Clement. Bass won by 97,000 votes, but in the general election fared only about half as well against a moderate Republican, Howard Baker Jr. Baker is expected to win renomination, despite opposition from a Goldwater supporter, and to be formidable once more.

On Viet Nam, he is taking the cool stance favored by his astute father-in-law, Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen. So is Clement, from his safe sanctuary in the statehouse.

Baker's father was a respected congressman for many years; his mother served out her husband's unexpired term.

Though Tennessee is a border state not immune from civil rights incidents, it is not an issue in the tight contests for senator and governor. Bass got the bulk of the Negro vote last time. Clements has just made former boxing champion Joe Louis an honorary citizen of the state and presented him a certificate of achievement.

Baker believes he would have made a big dent on this vote had Goldwater not been at the top of the ticket. The Negro vote is estimated at 200,000, and state experts claim that a larger percentage of eligible Negroes vote there than in any southern state.

Until the Bass bombshell, the governor's race had attracted all the notice because Buford Ellington, former governor and Johnson intimate, is in a primary with a Kennedy friend, John J. Hooker Jr. Ellington is experienced and homespun; Hooker is in the Kennedy style — young, handsome, well-endowed with money and children.

McNamara Wars On Surpluses

WASHINGTON—The arithmetic of the Viet Nam war is a constant concern of Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Needled about Viet Nam costs in the new budget — based on a phase-out of the war in mid-1967 — he has a quick answer.

The goal is to keep purchases closely in line with immediate needs. The Korean war ended with $12 billion of excess material. This was almost a total loss. McNamara is determined to see that that doesn't happen again.

Two conspicuous examples of the way stock-piled materiel is mishandled, with the taxpayer caught in the middle, emphasize the importance of restraining the military from rushing out and buying everything in sight. The case of the bargain-basement iron bombs got pretty well aired.

The Air Force in March of 1963 sold 7,500 conventional bombs to a West German dealer for $1.70 a bomb. The nitrogen in the explosive was to be used for fertilizer and the metal for scrap. In the fall of 1965, as the Air Force began to run short of bombs, 5,500 were bought back for $21 each, which compares with an initial cost of $330 a bomb and today's price of $440.

☆ ☆ ☆

Although it had a far greater impact on many Americans, another example got less attention. Hundreds of letters began to pour into Congress, most of them from elderly pensioners, complaining that the cost of a drug they were required to take daily for a heart irregularity had doubled and tripled and then gone up again. Many said they could not afford to pay for the pills on their meager pensions, and they wanted to know why the big increase.

The drug was Quinidine with a quinine base. Sen. Phillip A. Hart, chairman of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee, started an investigation. The facts that came to light were, to say the least, startling.

Under the chaperonage of the State Department, a Dutch cartel was given a clear track to buy virtually all of the quinine released from the stock pile. This was close to 9,000,000 ounces at an average price of 20 cents an ounce. Within four to five years the price had gone to $2 an ounce. While ostensibly the whole amount went to the Dutch cartel, part of it ended up in the hands of West German purchasers.

One of the witnesses was Robert Price, who later managed John Lindsay's campaign for mayor of New York and is now deputy mayor. Price, counsel in 1960 for a small New York drug manufacturer, testified to the methods used by the Gereral Service Administration to bar American firms with limited resources from acquiring any of the stock pile. Onerous requirements, including an advance five-year guarantee of payment underwritten by a letter of credit, made it difficult for Price's company and others to participate despite appeals to the Small Business Administration.

Committee investigators put into the record documents out of State Department files showing collaboration with the Dutch. This went on despite the fact that the firm said to represent the cartel was under a permanent anti-trust injunction prohibiting fixing of prices in this country. Price testified that the Dutch interests at the time of the stock-pile deal were arbitrarily setting the world price at 20 cents an ounce.

"I must admit that in 1960," Price told the committee as the various documents were read into the record, "that I didn't believe these things could happen this way. I didn't think they would be put in writing."

☆ ☆ ☆

One thing that sent the quinine market booming was the panicky action of the Pentagon in ordering an investigation in Europe of the possibility of reacquiring part of the stock pile. As more and more Americans were committed to Viet Nam, the threat arose of a new and more virulent form of malaria and the havoc it could create. While the number of American hospitalized with this form of malaria is classified, it appears to be much smaller than anticipated.

Compared to some of the stock-pile abuses, these are small potatoes. One of the flagrant cases involved the M. A. Hanna Company in Cleveland on the nickel stock pile. The initial contract was put through by George M. Humphrey, the company's chief officer, just before he became secretary of the Treasury. A federal judge, in ordering a refund, called it "a classic case of unjust enrichment."

But for several hundred thousand persons dependent on Quinidine, this was no small matter. And, as an example of this kind of manipulation that can grow out of stockpiling excess material, they make McNamara's point for proceeding with caution.

BOB CONSIDINE

The Mighty Midget, The Vidicon Tube

NEW YORK — Superlatives were a dime a dozen when the space specialists exploded rapturously over Surveyor's discreet prat-fall on the moon.

Like the sizes of olives and most B-pictures, everything about Surveyor was pronounced colossal, stupendous gargantuan, mesmerizing, stupefying, startling and astoundingly surprising as an unsought pay raise. But in this purple vortex of praise, certain little things were lost sight of, notably the little thing that meant the difference between proud success and galling disappointment.

That would be the television tube now sending home the most enchanting picture postcards of the Space Age. It has a Narcissus complex about taking snaps of its own legs and its big flat feet, but nothing is perfect. Just to have it functioning obediently a quarter-of-a-million miles away from its masters excuses everything else.

It is called a vidicon tube. You could stick it in your pocket or purse and forget you had it. It is only six inches long, an inch wide and weighs two-and-one-half ounces.

It uses about as little electricity as the peanut-sized incandescent that lights up when you open your refrigerator door. But it is somewhat more sophisticated.

It has hundreds of parts, takes days to assemble from a set of plans that fills 25 typed pages, is built to withstand the gruelling acceleration of takeoff from the launching pad to the emphatic deceleration of landing on the moon. It resists inflight and lunar temperatures ranging from about 250 degrees Fahrenheit to 250 below. It costs $8,300. That makes it one of the least expensive pieces of equipment on the $100 million spacecraft.

Happened to be sitting next to one of the wizards responsible for the vidicon early Thursday morning when it was warming up just prior to hurling its first 600-line picture across the abyss between the moon's Sea of Storms and the earth's jet propulsion laboratory at Pasadena. He is Francis J. Salgo, youthful looking Swiss-born president of General Electrodynamics Corp., of Garland, Tex. He carried a jewel case of sample vidicons and wore a furrowed brow.

"Just about now you wish you had it back and were giving it another set of check-outs," he sighed thinking of the far-off little tube's gigantic responsibility. "If something goes wrong after it has gone this far, you never forgive yourself for not making one last test."

Suddenly the picture popped alive on the TV monitors in the cluttered pressroom. It was a good picture, not quite up to Karsh of Ottawa but infinitely better than the samples sent back by Russia's Lunic 9. Mr. Salgo leaned back in his chair with a wheeze of relief and handed me a replica of Surveyor's cigar-sized "eye" like a quietly proud new father.

"Lot of work goes into a vidicon," he said. "And most times it's for the birds. We must make about 50 of them in order to get one that works perfectly — like the one on this Surveyor. Small as it is, it's got about 400 parts and 200 characteristics that have to be tested over and over. Once we finish one and it isn't quite right, there's nothing much we can do to rebuilt it. It has gone beyond a point of no return, so to speak."

"Like a non-returnable beer bottle?" we asked with the shrewd expertise born of years of study at M.I.T. Mr. Salgo winced, for some reason, but nodded his head.

The vidicon scans 30 times slower than the tube in your TV set. It needs a full second to digest what it sees and commit it to its memory tanks for subsequent total recall and revelation. Mr. Salgo's tube on Mariner 4 had to remember everything it saw of Mars throughout eight full days of transmission to earth. One presumes barely mentioned military satellite's equipped with vidicons keep sending dandy snaps taken while criss-crossing Red China and the Soviet Union.

But that's secret. The big thing right now is asking the moon, appropriately enough, to say "cheese."

Preparedness

Firth, Neb.

The grim reaper was busy again at Wagon Train Lake southeast of Hickman this Memorial Day, and he left in his wake a harvest of broken hearts.

His parents, brothers and friends wonder why Ricky Haeffner was taken, but we feel he might have been spared if some means of preparedness had been at hand. Too much time in an emergency like this can mean eternity for the unfortunate one.

We hope that before another holiday comes along, something will be done to be prepared in case death is out for a holiday there again.

James Meredith's Cause

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

We can almost hear it now. "If he had been minding his own business, it would never have happened." That will be the reaction of a few people to the shooting in Mississippi of James H. Meredith as he attempted to walk the highway from Memphis to Jackson, a distance of 225 miles. He was shot on the eve of a Mississippi primary election in which 117,000 Negro voters were eligible through registration to go to the polls.

Meredith was attempting to show the registered Negroes that they had nothing to fear in asserting their rights, particularly their right to vote. Also, he wanted to encourage another nearly half a million eligible Mississippi Negroes to register so they could vote. Fear was the threat he sought to banish but maybe he failed. In failing, however, he accomplished something else. The Mississippi Negro may still be afraid but he ought to be more determined, he ought to be incensed enough to go out and do what Meredith would want him to do.

Failure And Progress

Was it Meredith's own fault that he was shot? Is he to blame for attempting his walk and, thus, setting the stage for the violence with which he met? To say so would be to deny each and every one of us every single right to which we are now entitled. For a right that cannot be exercised is no right at all. Do we have the right to vote when, in exercising it, we are submitted to personal danger?

Auto Safety Bill Tight On Makers

WASHINGTON — The legislation which auto buyers should watch during the auto safety debate is that sponsored by Sen. Vance Hartke, D-Ind., and Rep. James MacKay, D-Ga.

Though the Johnson administration came up with a fairly good bill, these two have rewritten the administration bill and made it stronger. If their revisions pass, automobile buyers can be fairly sure of better protection on the highways.

☆ ☆ ☆

The auto safety bill which Hartke and Rep. MacKay have put together does the following:

1. Gives the Secretary of Commerce considerably more power than Secretary John T. Connor had asked for himself and his successors.

2. Provides him with investigative powers to probe the automobile industry.

3. Requires an annual progress report from the auto manufacturers telling auto buyers about the performance level of their cars in regard to brakes, doors and how well each make of car can withstand crashes.

4. Permits the public to submit information to the Secretary of Commerce regarding auto safety.

5. Permits a citizen to appeal auto safety standards to the courts.

Finally the Hartke-MacKay bill carries tough criminal provisions against any auto manufacturer who fails to conform to safety standards. This is what Lloyd Cutler, able attorney for the auto manufacturers, is bucking most. His position is that it's an insult to the automobile industry to legislate any criminal penalties at all.

Sen. Hartke and Rep. MacKay reply that every other industry is subject to criminal penalties. The railroads, the airlines, the bus companies—all can be prosecuted criminally and their officials sent to jail if they are negligent where the safety of the public is concerned.

One member of Congress, Rep. James Haley, Democrat, of Sarasota, Fla., even went to jail in connection with a circus fire. When the Ringling Brothers tent caught on fire at Hartford, Conn., Haley was circus manager. And though not present when the fire started, he was convicted and sentenced to jail for criminal negligence.

Sen. Hartke and Rep. MacKay argue that the automobile manufacturers have the same safety obligation to the public, and if negligent should be liable to criminal conviction. A vigorous backstage lobby is operating to sidetrack this provision from the auto safety bill and it will be interesting to see what happens.

Sen. Bass Gets Off LBJ's Bandwagon

WASHINGTON — Tennessee elections often attract attention because of the colorful personalities involved, but are rarely watched for national significance. The reverse suddenly became true when Sen. Ross Bass announced his conversion from a militant supporter of President Johnson's Viet Nam actions to a serious doubter of its wisdom and practicality.

Bass is not a student of foreign affairs. He made a good House record under the Rayburn rule of getting along by going along and was elected in 1964 to serve out the unexpired term of the late Estes Kefauver. This year he is running for a full term.

Recently he returned home to put an ear to the grass roots and to launch his campaign. His Senate colleagues, hardened to inconsistency, were fascinated by the candor with which he then announced that visits across the state had convinced him of the need to "re-evaluate my own thinking of our posture in Viet Nam."

☆ ☆ ☆

The Bass re-evaluation was harsh. He called it fruitless to win military operations, or even a total military victory, unless Viet Nam achieved stability. He promised to discuss the situation with the President. And said he would not support "perpetual policing actions in any part of the world."

One senator feels the statement was roughly equivalent to a bumper strip announcing, "Lyndon Johnson can't help me this time."

Bass's primary rival in 1964, as now, was Gov. Frank Clement. Bass won by 97,000 votes, but in the general election fared only about half as well against a moderate Republican, Howard Baker Jr. Baker is expected to win renomination, despite opposition from a Goldwater supporter, and to be formidable once more.

On Viet Nam, he is taking the cool stance favored by his astute father-in-law, Senate Republican Leader Everett Dirksen. So is Clement, from his safe sanctuary in the statehouse.

Baker's father was a respected congressman for many years; his mother served out her husband's unexpired term.

Though Tennessee is a border state not immune from civil rights incidents, it is not an issue in the tight contests for senator and governor. Bass got the bulk of the Negro vote last time. Clements has just made former boxing champion Joe Louis an honorary citizen of the state and presented him a certificate of achievement.

Baker believes he would have made a big dent on this vote had Goldwater not been at the top of the ticket. The Negro vote is estimated at 200,000, and state experts claim that a larger percentage of eligible Negroes vote there than in any southern state.

Until the Bass bombshell, the governor's race had attracted all the notice because Buford Ellington, former governor and Johnson intimate, is in a primary with a Kennedy friend, John J. Hooker Jr. Ellington is experienced and homespun; Hooker is in the Kennedy style — young, handsome, well-endowed with money and children.

McNamara Wars On Surpluses

WASHINGTON—The arithmetic of the Viet Nam war is a constant concern of Secretary of Defense Robbert S. McNamara. Needled about Viet Nam costs in the new budget — based on a phase-out of the war in mid-1967 — he has a quick answer.

The goal is to keep purchases closely in line with immediate needs. The Korean war ended with $12 billion of excess material. This was almost a total loss. McNamara is determined to see that that doesn't happen again.

Two conspicuous examples of the way stock-piled materiel is mishandled, with the taxpayer caught in the middle, emphasize the importance of restraining the military from rushing out and buying everything in sight. The case of the bargain-basement iron bombs got pretty well aired.

The Air Force in March of 1963 sold 7,500 conventional bombs to a West German dealer for $1.70 a bomb. The nitrogen in the explosive was to be used for fertilizer and the metal for scrap. In the fall of 1965, as the Air Force began to run short of bombs, 5,500 were bought back for $21 each, which compares with an initial cost of $330 a bomb and today's price of $440.

☆ ☆ ☆

Although it had a far greater impact on many Americans, another example got less attention. Hundreds of letters began to pour into Congress, most of them from elderly pensioners, complaining that the cost of a drug they were required to take daily for a heart irregularity had doubled and tripled and then gone up again. Many said they could not afford to pay for the pills on their meager pensions, and they wanted to know why the big increase.

The drug was Quinidine with a quinine base. Sen. Phillip A. Hart, chairman of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee, started an investigation. The facts that came to light were, to say the least, startling.

Under the chaperonage of the State Department, a Dutch cartel was given a clear track to buy virtually all of the quinine released from the stock pile. This was close to 9,000,000 ounces at an average price of 20 cents an ounce. Within four to five years the price had gone to $2 an ounce. While ostensibly the whole amount went to the Dutch cartel, part of it ended up in the hands of West German purchasers.

One of the witnesses was Robert Price, who later managed John Lindsay's campaign for mayor of New York and is now deputy mayor. Price, counsel in 1960 for a small New York drug manufacturer, testified to the methods used by the Gereral Service Administration to bar American firms with limited resources from acquiring any of the stock pile. Onerous requirements, including an advance five-year guarantee of payment underwritten by a letter of credit, made it difficult for Price's company and others to participate despite appeals to the Small Business Administration.

Committee investigators put into the record documents out of State Department files showing collaboration with the Dutch. This went on despite the fact that the firm said to represent the cartel was under a permanent anti-trust injunction prohibiting fixing of prices in this country. Price testified that the Dutch interests at the time of the stock-pile deal were arbitrarily setting the world price at 20 cents an ounce.

"I must admit that in 1960," Price told the committee as the various documents were read into the record, "that I didn't believe these things could happen this way. I didn't think they would be put in writing."

☆ ☆ ☆

One thing that sent the quinine market booming was the panicky action of the Pentagon in ordering an investigation in Europe of the possibility of reacquiring part of the stock pile. As more and more Americans were committed to Viet Nam, the threat arose of a new and more virulent form of malaria and the havoc it could create. While the number of American hospitalized with this form of malaria is classified, it appears to be much smaller than anticipated.

Compared to some of the stock-pile abuses, these are small potatoes. One of the flagrant cases involved the M. A. Hanna Company in Cleveland on the nickel stock pile. The initial contract was put through by George M. Humphrey, the company's chief officer, just before he became secretary of the Treasury. A federal judge, in ordering a refund, called it "a classic case of unjust enrichment."

But for several hundred thousand persons dependent on Quinidine, this was no small matter. And, as an example of this kind of manipulation that can grow out of stockpiling excess material, they make McNamara's point for proceeding with caution.

BOB CONSIDINE

The Mighty Midget, The Vidicon Tube

NEW YORK — Superlatives were a dime a dozen when the space specialists exploded rapturously over Surveyor's discreet prat-fall on the moon.

Like the sizes of olives and most B-pictures, everything about Surveyor was pronounced colossal, stupendous gargantuan, mesmerizing, stupefying, startling and astoundingly surprising as an unsought pay raise. But in this purple vortex of praise, certain little things were lost sight of, notably the little thing that meant the difference between proud success and galling disappointment.

That would be the television tube now sending home the most enchanting picture postcards of the Space Age. It has a Narcissus complex about taking snaps of its own legs and its big flat feet, but nothing is perfect. Just to have it functioning obediently a quarter-of-a-million miles away from its masters excuses everything else.

It is called a vidicon tube. You could stick it in your pocket or purse and forget you had it. It is only six inches long, an inch wide and weighs two-and-one-half ounces.

It uses about as little electricity as the peanut-sized incandescent that lights up when you open your refrigerator door. But it is somewhat more sophisticated.

It has hundreds of parts, takes days to assemble from a set of plans that fills 25 typed pages, is built to withstand the gruelling acceleration of takeoff from the launching pad to the emphatic deceleration of landing on the moon. It resists inflight and lunar temperatures ranging from about 250 degrees Fahrenheit to 250 below. It costs $8,300. That makes it one of the least expensive pieces of equipment on the $100 million spacecraft.

Happened to be sitting next to one of the wizards responsible for the vidicon early Thursday morning when it was warming up just prior to hurling its first 600-line picture across the abyss between the moon's Sea of Storms and the earth's jet propulsion laboratory at Pasadena. He is Francis J. Salgo, youthful looking Swiss-born president of General Electrodynamics Corp., of Garland, Tex. He carried a jewel case of sample vidicons and wore a furrowed brow.

"Just about now you wish you had it back and were giving it another set of check-outs," he sighed thinking of the far-off little tube's gigantic responsibility. "If something goes wrong after it has gone this far, you never forgive yourself for not making one last test."

Suddenly the picture popped alive on the TV monitors in the cluttered pressroom. It was a good picture, not quite up to Karsh of Ottawa but infinitely better than the samples sent back by Russia's Lunic 9. Mr. Salgo leaned back in his chair with a wheeze of relief and handed me a replica of Surveyor's cigar-sized "eye" like a quietly proud new father.

"Lot of work goes into a vidicon," he said. "And most times it's for the birds. We must make about 50 of them in order to get one that works perfectly — like the one on this Surveyor. Small as it is, it's got about 400 parts and 200 characteristics that have to be tested over and over. Once we finish one and it isn't quite right, there's nothing much we can do to rebuilt it. It has gone beyond a point of no return, so to speak."

"Like a non-returnable beer bottle?" we asked with the shrewd expertise born of years of study at M.I.T. Mr. Salgo winced, for some reason, but nodded his head.

The vidicon scans 30 times slower than the tube in your TV set. It needs a full second to digest what it sees and commit it to its memory tanks for subsequent total recall and revelation. Mr. Salgo's tube on Mariner 4 had to remember everything it saw of Mars throughout eight full days of transmission to earth. One presumes barely mentioned military satellite's equipped with vidicons keep sending dandy snaps taken while criss-crossing Red China and the Soviet Union.

But that's secret. The big thing right now is asking the moon, appropriately enough, to say "cheese."

Preparedness

Firth, Neb.

The grim reaper was busy again at Wagon Train Lake southeast of Hickman this Memorial Day, and he left in his wake a harvest of broken hearts.

His parents, brothers and friends wonder why Ricky Haeffner was taken, but we feel he might have been spared if some means of preparedness had been at hand. Too much time in an emergency like this can mean eternity for the unfortunate one.

We hope that before another holiday comes along, something will be done to be prepared in case death is out for a holiday there again.

Council To Enter Bus Fare Case?

The City Council will decide next week whether to become involved in a bus fare increase request by Lincoln City Lines.

A hearing will be held on the application June 28 before the State Railway Commission.

Before filing with the commission, city lines attorney John Doyle explained to the council that the transit company proposes to raise its adult fare from 15c to 20c, and the fare for children 5 to 12 from 10c to 15c.

There are no plans for a zone rate increase or a transfer charge, he said.

Council members at that time appeared cool to the increase. Monday the council again questioned whether it was justified and asked whether an increase in fare would result in better service.

There have been complaints about lack of bus service in developing housing areas, Councilman Ervin Peterson told the council. He said that a city lines spokesman explained that such service "was not profitable."

The council has no control over the operation of Lincoln City Lines, a private corporation, but members said they might want to make a recommendation on the fare increase to the railway commission.

The matter has been placed on the council agenda for next Monday.

Planners To Study Zoning On Ballard

The City-County Planning Commission at its 3:30 p.m. Wednesday meeting will consider a request to zone commercial four lots on the north side of Ballard St. between 61st and 62nd.

The property, which is proposed for use as off-street parking, is now zoned B-two family dwelling.

Planning Director Douglas Brogden has recommended that the change of zone be denied, on the basis that it would encourage the development of retail stores on Ballard Ave., a residential area.

No Objection

However, Brogden noted that he did not object to off-street parking as a use, without a zoning change, and will suggest that the applicants, M. M. Carleton Jr. and Roger Anderson, apply for a special use permit for parking on the property.

Other business on the commission agenda:

—Change of zone from AA rural and public use to G local business on property located on East O St., west of the Walton road, requested by Joseph Goodman.

—Special permit request by R. G. Hall to construct and operate a parking lot on the south side of P, between 24th and 25th.

—Special permit request of Dot, Inc., and King Dollar, Inc., for parking lots on the east side of 26th, between Vine and W.

—Special permit requested by Calvin Krueger to construct and operate a parking lot south of O St., west of 37th.

—Vacating a north-south alley between Edison St. and Cornhusker Highway, west of 44th.

—Vacating a portion of West Rio Road to Glenhaven.

—Vacating an east-west alley between 9th and 10th and K and L.

—Final plat, Rosemont 4th addition, north of Walker Ave., east of 70th.

—Reconsideration of a special permit requested by Dr. Hobart Wallace for a parking lot on the northwest corner of 52nd and N.

Distinguished Teacher Award Goes To Mrs. McGonagle

Mrs. Florence McGonagle, a primary teacher in the Clare McPhee Laboratory School, received the second annual Scottish Rite Distinguished Teacher Award Tuesday.

Federal District Judge Robert Van Pelt presented Mrs. McGonagle a check for $1,000 on behalf of the Lincoln Scottish Rite Temple at a special school convocation.

Mrs. McGonagle graduated from Stanton High School, received her bachelor of science degree from the University of Nebraska and taught Nebraska rural schools for four years.

In 1945 she began teaching in Lincoln at Sheridan Elementary School and resigned in 1949 because of home responsibilities. $3,700 In Refunds OKd By Lancaster Board

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday approved claims for refunds totaling more than $3,700 for 1963 on penalties collected on personal property taxes which were declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

The board also approved four more claims totaling $11.78 for 1962.

In other action, the board recommended approval of a bottle club license for Merle's Inc. in Emerald. No one appeared in opposition to the application for the license which is subject to approval by the State Liquor Control Commission.

Representatives from the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers and Director Mel Steen from the State Game Commission met with the board regarding a controversy over the access road to the Branched Oak recreation area near Raymond.

The board will request that the so'called "south road route" be used and resurfaced by the Corps of Engineers, while the Corps is seeking the use of the county road or the "north road" to which Steen strongly objects.

Another meeting is scheduled with the Corps and other parties concerned within the next two weeks.

Extradition Waived By Wanted Man

Richard H. Woolsey, 41, of 1940 So. 16th, waived extradition in Lancaster County Court Tuesday to return to Denver to face homicide charges in connection with the Nov. 8 slaying of a ranch worker.

Woolsey was arrested here last Tuesday on FBI information charging him with fleeing to avoid prosecution for homicide.

Woolsey is wanted in connection with the death of Lewis Nelson Gregory, 58, of Strasbury, Colo., who, according to Denver police, had been assaulted and robbed in front of a bar in Denver's skid row but had refused to press charges against Woolsey.

When Gregory died, Denver police began a search for Woolsey. A routine fingerprint check after he had been convicted on drunk charges led to his arrest here.

Key NATO Men Call Move Now For East-West Meet Too Hasty

Brussels, Belgium (AP)—Key ministers of the North Atlantic Alliance, led by Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Tuesday branded as too hasty any NATO initiative now for an East-West conference on European security.

They emphasized, however, that cautious and continuing efforts should be made to improve East-West relations.

The attitude of the ministers, meeting at NATO's spring conference, thus torpedoed a Danish proposal calling for a conference between the NATO and Warsaw Pact nations. The latter are now meeting in Moscow.

Rusk told the ministers that the West shares a common interest for peace with the Soviet Union, but cautioned that allied solidarity is the main ingredient.

The discussion on European security came about after the ministers became bogged down on the status of French troops in West Germany after France withdraws its forces from the NATO military command July 1.

But in a rare note of harmony between Washington and Paris, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville echoed Rusk's remarks. He said he agreed that there should be "no hasty approach" to seeking lasting European security and added "everything should be done with caution."

Couve de Murville said the problem of an East-West detente was not a matter for the Warsaw and North Atlantic Pacts to deal with, but instead it was the business of individual European nations.

He said that he himself was aiding in this effort through a continuing series of official visits to Eastern European nations, and added that President Charles de Gaulle's trip to the Soviet Union June 20 should be seen in this context.

West German Foreign Minister Gerhard Schroeder's views joined those of Rusk and Couve de Murville when he said, "NATO as an organization could not properly take up an active political role toward the East Bloc." He added that "one should avoid giving the Warsaw Pact more weight by recognizing it as a partner in negotiations."

NATO, the German foreign minister said, "should be used to prepare and harmonize Western policy toward the East Bloc."

Schroeder suggested that the ministers could possibly organize a conference of deputy foreign ministers as a kind of clearing house for ideas on how to deal with the Eastern nations.

Fair days around our suburban scatter. Flowers blooming. Wind chimes chiming. In the daylight-saved evening sky rises the holy smoke of the barbecue chef.

Grease and hell's a-poppin!

Water guns squirting down the blaze!

Chef's hat and apron with funny sayings: "Crying towel."

Summer has arrived at Shady Acres. (Easy monthly payments.)

Love is getting a lot of space in the journals this ever-loving month of June. (Journalists are not all for gore and glory. They have their softer side.)

Love falls mainly on the social pages.

A few young twits we know are getting married.

"Passes Candy" says the headline: The young lady has passed a box of candy to her friends. The tribal ceremony announces she has zeroed in on the target.

(The candy box is open, and the young gent has reached for a piece. Careful, young man! Snap! Too late.)

Anyway, the twit passes the candy, and the young things are all a-twitter.

There is a picture of the young lady. Radiant with love. Or is that an oncoming rash?

The young lady should pass the candy—and keep on passing it.

Candy makes you break out. Especially chocolate and nuts. Keep that in mind when the candy is passing by.

In Kalamazoo, Michigan, a classmate told five-year-old Joey Karow to look down a sewer.

"There's a girl down there," he said — and skipped on to kindergarten

Young Joey got down and peered through the grating. (Funny place to look for a girl. But Joey's only a kid.)

What he did see was a big bundle of $5 and $10 bills!

He fished them out and took them home to his mama. And if his mama will give him back — well, say just $10 a week — Joey will be a big man with the girls on the block.

(The moral of this is, "You must look beneath the surface to find good things," or "Some people have all the luck.")

Summer is the odd season—the time when we recognize that life is full of strange things. It is a time when news tapers off, and editors go walking in Queer Street.

Item: A full-blooded Chippewa maiden is a government worker on the Pima Indian reservation in Arizona.

She went to the Indian tourist shop and bought some beaded moccasins.

Took them home and found stamped inside: "Made in Japan."

(Ugh! Heap big Injun think heap big joke, huh? Maybe see lawyer with forked tongue.)

Scoop for summer: Caesar, a Manhattan, Kan. bulldog, was operated on. Gave up a plastic bottle cap; a golf ball; three pieces of a jigsaw puzzle; and a metal road building toy complete with scoop shovel.

("A bulldog never lets go," said Caesar, "but I had a bad trip under the ether.")

* * *

Thus summer comes in on a breeze of trivia. A cloud of barbecue smoke in the evening sky. And funny sayings all over our chef's aprons.

How to turn a weekend into an extra vacation:

1. Where the Pony Express had its start and Jesse James met his end.

This one-day (or weekend) auto trip brings a wide range of fun sure to please the family. You'll see sites of old Indian ceremonials, trading posts and westward emigrant trails.

0 MILES. OMAHA. Start in downtown Omaha and drive east on U.S. 6 to . . .

3m. COUNCIL BLUFFS. Today Council Bluffs is chiefly a railroad and industrial community. In bygone days it was a site of numerous Indian powwows. Visit the MORMON TRAIL MEMORIAL in Bayliss Park, the LEWIS AND CLARK MONUMENT on scenic Rainbow Drive, and the LINCOLN MONUMENT at Lafayette and Oakland Avenues. Now U.S. 275, your tour route, takes you to . . .

46m. SIDNEY, IOWA. About seven miles southwest of this community, on Route 2, is WAUBONSIE STATE PARK. Past here, the route goes through Hamburg and crosses the state line into Missouri, where it makes a . . .

82m. JUNCTION WITH U.S. 59. A short drive north of here on U.S. 59 lies the community of Tarkio. Early residents built a county courthouse before a vote was taken on the county seat. Their town lost, so they converted the structure into the present TARKIO COLLEGE. The tour route now follows U.S. 59 southward across level farmlands, angling eastward through MOUND CITY and SAVANNAH. About three miles from St. Joseph, U.S. 59 bears sharply westward off Interstate 29. You arrive at . . .

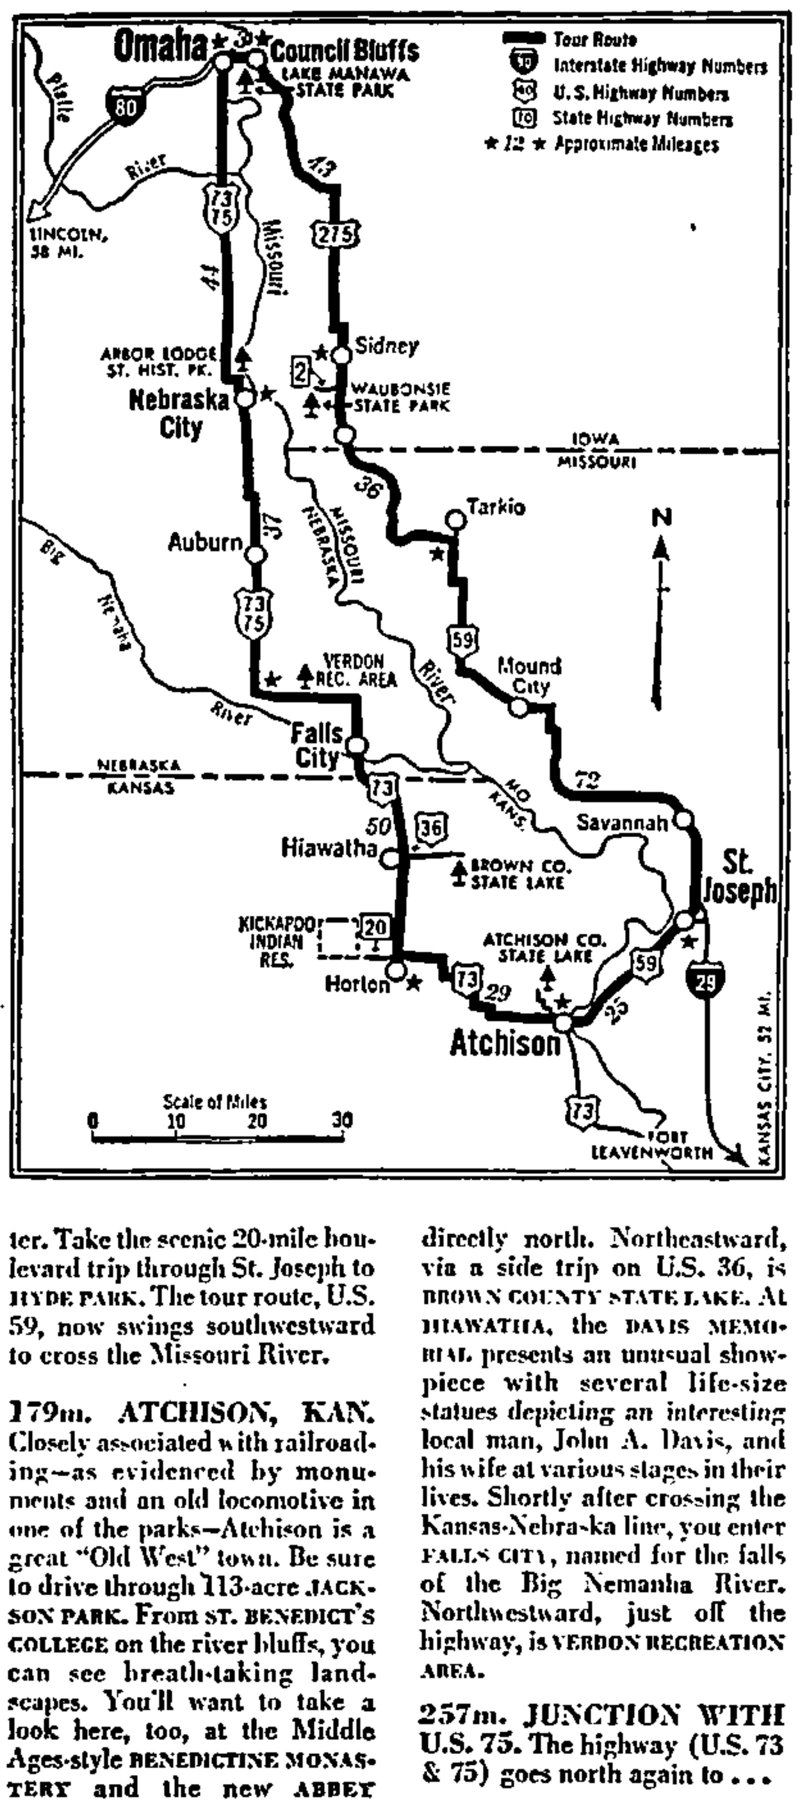
On the east edge of town, you can inspect the cottage where Jesse James was gunned down. On the city's northern end, KRUG PARK has a natural amphitheater. Take the scenic 20-mile boulevard trip through St. Joseph to HYDE PARK. The tour route, U.S. 59, now swings southwestward to cross the Missouri River.



179m. ATCHISON, KAN. Closely associated with railroading—as evidenced by monuments and an old locomotive in one of the parks—Atchison is a great "Old West" town. Be sure to drive through 113-acre JACKSON PARK. From ST. BENEDICT'S COLLEGE on the river bluffs, you can see breath-taking landscapes. You'll want to take a look here, too, at the Middle Ages-style BENEDICTINE MONASTERY and the new ABBEY CHAPEL. A half hour's motoring south on U.S. 73 takes you to FORT LEAVENWORTH, where THE MUSEUM shows off such frontier paraphernalia as a Lincoln carriage, Custer's pay wagon, military vehicles, old guns and Indian artifacts. Six miles northwest of Atchison is ATCHISON COUNTY STATE LAKE. From Atchison, follow U.S. 73 west and north.

294m. NEBRASKA CITY. Here the big travel treats are ARBOR LODGE STATE HISTORICAL PARK and JOHN BROWN'S CAVE. The park, with rose garden and arboretum, is a great picnic spot. The 52-room mansion on the grounds has early Nebraska relics and antiques. Historic JOHN BROWN'S CAVE was a part of the old Underground Railroad. From here U.S. 73-75 continues up the Missouri Valley, crossing the Platte River to . . .

338m. OMAHA. Home again.

2. Along the Oregon trail to an Indian fort almost 100 years old.

Here's a weekend vacation which will thrill young and old alike. Your holiday begins in . . .

0 MILES. OMAHA. Start downtown. You may follow the Platte River—taking in such attractions as FREMONT LAKES RECREATION AREA by curving north, west and south on U.S. 275 and U.S. 30. Or take U.S. Alt. 30 due west. Just east of the Platte River is TWO RIVERS RECREATION AREA, where you can fish, swim, camp and picnic. Continue on to . . .

104m. JCT. WITH U.S. 30. Here lies the old Dexter Farm, site of a former Pawnee Indian village. Just east of U.S. 30 on U.S. 30A is the MORMON TRAIL RECREATION AREA. At the junction, bear southwest on U.S. 30.

135m. GRAND ISLAND was named for an island in the Platte River. Take U.S. 281 about 1½ miles southwest of town. On the site of old Fort Independence, is STOLLEY STATE RECREATION AREA. Continue on U.S. 281 to Interstate 80 and go southwest on Interstate 80 to . . .

183m. KEARNEY, the seat of Buffalo County, and the home of NEBRASKA STATE TEACHERS' COLLEGE. Here is the modern descendant of old Fort Kearney, established in 1848 to protect Oregon Trail travelers. Take Route 10 south and east from town to the spot, now FORT KEARNEY HISTORICAL STATE PARK. Drive south on Route 10 to . . .

205m. MINDEN, the seat of Kearney County. HAROLD WARP'S PIONEER VILLAGE, covering some 20 acres, is a family attraction. You'll find a sod house, country school, general store, a railway depot, government land office, Pony Express station and an Indian fort almost 100 years old. Here's a great place to take pictures! There are more than 30,000 items on display, from clocks, guns and keepsakes to old locomotives, fire engines, and planes. There are also craft shops. Drive east from Minden on U.S. 6 to . . .

236m. HASTINGS. Visit HASTINGS COLLEGE. Highland Park is the location of the FISHER RAINBOW FOUNTAIN which features displays of colored water jets. J. M. MCDONALD PLANETARIUM has regular shows on outer space. The HASTINGS MUSEUM contains an extensive collection of fossils, fauna and mineral exhibits. At the House of Yesterday, in the Museum, you'll see a pioneer general store, firearms, early farm machinery and vehicles. About 15 miles southwest on U.S. 281 lies CRYSTAL LAKE RECREATION AREA. Drive east of Hastings on U.S. 6 to . . .

280m. FAIRMONT. Continue east on U.S. 6. Between Friend and Milford is BLUE RIVER STATE WAYSIDE AREA.

319m. JCT. WITH INTERSTATE 80. Interstate 80 leads northeast to Omaha. But you will miss a great deal if you don't take U.S. 6 into Lincoln. Interesting sights include the imposing Capitol building, UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA STATE MUSEUM, lovely parks and the STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY MUSEUM. The superhighway soon crosses the Platte River and eases back to your starting place.

400m. OMAHA.

179m. ATCHISON, KAN. Closely associated with railroading—as evidenced by monuments and an old locomotive in one of the parks—Atchison is a great "Old West" town. Be sure to drive through 113-acre JACKSON PARK. From ST. BENEDICT'S COLLEGE on the river bluffs, you can see breath-taking landscapes. You'll want to take a look here, too, at the Middle Ages-style BENEDICTINE MONASTERY and the new ABBEY CHAPEL. A half hour's motoring south on U.S. 73 takes you to FORT LEAVENWORTH, where THE MUSEUM shows off such frontier paraphernalia as a Lincoln carriage, Custer's pay wagon, military vehicles, old guns and Indian artifacts. Six miles northwest of Atchison is ATCHISON COUNTY STATE LAKE. From Atchison, follow U.S. 73 west and north.

207m. HORTON, KAN. Five miles west of here, on Route 20, is the KICKAPOO INDIAN RESERVATION. U.S. 73, however, veers directly north. Northeastward, via a side trip on U.S. 36, is BROWN COUNTY STATE LAKE. At HIAWATHA, the DAVIS MEMORIAL presents an unusual showpiece with several life-size statues depicting an interesting local man, John A. Davis, and his wife at various stages in their lives. Shortly after crossing the Kansas-Nebraska line, you enter FALLS CITY, named for the falls of the Big Nemanha River. Northwestward, just off the highway, is VERDON RECREATION AREA.

294m. NEBRASKA CITY. Here the big travel treats are ARBOR LODGE STATE HISTORICAL PARK and JOHN BROWN'S CAVE. The park, with rose garden and arboretum, is a great picnic spot. The 52-room mansion on the grounds has early Nebraska relics and antiques. Historic JOHN BROWN'S CAVE was a part of the old Underground Railroad. From here U.S. 73-75 continues up the Missouri Valley, crossing the Platte River to . . .

338m. OMAHA. Home again.

2. Along the Oregon trail to an Indian fort almost 100 years old.

Here's a weekend vacation which will thrill young and old alike. Your holiday begins in . . .

0 MILES. OMAHA. Start downtown. You may follow the Platte River—taking in such attractions as FREMONT LAKES RECREATION AREA by curving north, west and south on U.S. 275 and U.S. 30. Or take U.S. Alt. 30 due west. Just east of the Platte River is TWO RIVERS RECREATION AREA, where you can fish, swim, camp and picnic. Continue on to . . .

104m. JCT. WITH U.S. 30. Here lies the old Dexter Farm, site of a former Pawnee Indian village. Just east of U.S. 30 on U.S. 30A is the MORMON TRAIL RECREATION AREA. At the junction, bear southwest on U.S. 30.

135m. GRAND ISLAND was named for an island in the Platte River. Take U.S. 281 about 1½ miles southwest of town. On the site of old Fort Independence, is STOLLEY STATE RECREATION AREA. Continue on U.S. 281 to Interstate 80 and go southwest on Interstate 80 to . . .

183m. KEARNEY, the seat of Buffalo County, and the home of NEBRASKA STATE TEACHERS' COLLEGE. Here is the modern descendant of old Fort Kearney, established in 1848 to protect Oregon Trail travelers. Take Route 10 south and east from town to the spot, now FORT KEARNEY HISTORICAL STATE PARK. Drive south on Route 10 to . . .

205m. MINDEN, the seat of Kearney County. HAROLD WARP'S PIONEER VILLAGE, covering some 20 acres, is a family attraction. You'll find a sod house, country school, general store, a railway depot, government land office, Pony Express station and an Indian fort almost 100 years old. Here's a great place to take pictures! There are more than 30,000 items on display, from clocks, guns and keepsakes to old locomotives, fire engines, and planes. There are also craft shops. Drive east from Minden on U.S. 6 to . . .

236m. HASTINGS. Visit HASTINGS COLLEGE. Highland Park is the location of the FISHER RAINBOW FOUNTAIN which features displays of colored water jets. J. M. MCDONALD PLANETARIUM has regular shows on outer space. The HASTINGS MUSEUM contains an extensive collection of fossils, fauna and mineral exhibits. At the House of Yesterday, in the Museum, you'll see a pioneer general store, firearms, early farm machinery and vehicles. About 15 miles southwest on U.S. 281 lies CRYSTAL LAKE RECREATION AREA. Drive east of Hastings on U.S. 6 to . . .

280m. FAIRMONT. Continue east on U.S. 6. Between Friend and Milford is BLUE RIVER STATE WAYSIDE AREA.

319m. JCT. WITH INTERSTATE 80. Interstate 80 leads northeast to Omaha. But you will miss a great deal if you don't take U.S. 6 into Lincoln. Interesting sights include the imposing Capitol building, UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA STATE MUSEUM, lovely parks and the STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY MUSEUM. The superhighway soon crosses the Platte River and eases back to your starting place.

400m. OMAHA.

Methodists Report Church Participation Declines

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Membership in the Nebraska Methodist church increased by 622 during the past year, but statistics also indicated a decrease in nearly every phase of actual participation in church activities, it was reported here Tuesday.

Intense concern over the decrease in average attendance at Sunday morning worship, church school and other activities was voiced at the Nebraska Annual Methodist Conference in its second day of meetings at Nebraska Wesleyan University this week.

Total membership rose to 139,403 this year, about twice as many as any other Protestant church in the state, the Rev. Woodrow W. Leypoldt, conference statistician, told some delegates and guests attending the 106th annual session.

Average Sunday morning worship attendance dropped by 204. Church school enrollment was down 4,448 from the previous year, and average church school attendance dropped by 2,778.

There were increases indicated in the statistician's report in the value of church property, but indebtedness also increased.

Bishop James V. Casey of the Catholic Diocese of Lincoln, made an unprecedented appearance at the Methodist conference Tuesday. He presented some of his observations from the Vatican Council. Bishop Casey attended the Council as an observer during 10 months of dialogue on the Catholic faith.

The Lincoln bishop told the Nebraska Methodists that it is "hard to overemphasize the influence of the 90 Protestant and Orthodox observers," who he described as "practically participants."

The 16 documents issued by the Vatican Council left doctoral differences "untouched" but now "we find attitudes changed to new openness," he said.

Characterizing the council further as positive in tone and concerned with man, social justice and his essential dignity, Bishop Casey said a trend toward gospel simplicity was initiated, which he predicted would grow into such matters as ceremony and dress.

In the message of the district superintendents, delivered by the Rev. Richard E. Carlyon of Lincoln, the relevance of the church today to issues, problems, challenges and opportunities which confront it was emphasized.

"It is within the church that the judgements and values are nurtured that enables men to face up to the issues of war and peace, racial justice, industrial relations, fair housing, fair employment practices and civic responsibility," he pointed out.

In other action Tuesday the Methodist Conference delegates spurned a last-minute effort led by the Rev. Darrell Berg of Lincoln to introduce a resolution seeking to transfer the Nebraska conference from the South Central Jurisdiction of the Methodist Church to the North Central Jurisdiction.

Delegates argued they would not have enough time nor information to fairly consider the proposal before it would be brought to a vote at the conference session.

Rev. Berg said the proposed move was for geographical reasons to align the state with others having similar habitat instead of the grouping with Southern states now in effect.

A field service director serving the area of finance and wills and bequests in the business administration office of the Conference was approved by delegates. Methodist Bishop Kenneth Copeland announced that it was his intention to appoint the Rev. Norman Kauble of Gillman, Iowa, to the new post.

Church Leader Raps China Policy

Nebraska Methodists were told here Tuesday they could criticize the United States government's China policy on a theological basis.

"We as Christians have no right to ostracize other nations," declared the Rev. Dr. Carl Soule of New York, executive secretary of the division of peace and world order of the Methodist Board of Christian Social Concerns.

Addressing the 106th session of the Nebraska Annual Methodist Conference meeting at Nebraska Wesleyan University, Dr. Soule said it seems that "on a theological basis, we can say to our government our China policy is wrong."

Urging recogniton of the Chinese nation led by Mao Tse-tung and expanded relationships, the Methodist minister deplored the government claim that the Far Eastern country is "too wicked to deal with."

Dr. Soule pointed out that the more immoral, the more wicked the country, the more need there is for missionaries and outside help.

In addition, he emphasized, the longer the U.S. isolates Red China, the more the Communist nation's bitterness increases.

Soule claimed he could think of "no church leader in Europe who agrees with the U.S. China policy."

He admitted, however, that he knew that was not the attitude in some churches here.

At the Tuesday night session some 25 Nebraska Methodist conference delegates and ministers signed up to participate in a march Thursday to the State Capitol, protesting the U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

Their agreement to march indicated approval of a resolution which will be presented to the conference for consideration by the 600 voting delegates on Wednesday, according to the Rev. Darrell Berg.

The resolution, adopted by the national Board of Christian Social Concerns of the Methodist Church, urges a halt in the bombing of North Viet Nam and appeals for a cease-fire in the conflict.

Sen. Eastland Renominated Despite Heavy Negro Voting

Jackson, Miss. (AP)—Veteran Sen. James Eastland won Democratic renomination Tuesday night despite record Negro turnout in Mississippi's congressional primaries.

Eastland, a veteran of 24 years in the Senate and head of the powerful Senate Judiciary Committee, rolled up a lead in the first precincts reporting and increased it steadily.

Four incumbent Democratic representatives led in races for new terms and the outcome appeared in doubt only in the 4th District, where there was no incumbent and the Republicans held their first primary contest.

Heavily Favored

Eastland, heavily favored in pre-election predictions, was opposed by Charles P. Mosby Jr. of Meridian, unsuccessful candidate for several posts in the past, and the Rev. Clifton Whitely, 32-year-old Holly Springs Negro.

With 574 of the state's 2,005 precincts reporting, Eastland had 53,547 votes to 6,306 for Whitley and 2,540 for Mosby.

Eastland, bitterly opposed by civil rights forces as a segregation leader, will be opposed by Republican Rep. Prentiss Walker of Mize in the Nov. 8 general election.

Walker chose to oppose Eastland rather than seek reelection in the 4th District, where he became the first Republican congressman of the century two years ago during the Goldwater landslide.

Also Leading

Also leading by big margins were incumbent Democrats Tom Abernethy in the 1st District, Jamie Whitten in the 2nd, John Bell Williams in the 3rd and William Colmer in the 5th.

Whitley headed the full ticket of the Freedom Democratic Party, a predominately Negro civil rights group. The FDP candidates were the only opposition faced by Abernethy, Whitten and Williams.

The reports of heavy Negro voting were statewide.

Even in rural areas where Negroes traditionally have not voted, there were big turnouts in precincts with big Negro registrations.

Sen. Karl Mundt Swamps Youthful Foe In Primary

Sioux Falls, S.D. (AP)—Republican U.S. Sen. Karl E. Mundt swamped his youthful challenger, Richard Murphy, in South Dakota's primary election Tuesday.

The contest for the GOP nomination for the Senate wasn't close after the first precinct tabulation was reported.

Mundt quickly piled up a 5-1 margin and continued to hold a decisive margin.

With 675 of 1,780 precincts reported the tally showed: Mundt 24,111, Murphy 4,591.

LBJ Asks Air Strike Prevention

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson urged five major airlines and the machinists' union Tuesday to accept a presidential emergency board's proposals for resolving a dispute that otherwise might cripple 60% of the nation's air passenger traffic in a strike after July 5.

After he met with the three-member panel and received their voluminous findings on the complicated issues, Johnson appealed to both sides to come to terms.

"These recommendations form the framework for a just and prompt settlement which is in the national interest," the President said in a statement he read to newsmen at the White House.

The airlines involved in the contract dispute with 34,000 members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers are Eastern, National, Northwestern, Trans World and United.

The emergency board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a veteran mediator of labor disputes, was appointed by Johnson April 21 to propose solutions to disputes over issues including wages, vacations, pensions, holidays and work rules.

The President named the board after the National Mediation Board advised him it had failed to achieve a settlement through collective bargaining. The strike could begin July 5 if no agreement under presidential auspices is reached by then. That is when a 60-day strike ban, starting with the board's first hearings, would expire.

The other two members of the board are Richard Neustadt, associate dean of the Harvard School of Public Administration, and David Ginsberg, a Washington lawyer.

Air Authority Formalizes Base Request

The Lincoln Airport Authority has asked the federal government formally for the return of Lincoln Air Force Base property—minus the Job Corps area—to the authority for its use and operation.

The board authorized its executive director, Rolland Harr, to submit the request along with other filings to the General Services Administration.

The action was strictly a formality. The government has promised outright cancellation of the 99-year base lease, and the control of the city-owned property will revert to the authority under previous arrangements.

Also at a special meeting, the authority board appointed members Fred Eiche and Jack Pace to work out insurance coverage on various buildings on the base property.

Under terms of the authority's bond agreement, the authority will have to have the insurance in force by the time the base property is returned, possibly by July 1.

Congo Ends Oil, Mine, Forest Firms' Concessions

Kinshasa (Leopoldville), the Congo (AP)—President Joseph Mobutu Tuesday canceled concessions held by oil, mining and forestry companies in the Congo in a move to control the country's resources.

He signed a decree enabling the government to take over all concessions awarded before independence June 30, 1960. The companies can renew them under new conditions, according to the decree.

The document was one of three recently approved by parliament and initialed by Mobutu Tuesday.

One ruled that all foreign companies with only their exploitation base in the Congo must move their administrative headquarters into the country before next January or else pull out completely.

The third decree concerned wiping out racialism and tribalism in the Congo.

The Congo government has decreed renaming of Congolese cities by June 30. One of the first to change over is Leopoldville, the origin point of this dispatch, which has become Kinshasa. The names being replaced are reminders of the Belgian colonial era—Leopoldville, Elisabethville, Stanleyville and so on. The new ones generally represent a reversion to African names in use before the Belgians came.

Germany To Purchase

Bonn, Germany (AP)—British Defense Minister Denis Healey has extracted a pledge from West Germany that it will consider buying British missile systems, radar and military trucks to help meet the expenses caused by maintaining troops in that country.

Sen. Eastland Renominated Despite Heavy Negro Voting

Jackson, Miss. (AP)—Veteran Sen. James Eastland won Democratic renomination Tuesday night despite record Negro turnout in Mississippi's congressional primaries.

Eastland, a veteran of 24 years in the Senate and head of the powerful Senate Judiciary Committee, rolled up a lead in the first precincts reporting and increased it steadily.

Four incumbent Democratic representatives led in races for new terms and the outcome appeared in doubt only in the 4th District, where there was no incumbent and the Republicans held their first primary contest.

Heavily Favored

Eastland, heavily favored in pre-election predictions, was opposed by Charles P. Mosby Jr. of Meridian, unsuccessful candidate for several posts in the past, and the Rev. Clifton Whitely, 32-year-old Holly Springs Negro.

With 574 of the state's 2,005 precincts reporting, Eastland had 53,547 votes to 6,306 for Whitley and 2,540 for Mosby.

Eastland, bitterly opposed by civil rights forces as a segregation leader, will be opposed by Republican Rep. Prentiss Walker of Mize in the Nov. 8 general election.

Walker chose to oppose Eastland rather than seek reelection in the 4th District, where he became the first Republican congressman of the century two years ago during the Goldwater landslide.

Also Leading

Also leading by big margins were incumbent Democrats Tom Abernethy in the 1st District, Jamie Whitten in the 2nd, John Bell Williams in the 3rd and William Colmer in the 5th.

Whitley headed the full ticket of the Freedom Democratic Party, a predominately Negro civil rights group. The FDP candidates were the only opposition faced by Abernethy, Whitten and Williams.

The reports of heavy Negro voting were statewide.

Even in rural areas where Negroes traditionally have not voted, there were big turnouts in precincts with big Negro registrations.

Sen. Karl Mundt Swamps Youthful Foe In Primary

Sioux Falls, S.D. (AP)—Republican U.S. Sen. Karl E. Mundt swamped his youthful challenger, Richard Murphy, in South Dakota's primary election Tuesday.

The contest for the GOP nomination for the Senate wasn't close after the first precinct tabulation was reported.

Mundt quickly piled up a 5-1 margin and continued to hold a decisive margin.

With 675 of 1,780 precincts reported the tally showed: Mundt 24,111, Murphy 4,591.

LBJ Asks Air Strike Prevention

Washington (UPI) — President Johnson urged five major airlines and the machinists' union Tuesday to accept a presidential emergency board's proposals for resolving a dispute that otherwise might cripple 60% of the nation's air passenger traffic in a strike after July 5.

After he met with the three-member panel and received their voluminous findings on the complicated issues, Johnson appealed to both sides to come to terms.

"These recommendations form the framework for a just and prompt settlement which is in the national interest," the President said in a statement he read to newsmen at the White House.

The airlines involved in the contract dispute with 34,000 members of the International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers are Eastern, National, Northwestern, Trans World and United.

The emergency board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., a veteran mediator of labor disputes, was appointed by Johnson April 21 to propose solutions to disputes over issues including wages, vacations, pensions, holidays and work rules.

The President named the board after the National Mediation Board advised him it had failed to achieve a settlement through collective bargaining. The strike could begin July 5 if no agreement under presidential auspices is reached by then. That is when a 60-day strike ban, starting with the board's first hearings, would expire.

The other two members of the board are Richard Neustadt, associate dean of the Harvard School of Public Administration, and David Ginsberg, a Washington lawyer.

Air Authority Formalizes Base Request

The Lincoln Airport Authority has asked the federal government formally for the return of Lincoln Air Force Base property—minus the Job Corps area—to the authority for its use and operation.

The board authorized its executive director, Rolland Harr, to submit the request along with other filings to the General Services Administration.

The action was strictly a formality. The government has promised outright cancellation of the 99-year base lease, and the control of the city-owned property will revert to the authority under previous arrangements.

Also at a special meeting, the authority board appointed members Fred Eiche and Jack Pace to work out insurance coverage on various buildings on the base property.

Under terms of the authority's bond agreement, the authority will have to have the insurance in force by the time the base property is returned, possibly by July 1.

Congo Ends Oil, Mine, Forest Firms' Concessions

Kinshasa (Leopoldville), the Congo (AP)—President Joseph Mobutu Tuesday canceled concessions held by oil, mining and forestry companies in the Congo in a move to control the country's resources.

He signed a decree enabling the government to take over all concessions awarded before independence June 30, 1960. The companies can renew them under new conditions, according to the decree.

The document was one of three recently approved by parliament and initialed by Mobutu Tuesday.

One ruled that all foreign companies with only their exploitation base in the Congo must move their administrative headquarters into the country before next January or else pull out completely.

The third decree concerned wiping out racialism and tribalism in the Congo.

The Congo government has decreed renaming of Congolese cities by June 30. One of the first to change over is Leopoldville, the origin point of this dispatch, which has become Kinshasa. The names being replaced are reminders of the Belgian colonial era—Leopoldville, Elisabethville, Stanleyville and so on. The new ones generally represent a reversion to African names in use before the Belgians came.

VISTA People 'Selling Hope, Optimism, Faith'

By FAYE COLBURN
Star Staff Writer

"They are basically selling hope, optimism and faith in the ability of the poor to get out of their desperate situation," said George Lord of VISTA volunteers.

According to Lord, head of VISTA recruiting efforts in Lincoln this week, the main aims of the organization are "self - help, communication and showing people how to work together in a community as a whole."

VISTA, or Volunteers in Service To America, began about a year and a half ago. Today there are 2,289 volunteers and it is hoped that by September the demand for 3,500 will be met. Projected ideals set the demand for VISTA volunteers at 7,000 within the next year.

Helping People

VISTA has been called the domestic Peace Corps. It's an organization for helping people help themselves, Lord said. The volunteer's work "is a face-to-face relationship with the poor," he added.

Though there is no typical VISTA volunteer, Lord has found that in each one there is a certain quality which he calls "sympathetic understanding."

The work of the eight VISTA volunteers in Philadelphia, Pa., illustrates this sympathetic understanding. They are in South Philadelphia, working under the sponsorship of the St. Martha's Settlement House. The volunteers are focusing their time and energy on the renovation of an old house. The idea is to provide the residents with a model of what can be done to improve their homes with limited budget, skills, and materials.

Give Nothing

Whatever VISTA does, however, it gives the people nothing. It tells them how to meet their needs, perhaps, but it does not do the job for them, Lord said.

For example, if someone's landlord refuses to turn on the gas when it's cold, the VISTA volunteer tells his friend to whom he may complain. He explains the laws which govern the landlord's actions. But the volunteer does not file a complaint in his behalf.

Lord says VISTA volunteers are given a great deal of latitude on their projects. Aside from the program which they are assigned to carry out, they may initiate others. For example, a young woman working in one of the poverty pockets in Appalachia initiated a program to renovate the interior of the school building. And, with the help of the people of the community, she accomplished the task.

Retirees who join the program are often those who have found after a short term of retirement that they "need to be needed," Lord pointed out.

President Lyndon Johnson, in his greeting to the first VISTA volunteers in 1964, summarized the program: "Your pay will be low; the conditions of your labor often will be difficult. But you will have the satisfaction of leading a great national effort and you will have the ultimate reward which comes to those who serve their fellow man."

Health Board Moves To Eliminate Sale Of Ungraded Milk In Lincoln

By JOHN DeCAMP
Star Staff Writer

The City-County Health Board Tuesday passed two resolutions aimed at ending the sale of ungraded milk in Lincoln.

In January the city attorney's office, acting on information from Health Director Dr. George Underwood, filed suits against two Lincoln grocery stores for selling ungraded milk. The sales were alleged to be in violation of the city's Grade A milk ordinance, which prohibits the sale of any "ungraded milk or milk product."

But on Feb. 9 and again on March 3 temporary restraining orders were issued against the City of Lincoln preventing any city official official from enforcing a part to the ordinance against Lincoln Dairy and attorney Merril Reller.

The order restrains the city from enforcing the portion of the ordinance that prohibits 'sale, offer or exposure for sale or possession, with intent to sell any milk or milk product which is ungraded."

Judgment Asked

Lincoln Dairy also filed a suit asking for a judgment declaring that the portion of the city ordinance prohibiting the sale of ungraded milk be declared unconstitutional. Lincoln Dairy contends the ordinance would deprive it of its constitutional right to offer for sale to the public a "pure, wholesome and nutritious food product."

Health Board reports show that since the restraining order was issued "the sale of ungraded milk has again become popular in certain Lincoln grocery stores."

Board members said that their reports indicate the ungraded milk is often selling at more than 10% under graded milk.

No Way to Tell

"There is no way for the purchaser of the ungraded milk to know that the milk is ungraded since the ungraded milk carton looks like the Grade A milk cartons except that the ungraded milk carton does not have 'Grade A' written on the carton," one member said.

The board unanimously approved a motion to "do everything the board can to determine the status of the court injunction against the city . . . and to press for legal action" designed to lift the injunction and enforce the ordinance.

An even stronger motion also received unanimous support. It was that:

"The Lincoln - Lancaster County Board of Health issue a policy statement to the public expressing the health board's concern over the sale of ungraded milk in Lincoln. The source of ungraded milk is not known; the milk receives no inspection and can constitute a serious public health hazard."

The statement urged the public to be "extremely cautious" in the purchase of milk.

Board members said the board is not itself under the injunction and that one of "the strongest sticks the board has in promoting public health is public persuasion as opposed to legal means."

Health Board Budget Sliced

The City - County Health Board Tuesday night approved a $265 000 budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The budget is nearly $14 000 under the previous year's budget of about $279 503. The new budget includes about $20 000 for salary increases.

The lower budget was made possible by the fact that some $38,000 needed for capital expenditures the previous year will not be needed for the forthcoming fiscal year.

Approximately $84 000 of this year's budget will be met by federal funds and fees received for milk inspection.

The remainder will be paid for equally by the city and the county.

Washington (AP) — The Defense Department provided the names Tuesday of 19 men killed in the Viet Nam war, including two men recently stationed at the radar bomb scoring installation at the Hastings, Neb., Naval Ammunition Depot.

The two were among six Air Force personnel killed in an ambush Sunday.

Two of the victims were Airman 1c Jerry D. Olds of Elizabethtown, Ky., and S.Sgt. Bruce E. Mansfield, Hastings, Neb., who left Hastings April 1 for service in Viet Nam.

G.I. In Running For Big Caravan Club Convention

Grand Island (UPI)—Grand Island was announced Tuesday as one of three cities in the running for a convention which could bring 10,000 persons to the city in the summer of 1967.

The announcement was made by Richard Paschke of Michigan, president-elect of the Wally Byam Caravan Club. The club includes some 13,000 who travel the nation's highways in automobiles and modern trailers.

Paschke said the conventioneers would live in their own trailers during the meeting and provide their own lights, water, sewage facilities and air conditioning.

The 10th annual rally of the club is being sought also by cities in Nova Scotia and Canada. Paschke said a recent rally at Laramie, Wyo., resulted in estimated additional business of $2,225,000 for Laramie merchants.

Paschke said the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce made the best and most complete presentation that caravan officials have seen in bidding for the June 28-July 5, 1967, meeting.

Nebraska Fair's Veterans Day Is Moved Ahead

Veterans Day at the Nebraska State Fair will be held Saturday, Sept. 3, this year instead of on the customary Sunday, fair manager Henry Brandt said.

He said the change is to permit the staging of a special veterans program jointly sponsored by the fair, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"The fair's Sunday schedule has become so full that it hasn't been possible to put on any meaningful program in honor of our veterans," Henry Jacoby, Lincoln, veterans group coordinator, said. He added:

"The Saturday schedule, however, is not quite so tight. Therefore by moving Veterans Day ahead we will be able to have some real observance."

DADAIST ARP DIES

Basel, Switzerland (AP) — French painter-sculptor-poet Jean Arp, a creator of modern abstract art, died after a heart attack Tuesday. He was 78.

Born in Strasbourg Sept. 16, 1887, Arp studied in Germany and Paris. He was one of the driving elements of modern art.

In Switzerland, in 1906, he and Paul Klee founded the "Blue Knights," a group of avant-garde painters.

In 1916 Arp became a founder of the Dadaists, a group of artists, poets, painters and sculptors who mostly turned to what became known as surrealism.

His activities with the Dadaists once caused the Swiss government to turn down his application for citizenship on grounds he would soon become a public ward in a mental institution.

G.I. In Running For Big Caravan Club Convention

Grand Island (UPI)—Grand Island was announced Tuesday as one of three cities in the running for a convention which could bring 10,000 persons to the city in the summer of 1967.

The announcement was made by Richard Paschke of Michigan, president-elect of the Wally Byam Caravan Club. The club includes some 13,000 who travel the nation's highways in automobiles and modern trailers.

Paschke said the conventioneers would live in their own trailers during the meeting and provide their own lights, water, sewage facilities and air conditioning.

The 10th annual rally of the club is being sought also by cities in Nova Scotia and Canada. Paschke said a recent rally at Laramie, Wyo., resulted in estimated additional business of $2,225,000 for Laramie merchants.

Paschke said the Grand Island Chamber of Commerce made the best and most complete presentation that caravan officials have seen in bidding for the June 28-July 5, 1967, meeting.

Nebraska Fair's Veterans Day Is Moved Ahead

Veterans Day at the Nebraska State Fair will be held Saturday, Sept. 3, this year instead of on the customary Sunday, fair manager Henry Brandt said.

He said the change is to permit the staging of a special veterans program jointly sponsored by the fair, American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars.

"The fair's Sunday schedule has become so full that it hasn't been possible to put on any meaningful program in honor of our veterans," Henry Jacoby, Lincoln, veterans group coordinator, said. He added:

"The Saturday schedule, however, is not quite so tight. Therefore by moving Veterans Day ahead we will be able to have some real observance."

DADAIST ARP DIES

Basel, Switzerland (AP) — French painter-sculptor-poet Jean Arp, a creator of modern abstract art, died after a heart attack Tuesday. He was 78.

Born in Strasbourg Sept. 16, 1887, Arp studied in Germany and Paris. He was one of the driving elements of modern art.

In Switzerland, in 1906, he and Paul Klee founded the "Blue Knights," a group of avant-garde painters.

In 1916 Arp became a founder of the Dadaists, a group of artists, poets, painters and sculptors who mostly turned to what became known as surrealism.

His activities with the Dadaists once caused the Swiss government to turn down his application for citizenship on grounds he would soon become a public ward in a mental institution.

We make every effort to relieve families of the burden of details.

Three Schools Get Higher Rating; Seven Are Lowered

The State Board of Education Tuesday approved higher accreditation for three public high schools in Nebraska, the reduction of seven and warnings to 28 others.

The action followed the recommendations of the State Accreditation Committee, with the exception of Venango High School.

The committee had recommended the school be reclassified from minor accredited to approved, but the board requested the committee to give consideration to further information received since its June 2 meeting.

The three high schools raised from Class A to Class AA accreditation were Alliance, North Platte and Lexington.

Five schools were dropped from Class A to minor accreditation. They were Bancroft, Bradshaw, Culbertson, Dalton and Stuart.

If a school on warning from the last school year violated two or more approval regulations and also a number of accreditation critera, the school was recommended for classification, the board was told.

Accredited schools violating two or more approval regulations were placed on notice or warning. Failure to correct the deficiences can result in reclassification.

Class A accredited high schools placed on notice were Bruning, Callaway, Dodge and Rushville.

Minor accredited schools placed on notice were Brady, Brock, Boelus, Bushnell, Campbell, Cedar Bluffs, Chambers, Clarks, Clearwater, Craig, Decatur, Diller, Doniphan, Elsie, Eustis, Farnam, Holbrook, McCool Junction, Madrid, Orchard, Pleasanton, Rising City, Sumner and Wilsonville.

Minor accredited schools reclassified to approved were Haigler and Page.

Loss of accreditation does not make a high school ineligible for free high school tuition or other funds but a property owner in an approved district may petition for transfer to an accredited district.

Four non-public high schools were put on notice of possible loss of present accreditation. These were Sacred Heart at Omaha and Spalding Academy, both Class A, and Assumption Academy at Chadron and St. Ludger's at Creighton, now minor accredited.

The board also put 17 high schools on notice they may be reclassified unless qualified guidance personnel are obtained for the 1966-67 school year.

These schools are at Atkinson, Bartlett, Beaver City, Elm Creek, Emerson Hubbard, Exeter, Geneva (North), Hayes Center, Newcastle, Orleans, Pender, Potter, Scribner, South Sioux City, Taylor, Wayne and Wisner.

School Classification Workshops Scheduled

A series of five workshops for the development of guidelines for the voluntary classification of Nebraska's elementary public schools was authorized Tuesday by the State Board of Education.

County superintendents with three representative school board members from each county, as selected by the superintendents, will be invited to participate in the discussion workshops.

This approach was decided upon by the board after proposed rules and regulations for minimum standards for elementary schools ran into heavy opposition, headed by the Nebraska School Improvement Association, at a public hearing April 5.

Workshop findings and recommendations will be summarized by the Education Department for presentation later to the state board.

The board tentatively authorized these dates and places for the workshops and participating counties:

—July 19 at Chadron State College: Brown, Box Butte, Cherry, Dawes, Morrill, Sheridan and Sioux.

—July 18 at Kearney State College: Buffalo, Custer, Dawson, Hall, Keith, Lincoln, Merrick, Nance and Valley.

—July 11 at Midland College in Fremont: Burt, Butler, Colfax, Cuming, Dodge, Platte, Saunders and Washington.

—July 14 at Peru State College: Cass, Gage, Jefferson, and Otoe.

—July 12 at Wayne State College: Antelope, Boone, Adams, Holt, Knox, Madison, Pierce and Stanton.

Nebraska statutes require the state board to establish minimum standards for public elementary schools and the proposed areas had included teacher preparation, curriculum and libraries.

Only persons invited may participate in the discussion sessions, but observers may attend, the board noted.

The board last year established minimum standards for non-public elementary schools.

Morrison Appointees Up For Ratification

Appointments made by Gov. Frank Morrison since the 1965 legislative session adjourned will come up for ratification at the current special session.

Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen, presiding officer, reported to the body Tuesday that the attorney general has advised that confirmation of appointments is a proper and necessary function of the special session althoughnot specifically covered in the governor's proclamation.

Republican gubernatorial nominee Norbert Tiemann of Wausa was an observor at Tuesday's meeting of the Legislature.

Tiemann was introduced to the lawmakers by Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, himself a Democratic gubernatorial candidate in the May primary election.

Burbach invited Tiemann to testify if he wished on bills which at that time were being submitted to a public hearing before the lawmakers.

Tiemann's general election foe, Lt. Gov. Philip Sorensen, presiding officer of the Legislature met briefly with the Republican nominee at the rear of the legislative chamber and shook hands.

Nebraska Dairy Farmers In Unit Asking Milk Price Hike

Denver, Colo. (AP) — Dairy farmers from 13 states, including Nebraska, asked the Department of Agriculture for a 45 cent per 100 pound increase in the price they receive for milk.

Such an increase would amount to one cent a quart.

The request would apply to milk used for fluid milk products, including milk, skim milk and cream, from July 1 through Dec. 31.

Similar hearings will be conducted in St. Louis, Washington and Cleveland before action is taken.

The 13 states involved in the Denver hearing, besides Nebraska, were Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Utah, Idaho, Washington, New Mexico, Texas and Arizona.

Milk dealers took the position that an increase is warranted in some markets, but argued that each market should be considered separately.

D. H. Alan Luke, milk marketing administrator in Denver, described the hearing as an emergency session. He said consideration of a price increase is prompted by evidence of decreasing milk supplies throughout the nation.

A number of witnesses, Luke said, complained that many farmers are giving up dairying. One Colorado farmer said that the farm workers he employs make more from his dairy operation than he does.

School Classification Workshops Scheduled

A series of five workshops for the development of guidelines for the voluntary classification of Nebraska's elementary public schools was authorized Tuesday by the State Board of Education.

—July 19 at Chadron State College: Brown, Box Butte, Cherry, Dawes, Morrill, Sheridan and Sioux.

—July 18 at Kearney State College: Buffalo, Custer, Dawson, Hall, Keith, Lincoln, Merrick, Nance and Valley.

—July 11 at Midland College in Fremont: Burt, Butler, Colfax, Cuming, Dodge, Platte, Saunders and Washington.

—July 14 at Peru State College: Cass, Gage, Jefferson, and Otoe.

Nebraska statutes require the state board to establish minimum standards for public elementary schools and the proposed areas had included teacher preparation, curriculum and libraries.

Only persons invited may participate in the discussion sessions, but observers may attend, the board noted.

The board last year established minimum standards for non-public elementary schools.

Curtis Calls Spending Statement 'Ridiculous'

U S. Sen. Carl T. Curtis and Gov. Frank Morrison continued a senatorial campaign debate of sorts from a distance Tuesday, and the governor asked that his opponent agree to a face-to-face confrontation

Sen Curtis, R-Neb., fired back at Gov. Morrison's statement that reports circulationg say Sen. Curtis plans to spend $500,000 in the general election battle to retain his Senate seat

"That's so ridiculous and unfounded that it can only emanate from frustration," the senator said.

The governor replied that the best way to spike the rumor would be for both candidates to fully disclose their financial plans.

Morrison also reported he has accepted invitations to appear at political meetings at Wayne State College and at Curtis, and he called on Curtis to do likewise so debates could be held.

Full-Fledged Beautification Effort To Start

The State Roads Department will signal the start of full-fledged beautification efforts under the Federal Highway Beautification Act Thursday.

State Engineer John Hossack said the department will open bids on contracts to construct Nebraska's first two rest areas off the Interstate Highway, on U.S. 6-34 east of McCook and on the relocation of U.S. 73-75 north of Nebraska City.

The projects, carrying an estimated total price tag of $262,000, will be financed completely with federal funds.

"From now on, we'll be putting a lot of emphasis on rest areas, scenic easements and other beautification projects," Hossack said.

The two new rest areas will each include four picnic table shelters, one restroom building and an information center. Both will be fully landscaped and lighted at night.

In addition, the McCook rest area will include an observation area overlooking the Republican River Valley and a granite memorial to the late Harry D. Strunk of McCook, noted conservationist.

The memorial will be financed through a statewide fund drive sponsored by the Republican River Conservation Association.

Hossack said the two rest areas, located on property already owned by the state, will be completed this fall.

Curtis Calls Spending Statement 'Ridiculous'

U.S. Sen. Carl T. Curtis and Gov. Frank Morrison continued a senatorial campaign debate of sorts from a distance Tuesday, and the governor asked that his opponent agree to a face-to-face confrontation

Sen. Curtis, R-Neb., fired back at Gov. Morrison's statement that reports circulationg say Sen. Curtis plans to spend $500,000 in the general election battle to retain his Senate seat.

"That's so ridiculous and unfounded that it can only emanate from frustration," the senator said.

The governor replied that the best way to spike the rumor would be for both candidates to fully disclose their financial plans.

Morrison also reported he has accepted invitations to appear at political meetings at Wayne State College and at Curtis, and he called on Curtis to do likewise so debates could be held.

R. Kennedy Gets Warm Reception

Durban, South Africa (UPI) —Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., flew into this English-speaking city Tuesday and received the most enthusiastic welcome of his South African tour. A crowd of 1,500 students at the airport greeted him with cheers and singing in unison, "We love you, Bobby."

Kennedy arrived here from Stellenbosch where he declared he was shocked and saddened by the ambush shooting of Negro James Meredith in Mississippi. The late president's brother was attorney general in 1962 when Meredith became the first Negro to be admitted to the University of Mississippi.

The Durban students overran police barricades and happily mobbed Kennedy and his wife Ethel. A group of students lifted Kennedy onto their shoulders and New York's junior senator made an impromptu speech urging the students to use their education "to help those of your fellow citizens who suffer from discrimination because of race."

His remarks were greeted with wild cheering by whites, Africans and Indians in the crowd.

One Indian shouted, "Your brother was a second Lincoln" and he expressed the hope that Kennedy would someday become president, too.

Kennedy waved and smiled in acknowledgement.

Kennedy later revealed he had been granted permission to visit the banned Nobel Peace Prize winner, ex-chief Albert Luthuli, who now lives under restriction at Stanger, 40 miles north of Durban.

The permission was regarded as a major concession by the South African government and is about as close as the government has come to acknowledging Kennedy's visit.

Brazil Sentences Exiled Communist Chief To 14 Years

Sao Paulo, Brazil (AP)—Luis Carlos Prestes, aging exiled leader of the outlawed Brazilian Communist Party, has been sentenced in absentia to 14 years imprisonment by a military court here.

Prestes was accused, along with 60 others, of "crimes against the national security." His sentence was the stiffest of those handed down at the end of a trial which grew out of a military investigation of an address book seized after the 1964 coup which overthrew President Joao Goulart.

Prestes' present whereabouts are unknown. He was last reported in Moscow.

German Predicts Ties To Romania

Nuernberg, Germany (AP) — Vice Chancellor Erich Mende predicted at the annual congress of his Free Democratic Party here that West Germany will exchange ambassadors with Romania in the fall.

The Bucharest government would be first in the East bloc outside the Soviet Union to have diplomatic relations with Bonn. Official relations are limited now to trade missions.

A TIP FOR TRAVELERS

When you plan your vacation trip, or anytime you travel, it's a good idea to take along a little kit packed with the medicines you normally keep at home. If you rely on certain prescriptions, have them refilled before you leave. Include an antiseptic, a sunburn preparation, something for motion sickness. Everything you need for your miniature medicine chest is available at Gilmour-Danielson. Select your supplies in small, easy-to-pack containers — cross your fingers that you won't need to use them — and then have a wonderful trip!

National Guardsmen Work Hard On Extensive Army Training Tests

Camp Ripley, Minn. (AP) — Nebraska and Iowa National Guardsmen of the 67th Infantry Brigade Mechanized were in the field Tuesday, the second day of extensive Army Training Tests.

They moved out of the cantonment area of Camp Ripley near Little Falls, Minn., Monday and by afternoon were at work on their five-day bivouac. The 67th, commanded by Brig. Gen. William F. Bachman, Omaha, is made up of four battalions of Nebraskans and one of Iowans.

The 67th arrived at Camp Ripley Saturday afternoon and spent the remainder of Saturday and Sunday preparing to move into the field and processing 1,100 Army reservists attached to the brigade for the two-week annual training period.

The Army Training Tests the group is under-going are designed to measure the level of attainment of this brigade in accomplishing Select Reserve Force requirements. The evaluation will continue throughout the two week period of the encampment.

A spokesman for the brigade, reviewing the tests of Monday and Tuesday, commented: "We've come a long way but it's still a hard uphill climb before we'll be satisfied."

He said the brigade is "shooting for perfection, as we're disappointed when we fall short of the standard."

Five of the seven men injured in a traffic accident north of LeMars, Iowa, Saturday, while en route to the camp had either been returned to the camp or were scheduled to report in before the end of Tuesday.

Sgt. Emerson Cassel of H~~a~~stings remains in St. Joseph Hospital in Sioux City pending transfer to a veterans hospital in either Lincoln or Omaha. He suffered arm fractures.

Pfc. Burdett Moulder of Roseland, Neb., who had been taken to the LeMars hospital, was expected to be transferred to the air base dispensary at Sioux City for further convalescence and may be returned to light duty status next week pending further observation.

Ex-Nebraskans Escape Injury In Fatal Crash

Grinnell, Iowa (UPI) — George C. Robinson of Denver, Colo., was killed Monday and another man critically injured in a two-car crash on Interstate 80 six miles southeast of Grinnell.

Robinson was in a car driven by Melbourne Chase, 40, of Denver when it was in collision with one driven by the Rev. Donald L. Hays, 37, who was traveling from McCook, Neb., to his new post as pastor at Pittsburgh, Pa.

Chase was critically hurt, but the Rev. Mr. Hays, his wife and nine-year-old daughter were not hurt.

FORMER coeds chose June weddings

The candlelighted chancel of the First Presbyterian Church was appointed with bouquets of white gladioli and yellow daisies for the marriage of Miss Susan Marlene Whitney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Craig C. Whitney of Winthrop Harbor, Ill., formerly of Lincoln, to Max H. Nall, II, son of Mr. and Mrs. Max Nall of Edgar, Tuesday evening, June 7. Dr. Glover Leitch read the lines of the service at 7:30 o'clock.

Frocks of dotted Swiss over taffeta in the maize tone, sashed in matching velvet, were worn by Miss Connie Whitney of Fayette, Iowa, who was her sister's maid of honor; and the bridesmaids, Miss Toni French, Alliance; Miss Jan Ambrose, Columbus; and Miss Ellen Granata, Omaha. They carried yellow Majestic daisies.

Terry Sprieck of Pilger, served as best man, and the ushers were Kent Gerlash, Walt Case and Bob Saathoff.

The bride selected white silk organza for her wedding gown. The long-sleeved bodice was contoured by a crescent neckline and patterned with jeweled appliques of Chantilly lace, and the lace motif was repeated at the hem of the slender skirt. single rose of organza, dotted with pearls, held her mantilla veil of lace and organza which touched the floor in a whisper train. She carried a white lace-covered Bible ornamented with two yellow orchids.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Nall are June graduates of the University of Nebraska. A member of Kappa Delta sorority, the bride will teach in the Lincoln Schools. Mr. Nall, a member of Chi Phi fraternity, will continue graduate studies at the university, and is a candidate for the State Legislature.

For the wedding of Miss Barbara Jeanne Lawrence, daughter of Mrs. Ralph C. Lawrence and the late Mr. Lawrence, and Alan W. Cole, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Cole of Idaho Springs, Colo., arrangements of white and pink gladioli decorated the altar of Christ Methodist Church, Tuesday evening, June 7. The ceremony was solemnized at 8 o'clock by the Rev. Nye O. Bond.

Miss Cindy Bond, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Carol Jennings, wore long-skirted frocks of chiffon in the aqua shade with lace basques in deeper tones of aqua. Their bouquets were fashioned of Dresden pink roses.

Serving Mr. Cole as best man was David Moss of Leadville, Colo., and seating the guests were Donald Moss and Will Burt, Ft. Collins, Colo., and Robert C. Lawrence.

Given in marriage by her brother, Richard C. Lawrence, the bride appeared in a gown of white peau de soie. Appliques of French lace patterened the front of the sculptured bodice, which was designed with a curved neckline and lantern sleeves of the lace, bowed at each shoulder, and the silk skirt was draped into back fullness and continued into an aisle-wide train. A jeweled rose of silk held to the head her shoulder veil of illusion, and she carried a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

The couple will make their home in Idaho Springs. A June graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University, the bride is a member of Delta Zeta sorority. Mr. Cole is a senior at Colorado State University, Ft. Collins.

Ceremony

Majestic daisies in yellow and white appointed the alter of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in West Point, Sunday afternoon, June 5, for the wedding of Miss Virginia Wimmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Wimmer of West Point, and Dean Kunc, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kunc of Wilber. The 3 o'clock service was solemnized by the Rev. Frederick Niedner, and Miss Eloise Stigge, organist, played the wedding music. The vocalist was Phil Boardman of Oakland.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Carolyn Slama of Omaha, who was frocked in petal yellow silk organza over taffeta with an overbodice of lace. She carried nosegay of daisies.

Allen Husa of Blue Springs served as best man, and the groomsmen were Carl Novak, Wilber, and Ted Sup, Lincoln.

White silk organza over taffeta was chosen by the bride for her colonial gown. Appliques of lace in a floral motif trimmed the fitted basque and bell skirt, and the lace was repeated on the detachable train of organza which extended to chapel length. A jeweled crown held her veil of illusion, and she carried an old-fashioned bouquet of white roses and daisies.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kunc are students at the University of Nebraska, where the bridegroom is a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity.

There are 29 young, attractive and charming reasons to talk about the Lincoln Junior League this morning. The League closed its 1965-66 season with a flourish on Tuesday at the Lincoln Country Club, and, as always the main attraction included the new crop of Junior League Provisionals.

The 1966 Provisionals will have little, if any, free time for the next few weeks. Their 'away - from - home' work begins next Monday.

The group of newcomers to the League include Mrs. Gene Budig (Gretchen Van Bloom), Mrs. Jeffre P. Cheuviont (Margaret Gardner), Mrs. Jack Davis (Ruth Kleinert), Mrs. Richard Endacott (Mary Jan Eckel), Mrs. Donald Erway (Shari Lewis), Mrs. Robert Eyth (Julie Hathaway), Mrs. Gene Gage (Dorrance O'Brien), Mrs. William T. Griffin (Sheila Delaney), Miss Virginia Guenzel (soon to be Mrs. Kile Johnson), Mrs. James Haberlan (Ninette Quelvog), Mrs. Dick Hartsook (Shirley Scott), Mrs. John E. Hicks (Debra Pilling), Mrs. Robert Hinrichs (Elizabeth Robertson), Mrs. Clyde E. Mauk (Jennifer Holman), Mrs. Robert Ireland (Sandra Boyd), Miss Ann Magee, Miss Mary Jeanette Martin, Mrs. J. William Peterson (Gloria Cole), Mrs. Richard Piper (Gari Hathaway), Mrs. Alan Plummer (Virginia Lu Pansing), Mrs. James Pollard (Sally Sharrar), Mrs. Wallace Richardson, (Martha Cheever), Mrs. Thomas Pansing, Jr. (Jennifer Inman), Mrs. William Smith (Linda Nelson), Miss Carol Stoner, Mrs. Cobe Venner (Sharon Anderson), Mrs. Richard Westcott (Janet McClung), Mrs. Charles White (Marilee Schmidt) and Mrs. Charles Wilson (Linda Walt).

There were two other exciting features in connection with the Lincoln Junior League — each of them a $1,000 check.

The League presented a check for $1,000 to the Children's Zoo, and invited Arnott Folsom, who masterminded the idea of the zoo, to accept the contribution. Also in appreciation of Mr. Folsom's work with the Children's Zoo, the Junior League has place a plaque, paying tribute to Mr. Folsom, at the entrance of the zoo.

The second check for $1,000 was presented to the Pre-School for the Visually Handicapped. The presentation was made Tuesday afternoon at the Lincoln Community Center.

Church Wedding

Miss Joan Ellen Skinner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jess Skinner of Wisner, became the bride of Richard E. Adkins, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Adkins of Osmond, at an afternoon ceremony, solemnized Sunday, June 5. The altar of the First Congregational Church at Wisner, was decorated with bouquets of white and pink blossoms for the 2:30 o'clock service, which was read by the Rev. Roy Siewert. Mrs. Harry Pumphrey, organist, played the wedding music and accompanied Miss Carole Peterson of Lincoln, the vocal soloist.

Miss Gail Skinner was her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Janice Kaufmann of St. Edward, and Miss Mary Adkins, Osmond, sister of the bridegroom. Their long-skirted frocks in pastel blue were designed with lace basques and slim skirts of crepe. They carried arrangements of miniature pink carnations and white chrysanthemums.

Serving his brother as best man was Jack Adkins of Osmond, and seating the guests were the bride's brother, Brent Skinner of Wisner; Russell Hahn, Paxton; Roger Voss, North Platte; and Bruce Cheney, Pilger.

The bride's period gown was fashioned of delustered satin and Alencon lace in traditional white. A portrait neckline contoured the fitted bodice of lace, and the satin skirt was draped into controlled fullness at the back and continued into a chapel train, appliqued with the lace. A tiny pillbox cap of lace and satin held her illusion veil, and she carried a cascade of red roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Adkins will reside in Lincoln, where both are graduate students at the University of Nebraska. The bride is a member of Alpha Chi Omega sorority and of Mortar Board honor society.

Parties, Plans For Brides-Elect

Entertaining in prenuptial courtesy to Miss Jean Eno and their son, Robert T. Jett, will be Mr. and Mrs. Dan E. Jett who will be host and hostess at dinner, Thursday evening, at the Black Coach Inn. The dinner will follow the wedding rehearsal at St. Paul Methodist Church, and the guests will include members of the family and bridal party.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle B. Eno, the bride-elect has named her sister, Mrs. Douglas Osterholm of Omaha, as her honor attendant. Mrs. William Baller of Columbia, Mo., and Miss Camille DeVriendt will be the bridesmaids, and Miss Eno's nieces, Miss Kim Osterholm of Omaha, and Miss Dianne Hyde, will be flower girls.

Miss Laura Hammang will light the chancel candles for the 8 o'clock ceremony on Saturday, June 11.

Serving Mr. Jett as best man will be John Abel, and the ushers will be Larry Hathaway and Craig Dodge.

An early summer bride-to-be who was honored on Sunday is Miss Kathryn Jeanne Bentzinger, whose marriage to John Roehrs of York, will be solemnized on Friday, June 10.

The soon-to-be bride was presented a linen shower at a party for which her aunt, Mrs. Orvin Rathe, was hostess to family members and friends at her home. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Dalen Rathe and Mrs. Darwyn Janssen.

Saturday morning, May 28, Miss Bentzinger shared honors with Miss Joyce Meyer at a coffee given by Miss Karen Westerberg and Miss Elaine Thomas. The guests, all Alpha Xi Delta sorority sisters of the two honorees, presented a kitchen shower to the brides-elect.

The betrothal of Miss Meyer and James C. Baer was announced earlier this spring.

Revealing plans for her June wedding is Miss Marjorie White, who will become the bride of Richard L. Peach on Sunday, June 12.

The soon-to-be bride has named Mrs. Kenneth White of Davey as her matron of honor for the wedding, which will take place at an afternoon service at Grace Methodist Church. Her bridesmatron will be Mrs. Donald White, and Miss Claudeen White will be the bridesmaid.

Larry Peach of Layton, Utah, will serve as best man, and the corps of ushers will include Kenneth White, Davey; Dennis Grieser, Donald White and Larry Elam.

ABBY
both need psychiatrist
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a 13-year-old boy who crawls in bed with his mother after his father leaves for work? I can't stand to visit my sister any more when I see what's going on there. I believe it is WRONG and I have said so. She lets this boy wear nail polish and play with her make-up and jewelry. He can't stand to get his hands dirty. It's "too hot" in the summer and "too cold" in the winter, so he stays indoors and plays with his dolls.

He has a 15-year-old brother who is so ashamed of the younger one he is becoming more and more withdrawn from people. Needless to say, the younger boy has no friends. The father is helpless. He once threw all the make-up and dolls out, but the boy cried so hard his mother went out and bought more. This boy gets furious if he sees his father kiss his mother. What is wrong here? I can't believe I am worried for nothing. Or isn't it any of my business?

DISGUSTED AUNT

DEAR DISGUSTED: Your sister and her son are both ready candidates for the psychiatrist's couch. And if the father looks out the window, knowing what is going on, so is he. Appeal to her husband to get help for the whole sick family before it's too late. Yes, it IS your business. Would you walk away if you witnessed a man beating a helpless dog?

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: I have a rather delicate problem. My husband comes from a large family, and I get along very well with all of them, but naturally I like some of his sisters and brothers better than others. My question: When I entertain, isn't it O. K. for me to invite, say a few of my husband's sisters and brothers, and leave out some?

I was told by a relative that I shouldn't have any of them if I don't invite them all. Abby, that would make 16 right there! I don't expect to be invited every place MY sisters and brothers are. I'd like to add that I invite the whole tribe occasionally, so it's not like I'm snubbing anyone.

NO CITY, PLS.

DEAR NO: I don't know who is calling the signals in your family, but he's out of bounds. If you "invite the while tribe occasionally," no one should feel offended. Invite whom you wish.

Monday evening, Miss Sorensen and her fiance shared honors at a courtesy for which Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Carlson and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gage were hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carlson. A highlight of the evening was the "handy-man" shower presented to Mr. Wright.

The soon-to-be bride was honored last Saturday afternoon when Mrs. Fred Duerr was hestess at her home in Seward. The guests, incidentally, included the numerous hostesses who have entertained for the honoree this spring

On Friday, Miss Sorensen was presented a miscellaneous shower at a party given by Miss Cherie Magee and Miss Sherry Rosewell. The guests were invited to the home of Miss Magee.

Mention already has been made of the shower for which Alpha Phi sorority sisters of the bride-elect were entertained at the chapter house by Miss Kay Kersenrock and Miss Mary Lynne Alberding, and entertaining for Miss Sorensen recently at luncheon at the Lincoln Country Club was Mrs. William Hoppe, Jr. A linen shower was presented to the honoree.

Mrs. Kenneth McGinnis, Mrs. John Comstock and Mrs. Eber Tice were hostesses recently at a luncheon at the University Club in courtesy to Miss Sorensen. The guest list included members of the Mothers Club of Mr. Wright's fraternity, Phi Delta Theta.

Also honoring the future bride recently was Mrs. Louis Gogela who was hostess at her home to feminine friends of the bridegroom-elect's mother, Mrs. L. J. Wright. During the informal party, a bridal shower was presented to the honoree.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♥	1 ♠	1 NT	Dble
Pass	Pass	Pass

The bidding:

Opening lead—queen of spades.

It is hard to believe that the choice of whether or not to take a finesse in a part score contract could lead to a swing of more than 2,500 points, but that is what a finesse cost declarer in this dynamite-packed hand.

You may not agree with the bidding, especially North's pass of one notrump doubled, but that's the way it went. West led the queen of spades and South decided to take it with the ace in order to lead the nine of hearts and take a finesse.

This turned out to be a catastrophic decision when East won the heart with the queen and led the king of spades, West being clever enough to drop the jack on it.

As a result of this fine play, East was able to cash his spades as West discarded all his red cards to come down to only the five clubs he had started with.

Dummy was also reduced to five cards as the spades were run, and declarer was forced to discard the ace of diamonds in order to keep four clubs and the ace of hearts in dummy.

East thereupon played a heart to the ace and West took the last four tricks with the A-K-Q-10 of clubs to defeat declarer 1,400 points.

Now let's suppose that declarer had decided to play the hand more conservatively instead of staking his all en the heart finesse.

In that case, after taking the ace of spades, he would have cashed the A-K of hearts, catching the queen, and would thus have made six heart tricks. When he then played the A-K of diamonds, he would have caught the Q-J and also made five diamend tricks.

He would thus have wound up with twelve tricks instead of two, and would have scored a plus of 1,130 points. And that ain't tin, regardless of how you slice it.

Presidential Scholars Hear LBJ

Washington (AP) — President Johnson challendged young Americans Tuesday to apply qualities of national greatness to the adventurous voyage toward democracy "in a world awash with waves of turbulence and change."

Johnson also said that "opinion and protest are the life breath of democracy" and no American, young or old, ever must be denied the right to dissent.

The President spoke to 121 presidential scholars of 1966, named under a program to recognize the brainpower of young people and encourage their intellectual attainment.

(Among them was David Beckmann of Lincoln High School.)

The 121 were selected from hundreds of thousands of graduates of public and private high schools by a commission headed by the president of Stanford University, Dr. J. E. Wallace Sterling.

They assembled on the south lawn of the White House, with parents and friends and a group of distinguished Americans for a ceremony, reception and buffet dinner.

The guests ranged from astronauts to actors, from Nobel Prize winners and poets to a figure skating champion and a professional basketball coach. Mrs. Johnson was there with her two daughters, Lynda and Luci. So was Luci's fiance, Patrick J. Nugent, and the four girls who will be bridesmaids at her wedding Aug. 6.

Johnson told the scholars they have been born into an age that will give them no rest, that they will find no security except the security of opportunity.

Widow Of Valentino, 69, Dies

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Life has ended for scholar, designer and danseuse Natacha Rambova, widow of silent film idol Rudolph Valentino.

Miss Rambova, 69, died at a hospital here Sunday, friends reported Tuesday. She had been under treatment for "dietary complications" for six months, they said.

Her death ended a varied, exciting life that began in Salt Lake City, Utah, in 1897. She was born Winifred Shaunessy.

As a child her parents, Mr. and Mrs Richard Hudnut, took her to Europe, where her education was informal.

She studied ballet, eventually returning to the United States as a premiere danseuse with the Kosloff Imperial Russian Ballet. She met the actor while she was a stage designer for the Russian ballerina Nazimova. They married in 1922.

The attractive couple made headlines after the wedding when Valentino was accused — but exonerated later — of bigamy on grounds his divorce from his first wife, Jean Acker, was not final.

Rival Parties May Unite In Domingo

Santo Domingo (UPI)—Delegates of rival parties in the June 1 presidential elections met Tuesday in Santo Domingo amid speculation a "government of national unity" might be formed.

The election was won by Joaquin Balaguer, candidate of the moderate Reformist Party. Runner-up—and still challenging the election outcome — was Juan Bosch, of the Dominican Revolutionary Party (PRD).

A four-man Bosch delegation visited Balaguer at his residence early Tuesday. It was described by a Balaguer spokesman as a "cordial, courtesy visit." Balaguer, who won in a landslide, offered the PRD participation in his government.

Balaguer said after the Tuesday meeting: "No formal arrangement has been made, but my offer is still firm."

Currently, Bosch's followers are challenging the outcome of the election while their lawyers study charges of fraud.

The election was witnessed by scores of observers, who were almost unanimous that it was a clean and fair election.

CAPT. BAILLIE-STEWART . . . original Lord Haw Haw.

Lord Haw Haw Dies; Broadcast For Nazis

Dublin, Ireland (AP)—Capt. Norman Baillie-Stewart, the original Lord Haw Haw of World War II, collapsed in the street Tuesday and died in a Dublin hospital without regaining consciousness.

The 57-year-old convicted spy and traitor had been living in seclusion in suburban Raheny since his release from Britain's Parkhurst Prison on the Isle of Wight May 10, 1949.

Baillie-Stewart was first arrested in January 1933, when he was serving as an officer in the Seaforth Highlanders. He was imprisoned in the Tower of London until his trial in March 1933 on charges of supplying British military secrets to a German agent between Aug. 1 and Nov. 12, 1932.

He was convicted, cashiered from the army and sentenced to five years' imprisonment. He was released however, in 1937 to attend his father's funeral. The rest of his sentence was commuted.

Baillie-Stewart then left almost immediately for Germany. At his later trial in Britain it was charged that he was the original Lord Haw Haw, broadcasting Nazi propaganda to Britain from a station in Bremen.

The name Lord Haw Haw was invented by the British to describe the affected, pseudo-artistocratic accents of the broadcaster.

Baillie-Stewart was arrested and convicted on charges of high treason in November 1945.

Sorensen, Tiemann Hit As Liberals

A new non-partisan conservative organization called The Independents announced Tuesday it cannot support either nominee for governer.

A spokesman for the group, Dr. Robert Olney of Lincoln, said The Independents feel that both Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorenson, Democrat, and Wausa banker Norbert T. Tiemann, Republican, are "very liberal."

Dr. Olney said the group believes the views of the two candidates "are practically identical."

He said The Independents have agreed to support U.S. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, Second District Congressman Glenn Cunningham of Omaha and Third District Congressman Dave Martin of Kearney in their bids for re-election, First District Congressional candidate Robert V. Denney of Fairbury and Lieutenant Governor candidate John Everroad of Omaha. All are Republicans.

Dr. Olney said The Independents agreed to concentrate on developing candidates for the 1968 elections on the state and national levels who are "the conservative, constitutional type who are interested in fiscal responsibility and not the wild spending that is going on."

Lt. Governor Post 'Should Be Expanded'

John Everroad of Omaha, Republican nominee for lieutenant governor, said Tuesday night that the duties of that office must be changed and expanded to permit him to "go out and sell for the State of Nebraska."

Nebraska must, he said, "cast aside completely our cloak of complacency and strive with all our might for a renaissance to remember as we begin a new era of statehood in 1967."

Everroad noted that Nebraska's children are calling for the state to place greater effort into attracting research facilities, building vocational technical schools and supplying more job opportunities.

"The governor is too busy to do everything," Everroad said, and thus "a central figure must be selected to go out and bring in that industry and work for those research facilities."

Everroad addressed a Republican dinner in Grand Island.

Senator Bowen, Sorensen Going To Washington

Lt. Gov. Philip C. Sorensen and legislative Speaker Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud said Tuesday they will attend a two-day White House conference next week to discuss improved cooperation between state and federal governments.

President Lyndon Johnson summoned legislative leaders from the 50 states for the June 15-16 session.

Hearing Set On Bus Application

The State Railway Commission Tuesday announced that a public hearing on the application of Sam D. Schuler of Falls City to establish a bus route from Falls City to Lincoln has been set for June 17 at Tecumseh.

Schuler, doing business as Southeast Motorways, proposed interconnecting points of Humboldt, Table Rock, Pawnee City, Tecumseh, St. Mary, Sterling, Adams and Bennet.

Thurston Co. Gets Deputy State Sheriff

Gov. Frank Morrison Tuesday announced the hiring of Gilbert Nelson of Rosalie as deputy state sheriff for law enforcement in Thurston County, to deal primarily with Northeast Nebraska Indians.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you. Blind Problems Corrected

Nebraska football fans, who may be concerned over rumors that the new north addition to Memorial Stadium will contain some blind seats, need not worry. University officials point out

Rumors have been circulating that the new addition would contain from 200 to 500 (depending on which rumor you heard) blind seats unless some changes were made in construction plans.

"We don't know that the seats would have been blind," George Miller, head of the NU physical plant, points out in answer to a question. "But, we are making some minor changes to alleviate what might have been a problem.

"Whether we would have had blind seats depends on what is meant by blind," he continues. "It's possible that a small portion of the end zone may have been blocked from view from a few of the seats, but we are making some corrections

"We are not worried about any problems with the seating," he concludes.

Problem Of Gale (Gail) Solved

Carl Evans of Thunder Ridge Golf Club, who stumped us a couple of weeks ago with a reference to a golfer named Gale in a letter published in this column, now clears (?) up the mystery.

"Sorry I'm late, but they don't call me Nutso (among other things) for nothing," Evans writes.

"In four words concerning 'the cute blonde Gail,' I goofed on two of them," he continues. Being color blind and an ex-printer, I overlooked the fact that all non-brunettes were not necessarily blondes (although they do have more fun). This gal is a 'brownie,' For how long she did not say.

"The last humiliating flub was in the spelling of her name. If you were a smidgen older, you might recall Gail Storm, a TV serial artist. No doubt our 'brownie' was named after her.

"To digress, Gail took one lesson from Bunny Richards (Hillcrest Country Club pro), played her first Hillcrest golf with Lou Vermaas, shooting a 49 on the front side and later teaming with Dorothy Schwartzkopf and Betty Marchese, attaining a 48-45.

"Lesson: If you want to fail your gal at golf, do not let her absorb talent from Bunny."

Evans finally gets around to explaining that the Gail to whom he refers is Gail Magers, who tends the Thunder Ridge clubhouse at times.

Only Best Compete

Only top track athletes are able to compete in the NCAA Track and Field Championships to be held June 16-18 at Indiana University because of minumum standards set up by the NCAA which an athlete must meet to be eligible.

Yet even with minimum standards such as a 24-0 broad jump, a 15-0 pole vault and a 56-0 shot put, 183 athletes were entered by the June 1 deadline.

Other minimum standards are :09.6 in the 100, :21.6 in the 220 on a turn and :21.1 on a straightaway, :47.6 in the 440, 1:52.0 in the 880, 4:10.0 in the mile, 14:20.0 three mile, 9:15.0 two mile, :14.4 in 120-yard high hurdles, :53.2 in 440-yard intermediate hurdles, :41.0 in 440 relay, 3:12.0 mile relay, 170-0 hammer throw, 6-6 high jump, 165-0 discus, 225-0 javelin and 48-0 triple jump.

Huskers, Big 8 Rank Well

Nebraska and the Big Eight both show track prowess on the most recent listings of the Track and Field News.

Nebraska ranks in the top seven in six events and the Big Eight has the leading performer in four events.

Husker Charlie Greene is tops nationally in the 100 with a :09.3 and fifth in the 220 at :20.8. Teammate Dave Crook is second in the 440 with :45.9, Peter Scott fifth in the 880 at 1:48.1, the mile relay team third with 3:07.9 and the sprint medley relay team seventh at 3:20.4.

The Big Eight has the top national performance with Greene in the 100, Oklahoma State's John Perry in the 880 with 1.47.7, Oklahoma's Ron Tull in the high jump at a 7-1½ and Kansas in the four-mile relay with 16:36.8

Ohio State's Predicament May Give Strategists Fits

By LOU PAVLOVICH
Collegiate Baseball

Tucson, Ariz. — Okay, you armchair baseball strategists: What would you do if you were in the shoes of coach Marty Karow of Ohio State?

Karow's Buckeyes, who qualified for the annual NCAA College World Series last week, face strong Oklahoma State in the opening round—and the menace of No. 1-ranked USC in the second round, if both the Trojans and Ohio State win opening games.

So . . . should Karow start his No. 1 pitcher, Steve Arlin, against Oklahoma State next Monday night as the tourney opens at Omaha? Or gamble with another hurler to save Arlin for what could become the crucial game of the tournament in the second round?

Most officials close to the college scene believe that the 1966 champion will be either USC or Ohio State. Both have crack pitching staffs, are sound defensively, and can hit the ball well.

But at least three other teams are considered good enough to go all the way. They are Arizona, North Carolina and Oklahoma State.

USC has a 42-7 record. Ohio State is 22-5-1, Arizona 39-13, North Carolina 26-11 and Oklahoma State 18-9. The Texas Longhorns of crafty Bibb Falk could make trouble, but may not have the pitching depth. Texas is 20-7-1.

Texas and Arizona open the Omaha tournament, the 20th College World Series, at 11 a.m. Monday. St. John's, 23-7, plays the yet-to-be-determined winner of the District 1 playoffs, either Colby, Massachusetts, Northeastern or Boston College. The winner of this playoff should be known today to complete the field for the Omaha classic.

North Carolina clashes with the powerful USC club at 6 pm. and Ohio State mixes with Oklahoma State at 8:30 p.m.

Both USC and Ohio State could be in danger in their opening games. North Carolina surprised Florida State—previously ranked No. 2 in the nation — in the District 3 playoffs. The Tar Heels have good pitching and consistent hitting and must be regarded as a top ball club after upsetting Florida State.

Oklahoma State hammered two of college baseball's finest pitchers to get to Omaha. In the District 5 playoff game against St. Louis, the Cowboys walloped All-American John Marcum and another top hurler, John Davsko, to win two straight from the Billikens.

Arlin will be just one of several top college performers who will be getting a close look from a horde of major league scouts. Another youngster who will be the center of attention is Arizona's Pat O'Brien, an undefeated pitcher with a 12-0 record. Arlin is 9-1 and could command a bonus of more than $100,000 if the junior decides to go into pro ball.

USC has several top players: Pitcher John Stewart, 14-1; pitcher Ron Cook, 8-0; pitcher Ray Lamb, 8-5 and pitcher John Herbst, 11-3. An unusually good group of catchers will be on hand at Omaha: Steve Sogge, USC; James Scheschuck, Texas; Tony Sellari, Oklahoma State; John Shaw, North Carolina and Chuck Brinkman, Ohio State. Shortstop Eddie Leon of Arizona is also another collegiate gem who may be picked up by the pros.

HOME RUNS LIFT DODGERS

Chicago Falls In 10th Inning

. . . CUBS COLLIDE

Chicago (AP)—Jim Lefebvre's 12th home run and a routine fly by Al Ferrara which went for a homer when two Cubs collided gave the Los Angeles Dodgers an 8-6 10-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

Left fielder Byron Browne and shortstop Don Kessinger crashed going after Ferrara's soaring fly ball in the 10th after Lefebvre hit one into the right field bleachers. As Ferrara circled the bases for his second home run of the game, the two players lay prone on the field.

Kessinger remained in the game but Carl Wacwick went to left field for Browne, then was replaced by George Altman. The extent of Browne's injuries was not known.

John Roseboro's lead-off homer in the eighth inning for the Dodgers pushed the game into a 6-6 deadlock.

Gerry's Nip Witt's, 2-1, In 12 Innings

Jack Galusha scored from third on an error in the bottom of the 12th to give Gerry's a 2-1 victory over Witt's in an American Legion junior baseball game at Sherman Field Tuesday night.

Galusha reached third as he tripled to the center field wall to lead off the inning. He scored when John Hadwick was unable to handle a ground ball hit by George Hinman.

Gerry's scored the first run of the night in the sixth inning when Bryan Grosscup singled in Mike Delaney to take a 1-0 lead.

Witt's tied the game in the ninth when Dana Stephenson singled, stole second, and was driven in by John McEniry's single.

McEniry turned in a fine pitching performance despite the loss, striking out 12 and allowing no one to reach base until the sixth. He gave up just three hits.

Hinman got the win for Gerry's. He replaced starting hurler Delaney in the top of the tenth after Dick Burke led off with a single.

Gerry's remains undefeated at 4-0 and will face Springfield, Mo., tonight at 8:00.

NBA Adds Two Clubs

Baltimore (AP)—The National Basketball Association voted Tuesday to add two new teams to its 10-city league by the 1968-69 season, and it rejected Cincinnati's request for a transfer from the Eastern Division to the West.

Both actions were announced by NBA President Walter Kennedy after a meeting of the NBA Board of Governors, composed of one representative from each team.

Kennedy said the decision on which two cities should be added to the league will not be made until after a marketing study of playing facilities and other factors, including television coverage.

Little Chief Meetings Set For Tonight

Wednesday's the day when the Little Chiefs find out what's what.

Organizational meetings are scheduled at 25 sites throughout the city, all at 6 p.m.

A Little Chiefs commissioner will be at each site to pass out equipment and to arrange coaches. Officials request that each youngster be accompanied by one or both parents.

Youngsters who failed to register at the proper time will be allowed to do so Wednesday evening, but may have a wait in finding out what team they will be placed on.

Team members will find out who their coaches are and information concerning practices and schedules.

Here are the registration locations.

100-Mile IMCA Auto Race Slated For Fairgrounds

The newly built half-mile Nebraska State Fairground race track will be Christened with a 200-lap new car auto race sanctioned by the International Motor Contest Association July 3.

Al Sweeney and Gene Van Winkle, president and vice-president of National Speedways announced the singing of the 100-mile racing festival in conjunction with Henry Brandt, Secretary-Manager of the Nebraska State Fair.

The program will be the first non-fair appearance of the new model stock cars at the Lincoln Fairgrounds. Van Winkle, who lives in Lincoln, announced that entries for the 200-lapper are already starting to arrive at Henry Brandt's State Fair office.

The last new model program held at the Nebraska State Fairgrounds was in 1907 on the now defunct five-eighths mile track.

Richardson, Pepitone Power Yankee Victory

Cleveland (AP) — Home runs by Bobby Richardson and Joe Pepitone powered the New York Yankees to a 7-2 victory over the Cleveland Indians Tuesday night.

Both homers came in the fifth inning, with Richardson's breaking a 2-2 tie. An infield single by Roger Maris was sandwiched between the two blasts.

The victory, the first for the Yankees in six games with the Indians this season, went to Fritz Peterson 4-4. The 24-year-old left-hander went the distance, giving up five hits and striking out nine.

The Yankees took a 2-0 lead in the third inning on Peterson's single, a double by Richardson and a single by Mickey Mantle.

Jet Owner Denies Signing Hornung

. . . RUMORS CIRCULATE

New York (AP)—The owner of the New York Jets denied Tuesday the American Football League team had signed Paul Hornung, one of the National Football League's great stars, to a 1967 contract.

"There is no truth to it," said Sonny Werblin about a report earlier in the Dallas Times Herald.

"The only time I ever met Hornung was to shake his hand at the Kentucky Derby," the Jets owner said.

The Times Herald, quoting an unidentified AFL spokesman, said Hornung, Green Bay Packers halfback, was paid a bonus of $150,000 to play out his option in 1966 and then sign with the Jets for three years.

The newspaper said Werblin had Hornung's "contract for 1967 in his pocket."

Meanwhile in California, Paul Lowe of the San Diego Chargers, the all-time rushing leader in the AFL, said he had been contacted by the vival NFL, but declined to identify the team.

Reports of inter-league raiding have mushroomed since Pete Gogolak played out his option with the AFL Buffalo Bills this year and then signed with the NFL New York Giants.

The Times Herald also joined the numbers of newspapers and football writers around the country who are speculating on an eventual settlement of the dispute between the leagues.

The Texas newspaper quoted the AFL spokesman as saying the league's demands for ending the rivalry included a common draft in 1966, an AFL-NFL All-Star game in January, 1967; a championship game matching the league's two winners in 1967; and full merger of a 28-team circuit in 1968.

The Times Herald said the NFL is agreeable on all counts except the ultimate merger.

Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner, confirmed that talks had been going on between the leagues' owners this year, but denied an agreement.

Facts Help Bird Hunter

The flight speed of the various Nebraska game birds is a topic for discussion when sportsmen get together.

It is usually brought up when hunters bemoan the fact that they missed their quarry because of forgetting to allow for an adequate lead.

The speed of the bird in flight determines how far ahead the shot must be fired to result in a clean kill, says the Game Commission.

Recent research by Remington Arms has provided additional information on the subject of migratory waterfowl and game bird speeds. However, the exact maximum speeds will probably never be known to any degree of certainty.

This is due to a number of conditions. As long as birds are not molested, flights are slower than when excited by a hunter's gun. Yet even when frightened, both upland and migratory birds of any species cannot be expected to fly at the same rate of speed under similar conditions.

Probably the fastest game bird is the canvasback duck. Its unmolested flight speed has averaged at 94 m.p.h. The canvasback, however, is considered to be only slightly faster than the blue-winged teal, an 89 m.p.h. speedster.

Bird species and their unmolested flight speeds include dove and plover, 34 m.p.h.; quail, prairie chicken, ruffed grouse, jacksnipe, mallard, black duck, spoonbill, pintail, wood duck, widgeon, and gadwall, 41 m.p.h.; swans, 45 m.p.h.; Canada geese and brant, 48 m.p.h; pheasant, 60 m.p.h.; green-winged teal, 79 m.p.h., and redhead, 82 m.p.h.

Blind Problems Corrected

Nebraska football fans, who may be concerned over rumors that the new north addition to Memorial Stadium will contain some blind seats, need not worry, University officials point out

Rumors have been circulating that the new addition would contain from 200 to 500 (depending on which rumor you heard) blind seats unless some changes were made in construction plans.

"We don't know that the seats would have been blind," George Miller, head of the NU physical plant, points out in answer to a question. "But, we are making some minor changes to alleviate what might have been a problem.

"Whether we would have had blind seats depends on what is meant by blind," he continues. "It's possible that a small portion of the end zone may have been blocked from view from a few of the seats, but we are making some corrections

"We are not worried about any problems with the seating," he concludes.

Problem Of Gale (Gail) Solved

Carl Evans of Thunder Ridge Golf Club, who stumped us a couple of weeks ago with a reference to a golfer named Gale in a letter published in this column, now clears (?) up the mystery.

"Sorry I'm late, but they don't call me Nutso (among other things) for nothing," Evans writes.

"In four words concerning 'the cute blonde Gail,' I goofed on two of them," he continues. Being color blind and an ex-printer, I overlooked the fact that all non-brunettes were not necessarily blondes (although they do have more fun). This gal is a 'brownie,' For how long she did not say.

"The last humiliating flub was in the spelling of her name. If you were a smidgen older, you might recall Gail Storm, a TV serial artist. No doubt our 'brownie' was named after her.

"To digress, Gail took one lesson from Bunny Richards (Hillcrest Country Club pro), played her first Hillcrest golf with Lou Vermaas, shooting a 49 on the front side and later teaming with Dorothy Schwartzkopf and Betty Marchese, attaining a 48-45.

"Lesson: If you want to fail your gal at golf, do not let her absorb talent from Bunny."

Evans finally gets around to explaining that the Gail to whom he refers is Gail Magers, who tends the Thunder Ridge clubhouse at times.

Only Best Compete

Only top track athetes are able to compete in the NCAA Track and Field Championships to be held June 16-18 at Indiana University because of minumum standards set up by the NCAA which an athlete must meet to be eligible.

Yet even with minimum standards such as a 24-0 broad jump, a 15-0 pole vault and a 56-0 shot put, 483 athletes were entered by the June 1 deadline.

Other minimum standards are :09.6 in the 100, :21.6 in the 220 on a turn and :21.1 on a straightaway, :47.6 in the 440, 1:52.0 in the 880, 4:10.0 in the mile, 14:20.0 three mile, 9:15.0 two mile, :14.4 in 120-yard high hurdles, :53.2 in 440-yard intermediate hurdles, :41.0 in 440 relay, 3:12.0 mile relay, 170-0 hammer throw, 6-6 high jump, 165-0 discus, 225-0 javelin and 48-0 triple jump.

Huskers, Big 8 Rank Well

Nebraska and the Big Eight both show track prowess on the most recent listings of the Track and Field News.

Nebraska ranks in the top seven in six events and the Big Eight has the leading performer in four events.

Husker Charlie Greene is tops nationally in the 100 with a :09.3 and fifth in the 220 at :20.8. Teammate Dave Crook is second in the 440 with :45.9, Peter Scott fifth in the 880 at 1:48.1, the mile relay team third with 3:07.9 and the sprint medley relay team seventh at 3:20.4.

The Big Eight has the top national performance with Greene in the 100, Oklahoma State's John Perry in the 880 with 1:47.7, Oklahoma's Ron Tull in the high jump ata 7-1½ and Kansas in the four-mile relay with 16:36.8.

Ohio State's Predicament May Give Strategists Fits

By LOU PAVLOVICH
Collegiate Baseball

Tucson, Ariz. — Okay, you armchair baseball strategists: What would you do if you were in the shoes of coach Marty Karow of Ohio State?

Karow's Buckeyes, who qualified for the annual NCAA College World Series last week, face strong Oklahoma State in the opening round—and the menace of No. 1-ranked USC in the second round, if both the Trojans and Ohio State win opening games.

So . . . should Karow start his No. 1 pitcher, Steve Arlin, against Oklahoma State next Monday night as the tourney opens at Omaha? Or gamble with another hurler to save Arlin for what could become the crucial game of the tournament in the second round?

Most officials close to the college scene believe that the 1966 champion will be either USC or Ohio State. Both have crack pitching staffs, are sound defensively, and can hit the ball well.

But at least three other teams are considered good enough to go all the way. They are Arizona, North Carolina and Oklahoma State.

USC has a 42-7 record, Ohio State is 22-5-1, Arizona 39-13, North Carolina 26-11 and Oklahoma State 18-9. The Texas Longhorns of crafty Bibb Falk could make trouble, but may not have the pitching depth. Texas is 20-7-1.

Texas and Arizona open the Omaha tournament, the 20th College World Series, at 11 a.m. Monday. St. John's, 23-7, plays the yet-to-be-determined winner of the District 1 playoffs, either Colby, Massachusetts, Northeastern or Boston College. The winner of this playoff should be known today to complete the field for the Omaha classic.

North Carolina clashes with the powerful USC club at 6 pm. and Ohio State mixes with Oklahoma State at 8:30 p.m.

Both USC and Ohio State could be in danger in their opening games. North Carolina surprised Florida State—previously ranked No. 2 in the nation — in the District 3 playoffs. The Tar Heels have good pitching and consistent hitting and must be regarded as a top ball club after upsetting Florida State.

Oklahoma State hammered two of college baseball's finest pitchers to get to Omaha. In the District 5 playoff game against St. Louis, the Cowboys walloped All-American John Marcum and another top hurler, John Davsko, to win two straight from the Billikens.

Arlin will be just one of several top college performers who will be getting a close look from a horde of major league scouts. Another youngster who will be the center of attention is Arizona's Pat O'Brien, an undefeated pitcher with a 12-0 record. Arlin is 9-1 and could command a bonus of more than $100,000 if the junior decides to go into pro ball.

USC has several top players: Pitcher John Stewart, 14-1; pitcher Ron Cook, 8-0; pitcher Ray Lamb, 8-5 and pitcher John Herbst, 11-3. An unusually good group of catchers will be on hand at Omaha: Steve Sogge, USC; James Scheschuck, Texas; Tony Sellari, Oklahoma State; John Shaw, North Carolina and Chuck Brinkman, Ohio State. Shortstop Eddie Leon of Arizona is also another collegiate gem who may be picked up by the pros.

HOME RUNS LIFT DODGERS

Chicago Falls In 10th Inning

. . . CUBS COLLIDE

Chicago (AP)—Jim Lefebvre's 12th home run and a routine fly by Al Ferrara which went for a homer when two Cubs collided gave the Los Angeles Dodgers an 8-6 10-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs Tuesday.

Left fielder Byron Browne and shortstop Don Kessinger crashed going after Ferrara's soaring fly ball in the 10th after Lefebvre hit one into the right field bleachers. As Ferrara circled the bases for his second home run of the game, the two players lay prone on the field.

Kessinger remained in the game but Carl Wacwick went to left field for Browne, then was replaced by George Altman. The extent of Browne's injuries was not known.

John Roseboro's lead-off homer in the eighth inning for the Dodgers pushed the game into a 6-6 deadlock.

Gerry's Nip Witt's, 2-1, In 12 Innings

Jack Galusha scored from third on an error in the bottom of the 12th to give Gerry's a 2-1 victory over Witt's in an American Legion junior baseball game at Sherman Field Tuesday night.

Galusha reached third as he tripled to the center field wall to lead off the inning. He scored when John Hadwick was unable to handle a ground ball hit by George Hinman.

Gerry's scored the first run of the night in the sixth inning when Bryan Grosscup singled in Mike Delaney to take a 1-0 lead.

Witt's tied the game in the ninth when Dana Stephenson singled, stole second, and was driven in by John McEniry's single.

McEniry turned in a fine pitching performance despite the loss, striking out 12 and allowing no one to reach base until the sixth. He gave up just three hits.

Hinman got the win for Gerry's. He replaced starting hurler Delaney in the top of the tenth after Dick Burke led off with a single.

Gerry's remains undefeated at 4-0 and will face Springfield, Mo., tonight at 8:00.

NBA Adds Two Clubs

Baltimore (AP)—The National Basketball Association voted Tuesday to add two new teams to its 10-city league by the 1968-69 season, and it rejected Cincinnati's request for a transfer from the Eastern Division to the West.

Both actions were announced by NBA President Walter Kennedy after a meeting of the NBA Board of Governors, composed of one representative from each team.

Kennedy said the decision on which two cities should be added to the league will not be made until after a marketing study of playing facilities and other factors, including television coverage,

Jet Owner Denies Signing Hornung

. . . RUMORS CIRCULATE

New York (AP)—The owner of the New York Jets denied Tuesday the American Football League team had signed Paul Hornung, one of the National Football League's great stars, to a 1967 contract.

"There is no truth to it," said Sonny Werblin about a report earlier in the Dallas Times Herald.

"The only time I ever met Hornung was to shake his hand at the Kentucky Derby," the Jets owner said.

The Times Herald, quoting an unidentified AFL spokesman, said Hornung, Green Bay Packers halfback, was paid a bonus of $150,000 to play out his option in 1966 and then sign with the Jets for three years.

The newspaper said Werblin had Hornung's "contract for 1967 in his pocket."

Meanwhile in California, Paul Lowe of the San Diego Chargers, the all-time rushing leader in the AFL, said he had been contacted by the vival NFL, but declined to identify the team.

Reports of inter-league raiding have mushroomed since Pete Gogolak played out his option with the AFL Buffalo Bills this year and then signed with the NFL New York Giants.

The Times Herald also joined the numbers of newspapers and football writers around the country who are speculating on an eventual settlement of the dispute between the leagues.

The Texas newspaper quoted the AFL spokesman as saying the league's demands for ending the rivalry included a common draft in 1966, an AFL-NFL All-Star game in January, 1967; a championship game matching the league's two winners in 1967; and full merger of a 28-team circuit in 1968.

The Times Herald said the NFL is agreeable on all counts except the ultimate merger.

Pete Rozelle, NFL commissioner, confirmed that talks had been going on between the leagues' owners this year, but denied an agreement.

Facts Help Bird Hunter

The flight speed of the various Nebraska game birds is a topic for discussion when sportsmen get together.

It is usually brought up when hunters bemoan the fact that they missed their quarry because of forgetting to allow for an adequate lead.

The speed of the bird in flight determines how far ahead the shot must be fired to result in a clean kill, says the Game Commission.

Recent research by Remington Arms has provided additional information on the subject of migratory waterfowl and game bird speeds. However, the exact maximum speeds will probably never be known to any degree of certainty.

This is due to a number of conditions. As long as birds are not molested, flights are slower than when excited by a hunter's gun. Yet even when frightened, both upland and migratory birds of any species cannot be expected to fly at the same rate of speed under similar conditions.

Probably the fastest game bird is the canvasback duck. Its unmolested flight speed has averaged at 94 m.p.h. The canvasback, however, is considered to be only slightly faster than the blue-winged teal, an 89 m.p.h. speedster.

Bird species and their unmolested flight speeds include dove and plover, 34 m.p.h.; quail, prairie chicken, ruffed grouse, jacksnipe, mallard, black duck, spoonbill, pintail, wood duck, widgeon, and gadwall, 41 m.p.h.; swans, 45 m.p.h.; Canada geese and brant, 48 m.p.h; pheasant, 60 m.p.h.; green-winged teal, 79 m.p.h., and redhead, 82 m.p.h.

Bunning Fires Three-Hit Win

. . . PHILS DUMP CINCY, 5-1

Philadelphia (AP) — Jim Bunning checked Cincinnati on three hits for his eighth straight victory as Philadelphia defeated the Reds, 5-1, Tuesday night.

Bunning, who has lost only once, was aided by Bill White's two-run inside-the-park homer in the first inning and Cookie Rojas' blast into the left field stands in the seventh.

The big right-hander struck out 11 and walked none.

It was the Phils' eighth victory in the last nine games and 11th in the last 13.

Actually, it was two misjudged fly balls by Deron Johnson in the first inning that enabled the Phils to score three runs against loser Milt Pappas, now 4-4.

John Callison got on with a gift double, then came home on Rich Allen's triple against the scoreboard. White followed with a high fly to short left center that Johnson let fall behind him and went all the way around for a homer.

Leo Cardenas got the only Cincinnati run, a homer into the left field bleachers. It was his sixth in the last four games and 10th of the year.

Men's City Golf Meet Fee Hiked

Lincoln golfers will have to pay 50c more to play in the Lincoln Men's City Golf Tournament this summer.

The Lincoln Men's City Golf Association, at its meeting Tuesday night at the Lincoln Country Club, raised the entry fee from $12.50 to $13.00 to help defray expenses for sponsoring the junior boys banquet.

The association took over sponsorship of the junior banquet last summer. With $4.50 of the city entry fee going for the men's banquet and 50c for the junior banquet, this means Lincoln golfers are still able to play in the city tournament for what amounts to a $2 greens fee per day.

This year's tournament will be played Aug. 2-5 with the high handicap golfers playing Hillcrest, Pioneers, Lincoln Country Club and Holmes in succession. The low handicap golfers will play Pioneers, Hillcrest, Holmes and the Lincoln Country Club in that order.

The banquet will be held Aug. 5 at the Lincoln Country Club.

The junior boys tournament will be held July 25-28 going from Lincoln Country Club to Hillcrest Country Club to Holmes to Pioneers. The junior banquet will be held at Hillcrest July 28.

The Men's City Golf Association pays for tickets to the banquet of the winners and runners-up in each flight of the junior tourney.

Sevigne Jamaican Advisor

Nebraska track coach Frank Sevigne has been invited to serve as a consulting coach of the Jamaica track team during its preparation for the British Empire and Commonwealth Games this summer.

Two former Nebraska track stars — Le Roy Keane and Keith Gardner—are active in Jamaica track circles. Three Cornhuskers will be competing for Jamaica during the games this summer—sprinter Lynn Headley, hurdler Ray Harvey and sprinter Clifton Forbes.

Sevigne will take a five-man Husker squad to the NCAA meet in Bloomington, Ind. (University of Indiana) on June 16-17-18, then take a three-man crew to the National AAU meet in New York on June 25-26.

But the first order of business will be the U.S. Track and Field Federation Meet at Terre Haute, Ind., Friday and Saturday.

Competing in the USTFF meet will be Dave Crook (440), Pete Scott (880), Lynn Headley (100) and Dave Kudron (high and intermediate hurdles). Charlie Greene will not compete until the NCAA meet.

Greene, defending 100 champion, will enter the 100 and 220 in the NCAA at Bloomington, along with the other four Huskers.

Greene, Crook and Scott will represent Nebraska in the AAU meet when they bid for spots on the United States team which will meet the Russian team later in the summer.

Houston Outlasts Giants By 10-9

Houston (AP)—Sonny Jackson, Dave Nicholson and John Bateman each collected three hits Tuesday night as Houston outlasted San Francisco, 10-9. It was the Giants' fourth loss in their last five games.

Four of the Astros' runs were unearned, the result of Jim Hart's error in the first inning and Willie McCovey's pair of miscues in the third.

Ernie Ladd Signs 1966 Contract With Houston

Houston (AP) —The Houston Oilers announced Tuesday defensive tackle Ernie Ladd has signed a 1966 contract with the American Football League team.

Ladd, an all-AFL player who became a free agent May 1, 1966, after playing out his option with the San Diego Chargers, was involved in a previous trade between the Oilers and the Chargers, but the trade was nullified early this year by former commissioner Joe Foss.

Horton's Triple Nips Boston, 2-1

Detroit (AP) — Willie Horton tripled in the seventh inning and scored the tie-breaking run on Bill Freehan's sacrifice fly as the Detroit Tigers edged Boston 2-1 Tuesday night behind the three-hit pitching of Mickey Lolich and two relievers.

Lolich, who yielded a second inning homer to Tony Conigliaro, picked up his sixth victory in nine decisions with relief help from Larry Sherry and Johnny Podres.

Lolich tripled leading off the third inning and scored the tying run on Dick McAuliffe's sacrifice fly.

Bunning Fires Three-Hit Win

. . . PHILS DUMP CINCY, 5-1

Philadelphia (AP) — Jim Bunning checked Cincinnati on three hits for his eighth straight victory as Philadelphia defeated the Reds, 5-1, Tuesday night.

Bunning, who has lost only once, was aided by Bill White's two-run inside-the-park homer in the first inning and Cookie Rojas' blast into the left field stands in the seventh.

The big right-hander struck out 14 and walked none.

It was the Phils' eighth victory in the last nine games and 11th in the last 13.

Actually, it was two misjudged fly balls by Deron Johnson in the first inning that enabled the Phils to score three runs against loser Milt Pappas, now 4-4.

John Callison got on with a gift double, then came home on Rich Allen's triple against the scoreboard. White followed with a high fly to short left center that Johnson let fall behind him and went all the way around for a homer.

Leo Cardenas got the only Cincinnati run, a homer into the left field bleachers. It was his sixth in the last four games and 10th of the year.

Orioles Rally For 6-5 Win

Baltimore (AP)—Frank Robinson singled across a run with the bases loaded in the 12th inning, climaxing a three-run rally that gave Baltimore a 6-5 victory over Washington Tuesday night.

The Orioles' rally wiped out a 5-3 lead the Senators had taken in the top of the 12th on Ken McMullen's two-run single.

With one out in the bottom half, Russ Snyder walked and scored on Andy Etchebarren's triple. Pinch Hitter Woodie Held then tied the game with a single.

Men's City Golf Meet Fee Hiked

Lincoln golfers will have to pay 50c more to play in the Lincoln Men's City Golf Tournament this summer.

The Lincoln Men's City Golf Association, at its meeting Tuesday night at the Lincoln Country Club, raised the entry fee from $12.50 to $13.00 to help defray expenses for sponsoring the junior boys banquet.

The association took over sponsorship of the junior banquet last summer. With $4.50 of the city entry fee going for the men's banquet and 50c for the junior banquet, this means Lincoln golfers are still able to play in the city tournament for what amounts to a $2 greens fee per day.

This year's tournament will be played Aug. 2-5 with the high handicap golfers playing Hillcrest, Pioneers, Lincoln Country Club and Holmes in succession. The low handicap golfers will play Pioneers, Hillcrest, Holmes and the Lincoln Country Club in that order.

The banquet will be held Aug. 5 at the Lincoln Country Club.

The junior boys tournament will be held July 25-28 going from Lincoln Country Club to Hillcest Country Club to Holmes to Pioneers. The junior banquet will be held at Hillcrest July 28.

The Men's City Golf Association pays for tickets to the banquet of the winners and runners-up in each flight of the junior tourney.

Sevigne Jamaican Advisor

Nebraska track coach Frank Sevigne has been invited to serve as a consulting coach of the Jamaica track team during its preparation for the British Empire and Commonwealth Games this summer.

Two former Nebraska track stars — Le Roy Keane and Keith Gardner—are active in Jamaica track circles. Three Cornhuskers will be competing for Jamaica during the games this summer—sprinter Lynn Headley, hurdler Ray Harvey and sprinter Clifton Forbes.

Sevigne will take a five-man Husker squad to the NCAA meet in Bloomington, Ind. (University of Indiana) on June 16-17-18, then take a three-man crew to the National AAU meet in New York on June 25-26.

But the first order of business will be the U.S. Track and Field Federation Meet at Terre Haute, Ind., Friday and Saturday.

Competing in the USTFF meet will be Dave Crook (440) Pete Scott (880), Lynn Headley (100) and Dave Kudron (high and intermediate hurdles). Charlie Greene will not compete until the NCAA meet.

Greene, defending 100 champion, will enter the 100 and 220 in the NCAA at Bloomington, along with the other four Huskers.

Greene, Crook and Scott will represent Nebraska in the AAU meet when they bid for spots on the United States team which will meet the Russian team later in the summer.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Braves after a seven-game losing streak.

Atlanta spotted the Mets five runs in the first three innings before roaring from behind in the fifth.

Houston Outlasts Giants By 10-9

Houston (AP)—Sonny Jackson, Dave Nicholson and John Bateman each collected three hits Tuesday night as Houston outlasted San Francisco, 10-9. It was the Giants' fourth loss in their last five games.

Four of the Astros' runs were unearned, the result of Jim Hart's error in the first inning and Willie McCovey's pair of miscues in the third.

Ernie Ladd Signs 1966 Contract With Houston

Houston (AP) —The Houston Oilers announced Tuesday defensive tackle Ernie Ladd has signed a 1966 contract with the American Football League team.

Ladd, an all-AFL player who became a free agent May 1, 1966, after playing out his option with the San Diego Chargers, was involved in a previous trade between the Oilers and the Chargers, but the trade was nullified early this year by former commissioner Joe Foss.

Horton's Triple Nips Boston, 2-1

Detroit (AP) — Willie Horton tripled in the seventh inning and scored the tie-breaking run on Bill Freehan's sacrifice fly as the Detroit Tigers edged Boston 2-1 Tuesday night behind the three-hit pitching of Mickey Lolich and two relievers.

Lolich, who yielded a second inning homer to Tony Conigliaro, picked up his sixth victory in nine decisions with relief help from Larry Sherry and Johnny Podres.

Lolich tripled leading off the third inning and scored the tying run on Dick McAuliffe's sacrifice fly.

Red Jess Takes Feature

. . . HANORA, ANGUAR RAIND COMBINE FOR AK-SAR-BEN DOUBLE

Omaha — Red Jess with Tony Trujillo aboard, captured the featured eighth race at Ak-Sar-Ben Track here Tuesday.

Red Jess covered the mile and 70 yards in 1:43 4/5, returning $7.80, $4.00 and $2.80.

Hanora was one of three individual race winners to return over $25.00 Tuesday.

Earlier Omaha Trip Possible For Kauai King

Omaha (AP)—There is a possibility that Omahans may get a look at Kauai King, the Derby and Preakness winner, sooner than they had expected.

Owner Mike Ford said Tuesday the three-year-old horse will be shipped to Chicago Thursday. If the colt is withheld from the Arlington Classic June 25, Ford and the horse could come to Omaha anytime after June 18.

That is the date when weights are posted for the Classic. Ford said "if they put a ton on our colt, we'd be happy to come to Omaha ahead of the Classic. But if the weight assigned is favorable we wouldn't come to Omaha until after the classic."

Red Jess Takes Feature

. . . HANORA, ANGUAR RAIND COMBINE FOR AK-SAR-BEN DOUBLE

Omaha — Red Jess with Tony Trujillo aboard, captured the featured eighth race at Ak-Sar-Ben Track here Tuesday.

Red Jess covered the mile and 70 yards in 1:43 4/5, returning $7.80, $4.00 and $2.80.

Hanora, winner of the first race, hooked up with Anguar Raind in the second for a $102.80 daily double. Their numbers were 4 and 9 respectively.

Hanora was one of three individual race winners to return over $25.00 Tuesday.

Earlier Omaha Trip Possible For Kauai King

Omaha (AP)—There is a possibility that Omahans may get a look at Kauai King, the Derby and Preakness winner, sooner than they had expected.

Owner Mike Ford said Tuesday the three-year-old horse will be shipped to Chicago Thursday. If the colt is withheld from the Arlington Classic June 25, Ford and the horse could come to Omaha anytime after June 18.

That is the date when weights are posted for the Classic. Ford said "if they put a ton on our colt, we'd be happy to come to Omaha ahead of the Classic. But if the weight assigned is favorable we wouldn't come to Omaha until after the classic."

GT9 Shroud Problem Due To Ground Error

Meanwhile, a launch crew erected a Titan 2 rocket for the Gemini 10 astronauts.

Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan underwent a physical examination to start an intensive 11-day period of post-flight analysis. In the afternoon they reviewed the launching phase of their often troublesome three-day flight which ended Monday with a near-perfect landing in the Atlantic Ocean.

Installed Wrongly

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that a thorough study of the shroud problem, combined with pictures returned to earth by Stafford and Cernan, showed "written procedures used by technicians at Cape Kennedy to ready the ATDA (target satellite) for flight were insufficiently detailed to insure proper installation of lanyards attached to the spacecraft separation mechanism."

As a result, one end of each of four lanyards was not secured and the shroud was unable to separate as planned and prevented the astronauts from docking with the target.

Instead of connecting the arm - like lanyards, technicians merely taped them in place.

News Conference

The astronauts will fly to the manned spacecraft center, Houston, Tex., Friday for eight more days of de-briefings. They are to hold a news conference there June 17.

Their launching pad was cleaned up Tuesday and crews from the Air Force and the Martin Co. erected a Titan 2 rocket to hoist the Gemini 10 pilots, John W. Young and Michael Collins.

Young and Collins are scheduled to blast into space July 18 on a three-day flight during which Collins is to take a 50-minute space walk. During the mission, they are to hook up with one Agena satellite and use its propulsion system to fly up to the Agena satellite discarded in space by Gemini 8.

OGO 3 In Position For Solar Studies

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — OGO 3—a fearsome-looking satellite bearing more experiments than any previous U.S. scientific spacecraft — orbited the earth "in perfect condition" its first day in space Tuesday, ready to unravel mysteries of the sun's relations to this planet.

Sensors aboard the 1,135-pound OGO—for orbiting geophysical observatory — found the sun and earth's horizon Tuesday and locked the bug-like craft in position so its bundle of experiments can be turned on Friday.

The satellite may alert space officials when solar flares from the sun make it too hazardous to launch astronauts to the moon. Eventually, the OGO series of satellites also could enable scientists to predict when farmers will have "fat and lean" growing years.

OGO blasted off Monday as the payload of an Atlas-Agena rocket. In a demonstration of precision rocketry, the booster propelled the heavy satellite into a long, looping orbit ranging from 170 to 75,768 miles above the earth.

The space agency aimed for an orbit ranging from 170 to 76,000 miles high.

OGO takes two days to make one revolution of the earth, compared to 90 minutes for each Gemini 9 orbit.

A space agency spokesman Tuesday said telemetry signals from the satellite "indicates it is in perfect condition."

OGO—measuring 54 feet from nose to tail with a solar-panel wingspan of 20 feet — totes 21 experiments, more than any scientific satellite yet launched. It is built to probe things like the solar wind, solar flares, magnetic field disturbances, radiation in space and variations in atmospheric density.

THREE BEAGLES AND THREE IDEAS

Three of President Johnson's beagles had different ideas about being led to Air Force One for their return trip to Washington with President and Mrs. Johnson. The scene was a San Antonio airport. The beagles were going three separate ways as they were led across the runway by a burdened Secret Service agent. The President returned safely to Washington.

Governor Seeking Aid For Drought Hit Area

Gov. Frank Morrison recommended to the Secretary of Agriculture Tuesday that seven southeast Nebraska counties be declared drought disaster areas.

The State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service had recommended the counties be declared disaster areas.

Such designations would permit farmers in the counties to hay and graze diverted and conservation reserve acreage. He said Gage County may also apply for the disaster designation.

He said some portions of the state received "life saving" rains last weekend, but most of the state continues to be "extremely dry."

The governor said the disaster program, if approved for the counties, would be administered by local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service committees.

The committees would set the price per acre of the haying and grazing in keeping with the value of the crop presently on the land, if any, he said.

Surveyor Sends 1,048 Pictures

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Its camera purring peacefully in the shade of a two-foot-square radio antenna, Surveyor 1 radioed a record 1,048 pictures from the moon Tuesday despite the 250-degree heat of lunar noon.

Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, commanding the 10-foot-tall spacecraft through its Goldstone, Calif., station, had feared the heat might melt the camera's electronics, but the antenna's shadow kept it safe from the sun directly overhead.

Bhutan Will Ask U.N. Membership

Calcutta, India (AP)—The Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan, 700,000 people on 18,000 square miles, will strive for United Nations membership, says Dasho Wangchuk, deputy commander-in-chief and brother of King Wangchuk.

India handles Bhutan's foreign affairs.

Teamsters Rebellion Doesn't Worry Hoffa

Washington (AP)—James Hoffa isn't outwardly concerned with a reported major rebellion in his Teamsters Union to his plan to name a close associate to succeed him as president of the nation's largest labor organization should he go to jail.

Hoffa confirmed Tuesday he will recommend at the Teamsters Union's July 4 convention in Miami Beach, Fla., that the post of executive vice president be created and said he will support an old Detroit friend, Frank Fitzsimmons, for the post.

Hoffa, facing 13 years in prison for jury tampering and mail fraud, reportedly is planning to install Fitzsimmons with the apparent understanding that he would hold down the job only until Hoffa got out of jail if his court appeals fail.

A reliable source reported, however, that Harold Gibbons will lead a fight against Fitzsimmons at the convention.

Gibbons, Hoffa's executive assistant until they fell out in 1963, reportedly reached his decision after a series of secret meetings with top teamster officials across the country.

Hoffa didn't appear to be concerned over Gibbons' decision to run against Fitzsimmons.

Hoffa, 53, is considered a cinch for election to a third 5-year term even though he faces the prison sentence.

Gibbons and Fitzsimmons are among 13 Teamsters vice presidents who, along with Hoffa and Secretary-Treasurer John F. English, make up the executive board of the 1.7-million member union.

GT9 Shroud Problem Due To Ground Error

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — The Gemini 9 astronauts discussed their flight with experts Tuesday while the Space Agency determined that a procedural error on the ground caused the shroud problem on their target satellite.

Meanwhile, a launch crew erected a Titan 2 rocket for the Gemini 10 astronauts.

Astronauts Thomas P. Stafford and Eugene A. Cernan underwent a physical examination to start an intensive 11-day period of post-flight analysis. In the afternoon they reviewed the launching phase of their often troublesome three-day flight which ended Monday with a near-perfect landing in the Atlantic Ocean.

Installed Wrongly

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that a thorough study of the shroud problem, combined with pictures returned to earth by Stafford and Cernan, showed "written procedures used by technicians at Cape Kennedy to ready the ATDA (target satellite) for flight were insufficiently detailed to insure proper installation of lanyards attached to the spacecraft separation mechanism."

As a result, one end of each of four lanyards was not secured and the shroud was unable to separate as planned and prevented the astronauts from docking with the target.

Instead of connecting the arm - like lanyards, technicians merely taped them in place.

News Conference

The astronauts will fly to the manned spacecraft center, Houston, Tex., Friday for eight more days of de-briefings. They are to hold a news conference there June 17.

Their launching pad was cleaned up Tuesday and crews from the Air Force and the Martin Co. erected a Titan 2 rocket to hoist the Gemini 10 pilots, John W. Young and Michael Collins.

Young and Collins are scheduled to blast into space July 18 on a three-day flight during which Collins is to take a 50-minute space walk. During the mission, they are to hook up with one Agena satellite and use its propulsion system to fly up to the Agena satellite discarded in space by Gemini 8.

OGO 3 In Position For Solar Studies

Cape Kennedy, Fla. (AP) — OGO 3—a fearsome-looking satellite bearing more experiments than any previous U.S. scientific spacecraft — orbited the earth "in perfect condition" its first day in space Tuesday, ready to unravel mysteries of the sun's relations to this planet.

Sensors aboard the 1,135-pound OGO—for orbiting geophysical observatory — found the sun and earth's horizon Tuesday and locked the bug-like craft in position so its bundle of experiments can be turned on Friday.

The satellite may alert space officials when solar flares from the sun make it too hazardous to launch astronauts to the moon. Eventually, the OGO series of satellites also could enable scientists to predict when farmers will have "fat and lean" growing years.

OGO blasted off Monday as the payload of an Atlas-Agena rocket. In a demonstration of precision rocketry, the booster propelled the heavy satellite into a long, looping orbit ranging from 170 to 75,768 miles above the earth.

The space agency aimed for an orbit ranging from 170 to 76,000 miles high.

OGO takes two days to make one revolution of the earth, compared to 90 minutes for each Gemini 9 orbit.

A space agency spokesman Tuesday said telemetry signals from the satellite "indicates it is in perfect condition."

OGO—measuring 54 feet from nose to tail with a solar-panel wingspan of 20 feet — totes 21 experiments, more than any scientific satellite yet launched. It is built to probe things like the solar wind, solar flares, magnetic field disturbances, radiation in space and variations in atmospheric density.

THREE BEAGLES AND THREE IDEAS

Three of President Johnson's beagles had different ideas about being led to Air Force One for their return trip to Washington with President and Mrs. Johnson. The scene was a San Antonio airport. The beagles were going three separate ways as they were led across the runway by a burdened Secret Service agent. The President returned safely to Washington.

Governor Seeking Aid For Drought Hit Area

Gov. Frank Morrison recommended to the Secretary of Agriculture Tuesday that seven southeast Nebraska counties be declared drought disaster areas.

The State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service had recommended the counties be declared disaster areas.

Such designations would permit farmers in the counties to hay and graze diverted and conservation reserve acreage. He said Gage County may also apply for the disaster designation.

He said some portions of the state received "life saving" rains last weekend, but most of the state continues to be "extremely dry."

The governor said the disaster program, if approved for the counties, would be administered by local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service committees.

The committees would set the price per acre of the haying and grazing in keeping with the value of the crop presently on the land, if any, he said.

Surveyor Sends 1,048 Pictures

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — Its camera purring peacefully in the shade of a two-foot-square radio antenna, Surveyor 1 radioed a record 1,048 pictures from the moon Tuesday despite the 250-degree heat of lunar noon.

Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory, commanding the 10-foot-tall spacecraft through its Goldstone, Calif., station, had feared the heat might melt the camera's electronics, but the antenna's shadow kept it safe from the sun directly overhead.

Bhutan Will Ask U.N. Membership

Calcutta, India (AP)—The Himalayan kingdom of Bhutan, 700,000 people on 18,000 square miles, will strive for United Nations membership, says Dasho Wangchuk, deputy commander-in-chief and brother of King Wangchuk.

India handles Bhutan's foreign affairs.

Teamsters Rebellion Doesn't Worry Hoffa

Washington (AP)—James Hoffa isn't outwardly concerned with a reported major rebellion in his Teamsters Union to his plan to name a close associate to succeed him as president of the nation's largest labor organization should he go to jail.

Hoffa confirmed Tuesday he will recommend at the Teamsters Union's July 4 convention in Miami Beach, Fla., that the post of executive vice president be created and said he will support an old Detroit friend, Frank Fitzsimmons, for the post.

Hoffa, facing 13 years in prison for jury tampering and mail fraud, reportedly is planning to install Fitzsimmons with the apparent understanding that he would hold down the job only until Hoffa got out of jail if his court appeals fail.

A reliable source reported, however, that Harold Gibbons will lead a fight against Fitzsimmons at the convention.

Gibbons, Hoffa's executive assistant until they fell out in 1963, reportedly reached his decision after a series of secret meetings with top teamster officials across the country.

Hoffa didn't appear to be concerned over Gibbons' decision to run against Fitzsimmons.

Hoffa, 53, is considered a cinch for election to a third 5-year term even though he faces the prison sentence.

Gibbons and Fitzsimmons are among 13 Teamsters vice presidents who, along with Hoffa and Secretary-Treasurer John F. English, make up the executive board of the 1.7-million member union.

Stock Mart Nears Its May 17 Low

New York (AP) — The stock market went through another dull decline Tuesday nearing its low of May 17. Trading was moderate.

Volume was 5.05 million shares compared with 4.27 million Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 4.35 to 877.33. Analysts noted this was approaching the recent closing low of 864.14—a level which technicians feel must be "tested" thoroughly before a summer rally can get under way.

At its lowest level Tuesday, the Dow was off 7.41, so the closing figure represented recovery. Some credit for this improvement was given to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who stated that the rise in unemployment to 4% has killed the prospect that taxes might be increased to combat inflation.

Of 1,371 issues traded, losers outnumbered gains by 832 to 271. New lows for the year totaled 133 and there were only two new highs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 2.1 to 315.8 with industrials off 2.9, rails off 2.0 and utilities off .3 to a new low for the year.

Once again the glamor stocks in color television, airlines, electronics, aerospace, photography and office equipment showed the sharpest losses, since they were the biggest gainers in the bullish phase of the market earlier this year.

Thirteen of the 15 most active stocks fell; U.S. Gypsum rose ⅛ and Wagner Electric was unchanged.

Magnavox was the most active stock, off 1⅝ at 37⅝ on 121,000 shares.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.71 million shares compared with 1.33 million Monday.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Unorthodox Schemes Ignore Authentic Nature Of Money

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Rukeyser

This proposal recalls the recommendation made during the depression of the 1930's by the Social Credit Party in Alberta, Canada that the government drop paper money from a plane all over the land.

Such schemes overlook the authentic nature of money.

Good money (and credit) is really a receipt for goods and services produced, and is a mechanism whereby specialized producers keep one another gainfully and productively occupied by interchanging among themselves the products of their hours of labor.

Good money is created in tempo with actual production.

On the other hand, bad money is arbitrarily created without relation to production. When the supply of circulating media (money and credit) increases faster than the supply of goods (and services), then inflation results. Inflation is a money disease, a symptom of which is a tendency of prices and the cost of living to skyrocket.

The guaranteed annual income artificially decreed by government fiat goes beyond the Marxian formula of paying "each according to his need" while each is expected to contribute according to his ability. If there were a national guaranteed annual income for every one on a level basis, then in terms of purchasing power those in rural areas where rent and food may be cheaper than in urban centers would be relatively overpaid as compared with their city brethren. But, if pay is to be unrelated to productivity, then perhaps the sky would be the limit.

Standard of Value

Of course, money is not only a medium of exchange, but it is also a standard of value. It is a measure which enables provident persons to spend less than they earn and conserve a portion as seed corn for the future. If money and income become mere fiat items, then the use of money as a store of value for the future would be vitiated.

Early in the century, the late Frank A. Vanderlip, then president of what is now the First National Bank of New York, complained about the "economic illiteracy" of the people. Since that time, education, particularly higher education, has been more widely diffused, but there is still — in H. G. Wells's phrase —"a race between education and catastrophe."

It would be a sign of decadence indeed if political and academic demagogues in an attempt to achieve popularity by exploiting ignorance set up policies which would impair the value of money and the high productivity of the American economic system, on which our superior living standards depend.

In the New York newspaper strike, union sources continuously referred to the aim of "job security." However, "security" cannot be achieved artificially by a contract or a statute. In the competitive world, enterprises survive when voluntary customers are able and willing to buy the proffered product. There is no "job security" in enterprises that wither and fade away. At the collective bargaining table, each side should meaningful until ratified by the customer.

Adjust to Costs

Apparently the fire and casualty companies are at long last learning how to live and survive with high and inflated prevailing costs. For a while there was a time lag when regulatory commissions delayed in upping premium rates to meet rising replacement costs of claims resulting from fire and casualty losses. A statistical survey discloses that this year the fire and casualty companies are showing improvement in underwriting results.

The gains are ascribed to economies through the use of electronic equipment, the reduction of agents' selling commissions in some territories, and the trend toward decentralization of operations, which enables management to improve controls over the quality of risks accepted.

The trade also feels that in the past year and a half, state regulatory authorities have shown greater sensitivity to the need for rate increases.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries with stamped self-addressed envelope concerning their financial problems in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Rites Held For Lyman Hanson

Wahoo — Funeral services were held here Tuesday at the First Presbyterian Church for Lyman R. Hanson, 68, longtime Wahoo resident and former chairman of the Saunders County Board of Supervisors.

He was a past president of the State Association of County Supervisors.

Surviving are his wife, Glayds; daughter, Mrs. Barbara Kling; a son, Lyman R. Jr. of Flowertown, Pa.; and 10 grandchildren.

Observers Wanted

La Paz, Bolivia (AP) — The military junta asked the Organization of American States to send observers to the July 3 presidential election.

Sen. Curtis Hits Federal Aid Programs

Omaha (AP) — Insurance men were told by Sen. Carl T. Curtis that the government move into insurance programs with programs like Medicare and Denticare will hurt their business.

Curtis said government cannot give all things to all people unless it takes something from other citizens.

"Here in Nebraska, between $6,000 and $7,000 is being spent on enrollees in a job training program, while a taxpayer is allowed only a $600 deduction for supporting and educating a child of his own," the senator said.

Curtis attributed the increase in the cost of living to "unrestrained federal spending during a war," and added "the fact that much of this spending has been wasteful makes it absolutely appaling."

He spoke at an awards meeting of the Omaha Association of Life Underwriters.

Stock Mart Nears Its May 17 Low

New York (AP) — The stock market went through another dull decline Tuesday nearing its low of May 17. Trading was moderate.

Volume was 5.05 million shares compared with 4.27 million Monday.

The Dow Jones industrial average fell 4.35 to 877.33. Analysts noted this was approaching the recent closing low of 864.14—a level which technicians feel must be "tested" thoroughly before a summer rally can get under way.

At its lowest level Tuesday, the Dow was off 7.41, so the closing figure represented recovery. Some credit for this improvement was given to Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who stated that the rise in unemployment to 4% has killed the prospect that taxes might be increased to combat inflation.

Of 1,371 issues traded, losers outnumbered gains by 832 to 271. New lows for the year totaled 133 and there were only two new highs.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 2.1 to 315.8 with industrials off 2.9, rails off 2.0 and utilities off .3 to a new low for the year.

Once again the glamor stocks in color television, airlines, electronics, aerospace, photography and office equipment showed the sharpest losses, since they were the biggest gainers in the bullish phase of the market earlier this year.

Thirteen of the 15 most active stocks fell; U.S. Gypsum rose ⅛ and Wagner Electric was unchanged.

Magnavox was the most active stock, off 1⅜ at 37⅜ on 121,000 shares.

Prices declined on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 1.71 million shares compared with 1.33 million Monday.

EVERYBODY'S MONEY:

Unorthodox Schemes Ignore Authentic Nature Of Money

By Merryle S. Rukeyser

Rukeyser

This proposal recalls the recommendation made during the depression of the 1930's by the Social Credit Party in Alberta, Canada that the government drop paper money from a plane all over the land.

Such schemes overlook the authentic nature of money.

Good money (and credit) is really a receipt for goods and services produced, and is a mechanism whereby specialized producers keep one another gainfully and productively occupied by interchanging among themselves the products of their hours of labor.

Good money is created in tempo with actual production.

On the other hand, bad money is arbitrarily created without relation to production. When the supply of circulating media (money and credit) increases faster than the supply of goods (and services), then inflation results. Inflation is a money disease, a symptom of which is a tendency of prices and the cost of living to skyrocket.

The guaranteed annual income artificially decreed by government fiat goes beyond the Marxian formula of paying "each according to his need" while each is expected to contribute according to his ability. If there were a national guaranteed annual income for every one on a level basis, then in terms of purchasing power those in rural areas where rent and food may be cheaper than in urban centers would be relatively overpaid as compared with their city brethren. But, if pay is to be unrelated to productivity, then perhaps the sky would be the limit.

Standard of Value

Of course, money is not only a medium of exchange, but it is also a standard of value. It is a measure which enables provident persons to spend less than they earn and conserve a portion as seed corn for the future. If money and income become mere fiat items, then the use of money as a store of value for the future would be vitiated.

Early in the century, the late Frank A. Vanderlip, then president of what is now the First National Bank of New York, complained about the "economic illiteracy" of the people. Since that time, education, particularly higher education, has been more widely diffused, but there is still — in H. G. Wells's phrase —"a race between education and catastrophe."

It would be a sign of decadence indeed if political and academic demagogues in an attempt to achieve popularity by exploiting ignorance set up policies which would impair the value of money and the high productivity of the American economic system, on which our superior living standards depend.

In the New York newspaper strike, union sources continuously referred to the aim of "job security." However, "security" cannot be achieved artificially by a contract or a statute. In the competitive world, enterprises survive when voluntary customers are able and willing to buy the proffered product. There is no "job security" in enterprises that wither and fade away. At the collective bargaining table, each side should meaningful until ratified by the customer.

Adjust to Costs

Apparently the fire and casualty companies are at long last learning how to live and survive with high and inflated prevailing costs. For a while there was a time lag when regulatory commissions delayed in upping premium rates to meet rising replacement costs of claims resulting from fire and casualty losses. A statistical survey discloses that this year the fire and casualty companies are showing improvement in underwriting results.

The gains are ascribed to economies through the use of electronic equipment, the reduction of agents' selling commissions in some territories, and the trend toward decentralization of operations, which enables management to improve controls over the quality of risks accepted.

The trade also feels that in the past year and a half, state regulatory authorities have shown greater sensitivity to the need for rate increases.

(Mr. Rukeyser will be pleased to receive inquiries with stamped self-addressed envelope concerning their financial problems in care of The Lincoln Star. Questions of general interest will be answered in the column. Others, to the extent time permits, will be handled by mail.)

Sen. Curtis Hits Federal Aid Programs

Omaha (AP) — Insurance men were told by Sen. Carl T. Curtis that the government move into insurance programs with programs like Medicare and Denticare will hurt their business.

Curtis said government cannot give all things to all people unless it takes something from other citizens.

"Here in Nebraska, between $6,000 and $7,000 is being spent on enrollees in a job training program, while a taxpayer is allowed only a $600 deduction for supporting and educating a child of his own," the senator said.

Curtis attributed the increase in the cost of living to "unrestrained federal spending during a war," and added "the fact that much of this spending has been wasteful makes it absolutely appaling."

He spoke at an awards meeting of the Omaha Association of Life Underwriters.

Mongolia Calls For Summit Meeting To Heal Red Split

Moscow (UPI) — Mongolia Tuesday called for a summit meeting of the world's Communist Parties to heal the split caused by Communist China's ideological struggle with Moscow.

Peking has repeatedly rejected all calls for such a meeting. Mongolian Communist Party leader Yumzhagyn Tsedenbal made the plea at the 15th congress of the Mongolian Communist Party in the capital city of Ulan Bator. The meeting was attended by Soviet Party Secretary Alexander Shelzpin and other foreign delegations.

An account of the meeting in Mongolia, once a Chinese possession and now a buffer state between Russia and China, was carried by the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia.

Tsedenbal said Mongolia "takes the same position as the Soviet and other Communist Parties and appeals for the convocation of all Communist and Workers Parties."

Tsedenbal made it clear that China alone is to blame for the split in world communism.

He praised the Soviet Union for "showing restraint, reasonableness and high principles in doing everything possible to restore and strengthen the monolithic unity of the Communists of all countries."

TOP CADET HOSPITALIZED

Cadet Wesley K. Clark, No. 1 in the graduating class at West Point and a Rhodes Scholar, who is suffering from Corneal abrasions of both eyes, is visited at the U.S. Military Academy hospital by Maj. Gen. Donald V. Bennet, USMA superintendant, and his parents, Mr and Mrs. Victor Clark of Little Rock, Ark. Academy spokesmen said the injury should not permanently affect Clark's vision and that he may be able to leave the hospital Wednesday for graduation ceremonies. Clark accepted five awards for his son at Tuesday's awards convocation.

Bell System Defends Its Financial Practices As FCC Begins Probe

Washington (AP) — American Telephone & Telegraph Co. defended its financial practices Tuesday as the Federal Communications Commission launched an investigation into whether the corporate giant is making too much money.

Bell System attorney F. Mark Garlinghouse said that AT&T's earning rate should be increased from 7.8 to 8 per cent if the firm is to keep pace with the nation's exploding communications needs.

Garlinghouse, urging rapid FCC consideration of a rate case that could take three years, said the firm's nearly 3 million stockholders have become concerned over a drop in the company's stock prices since the investigation was announced.

Ben S. Gilmer, executive vice president, testified that Bell System's basic financial structure — with research, manufacturing and operations under common ownership—"is designed to be responsive to our fundamental service objective" and "assures the quality and compatibility required for successful operation of the nationwide network."

Gilmer's testimony was supported by Washington economist Robert R. Nathan; William O. Baker, AT&T vice president for research, and C. W. Buck, president of a New York investment management firm.

The hearings, under FCC acting chairman Rosel H. Hyde, will run through Thursday.

Sake Distillery Offers Insurance

Toyama, Japan (AP)—A sake distillery here is offering a traffic accident insurance policy with every bottle it sells.

Anyone purchasing its deluxe special grade of sake—rice wine—will be insured for a half million yen ($1,388.87) and those buying the first grade 300,000 yen ($833).

The insurance is good for one week if the purchaser sends a certificate attached to the bottle to an insurance company. The distillery claims it has the consumers' interests at heart but critics say the stunt will encourage drunken driving.

North Viet Nam Calls U.S. Peace Proposal 'Hoax'

Tokyo (AP)—North Viet Nam Tuesday night described as an "old hoax" the latest summation of U.S. peace proposals made by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

In a speech at the Catholic University of America in Washington last Sunday, Goldberg called for a mutual cessation of all types of hostilities in Viet Nam and a new Geneva Conference to reaffirm the 1954 and 1962 agreements.

Hanoi's official Viet Nam News Agency (VNA) in commenting on the speech said, "The White House again played the old tune of peace." It added that Goldberg made no mention of one of Hanoi's important demands — withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Viet Nam.

VNA said two reasons were behind the U.S. move—"First, the U.S. imperialists are finding themselves more isolated than ever before the world; second, they have sustained crippling blows in the recent dry season in South Viet Nam."

East Pakistan Police Fire On Rioters

Dacca, East Pakistan (UPI)—Police fired Tuesday on rioting crowds protesting against food shortages in several districts of East Pakistan.

At least six persons were reported killed and 20 wounded by the police bullets. Police said "several hundred" persons were arrested.

The violence stemmed from a strike, designed mainly as a protest against food shortages, which paralyzed Dacca and other East Pakistan communities.

The worst rioting broke out Tuesday morning at Narayanganj, eight miles from Dacca, when police opened fire after a mob burned an automobile and tried to storm the residence of a parliamentary secretary.

In the resulting fusillade, four persons were killed and 16 wounded.

The mob hurled stones and other objects, injuring several policemen.

Senate Approves Fishing Survey

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday approved a resolution directing the secretary of the interior to survey fishing resources in U.S. waters, particularly in coastal areas being fished by foreign fleets.

The resolution now goes to the House, which failed to act on a similar proposal passed by the Senate in the last Congress. The survey would be conducted by the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

Washington (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission has advised residents along the route of the Rock Island Rockets that it is delaying until Oct. 16 action on the request of the line to cease its runs at Omaha. The Rockets now operate between Chicago and Denver.

Mongolia Calls For Summit Meeting To Heal Red Split

Moscow (UPI) — Mongolia Tuesday called for a summit meeting of the world's Communist Parties to heal the split caused by Communist China's ideological struggle with Moscow.

Peking has repeatedly rejected all calls for such a meeting. Mongolian Communist Party leader Yunzhagyn Tsedenbal made the plea at the 15th congress of the Mongolian Communist Party in the capital city of Ulan Bator. The meeting was attended by Soviet Party Secretary Alexander Shelzpin and other foreign delegations.

An account of the meeting in Mongolia, once a Chinese possession and now a buffer state between Russia and China, was carried by the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia.

Tsedenbal said Mongolia "takes the same position as the Soviet and other Communist Parties and appeals for the convocation of all Communist and Workers Parties."

Tsedenbal made it clear that China alone is to blame for the split in world communism.

He praised the Soviet Union for "showing restraint, reasonableness and high principles in doing everything possible to restore and strengthen the monolithic unity of the Communists of all countries."

TOP CADET HOSPITALIZED

Bell System Defends Its Financial Practices As FCC Begins Probe

Washington (AP)— American Telephone & Telegraph Co. defended its financial practices Tuesday as the Federal Communications Commission launched an investigation into whether the corporate giant is making too much money.

Bell System attorney F. Mark Garlinghouse said that AT&T's earning rate should be increased from 7.8 to 8 per cent if the firm is to keep pace with the nation's exploding communications needs.

Garlinghouse, urging rapid FCC consideration of a rate case that could take three years, said the firm's nearly 3 million stockholders have become concerned over a drop in the company's stock prices since the investigation was announced.

Ben S. Gilmer, executive vice president, testified that Bell System's basic financial structure — with research, manufacturing and operations under common ownership— "is designed to be responsive to our fundamental service objective" and "assures the quality and compatibility required for successful operation of the nationwide network."

Gilmer's testimony was supported by Washington economist Robert R. Nathan; William O. Baker, AT&T vice president for research, and C. W. Buek, president of a New York investment management firm.

The hearings, under FCC acting chairman Rosel H. Hyde, will run through Thursday.

Sake Distillery Offers Insurance

Toyama, Japan (AP)—A sake distillery here is offering a traffic accident insurance policy with every bottle it sells.

Anyone purchasing its deluxe special grade of sake—rice wine—will be insured for a half million yen ($1,388.87) and those buying the first grade 300,000 yen ($833).

The insurance is good for one week if the purchaser sends a certificate attached to the bottle to an insurance company. The distillery claims it has the consumers' interests at heart but critics say the stunt will encourage drunken driving.

North Viet Nam Calls U.S. Peace Proposal 'Hoax'

Tokyo (AP)—North Viet Nam Tuesday night described as an "old hoax" the latest summation of U.S. peace proposals made by Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg, chief U.S. delegate to the United Nations.

In a speech at the Catholic University of America in Washington last Sunday, Goldberg called for a mutual cessation of all types of hostilities in Viet Nam and a new Geneva Conference to reaffirm the 1954 and 1962 agreements.

Hanoi's official Viet Nam News Agency (VNA) in commenting on the speech said, "The White House again played the old tune of peace." It added that Goldberg made no mention of one of Hanoi's important demands — withdrawal of U.S. troops from South Viet Nam.

VNA said two reasons were behind the U.S. move—"First, the U.S. imperialists are finding themselves more isolated than ever before the world; second, they have sustained crippling blows in the recent dry season in South Viet Nam."

East Pakistan Police Fire On Rioters

Dacca, East Pakistan (UPI) —Police fired Tuesday on rioting crowds protesting against food shortages in several districts of East Pakistan.

At least six persons were reported killed and 20 wounded by the police bullets. Police said "several hundred" persons were arrested.

The violence stemmed from a strike, designed mainly as a protest against food shortages, which paralyzed Dacca and other East Pakistan communities.

The worst rioting broke out Tuesday morning at Narayanganj, eight miles from Dacca, when police opened fire after a mob burned an automobile and tried to storm the residence of a parliamentary secretary.

In the resulting fusillade, four persons were killed and 16 wounded.

The mob hurled stones and other objects, injuring several policemen.

Senate Approves Fishing Survey

Washington (UPI) — The Senate Tuesday approved a resolution directing the secretary of the interior to survey fishing resources in U.S. waters, particularly in coastal areas being fished by foreign fleets.

The resolution now goes to the House, which failed to act on a similar proposal passed by the Senate in the last Congress. The survey would be conducted by the Bureau of Commercial Fisheries.

DELAY HEARING ON SHORTENING ROCKET ROUTE

Washington (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission has advised residents along the route of the Rock Island Rockets that it is delaying until Oct. 16 action on the request of the line to cease its runs at Omaha. The Rockets now operate between Chicago and Denver.

The ICC had originally set June 16 as the hearing date but postponed it due to protests from towns, organizations and individuals along the route.

Strike Faces Western Union

Washington (AP) — Negotiations between Western Union and the Commercial Telegraphers Union broke off Tuesday night precipitating a nationwide strike against the company.

A spokesman for Western Union said just before midnight that "we broke off negotiations as of this very moment."

"This means," he said, "there will be no public message telegrams accepted or delivered."

But he said private line service and other similar facilities — including government-leased lines—would be in operation "as much as possible."

He said they would be manned by supervisory personnel.

Stand Ready

The company spokesman said there were no plans now for future negotiations with the CTU, but added, "We stand ready to negotiate at any moment."

An estimated 20,000 workers are directly involved in the strike, the spokesman said. He added that he expected members of the Communications Workers of America, another AFL-CIO union to honor the CTU picket line in New York.

The CWA settled with Western Union recently on a separate contract for its members in New York City."

Union Demands

The union is demanding a 6 per cent pay raise for all employes, who now average $2.52 an hour.

The last company offer Tuesday was a 4 per cent wage hike.

The union also wants another 6 per cent pay hike in the second year of a two-year contract, while the company has offered 3.9%.

In addition to wages, pensions are also a major sticking point in the negotiations.

Space Scientist Is Found Dead

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP) — The body of space scientist Henry Kuhn, 49, was found in his home Tuesday with a bullet wound in the head.

Sheriff's deputies said Kuhn apparently shot himself after an argument with his wife, Alida.

The German-born scientist was manager of the technical staff for earth-satellite stations at Hughes Aircraft Co.'s space systems division in nearby El Segundo.

Mrs. Kuhn told officers she found him sprawled in the den when she returned from taking their daughter, Annetta, 14, to school.

Senate Approves Railroad Boards

Washington (UPI)—Legislation permitting creation of special adjustment boards to settle minor railroad labor disputes was passed by the Senate Tuesday and sent to the President.

Chief purpose of the bill is to eliminate a large backlog of cases in two of the four districts under the National Railroad Adjustment Board.

Surgeon General Names Appointee

Washington (UPI) — U. S. Surgeon General William H. Stewart announced Tuesday the appointment of Dr. Henry C. Huntley as chief of the Public Health Service's Division of Health Mobilization.

Huntley will replace Dr. Gabriel P. Ferrazzano, assigned to the Division of Hospitals.

Bride Price Ceiling

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector (AP)—Young men of the Druse sect in the Israeli village of Pequiin in Galilee have publicly complained that brides cost too much and asked their religious leaders to set a ceiling price of 2,000 Israeli pounds ($686). They said bride prices of up to 15,000 pounds force many men to work for years in the cities to earn the male dowry.

Bluffs Seeks DST Law In Nebraska

Council Bluffs, Iowa (UPI) —Council Bluffs officials plan to ask their counterparts in eastern Nebraska cities and towns to put pressure on the Nebraska Legislature to legalize daylight saving time.

Iowa currently has mandatory daylight time while Nebraska law prohibits use of anything but standard time. This puts Council Bluffs an hour ahead of Omaha just across the Missouri River, and often causes considerable confusion.

Strike Faces Western Union

Washington (AP) — Negotiations between Western Union and the Commercial Telegraphers Union broke off Tuesday night precipitating a nationwide strike against the company.

A spokesman for Western Union said just before midnight that "we broke off negotiations as of this very moment."

"This means," he said, "there will be no public message telegrams accepted or delivered."

But he said private line service and other similar facilities — including government-leased lines—would be in operation "as much as possible."

He said they would be manned by supervisory personnel.

Stand Ready

The company spokesman said there were no plans now for future negotiations with the CTU, but added, "We stand ready to negotiate at any moment."

An estimated 20,000 workers are directly involved in the strike, the spokesman said. He added that he expected members of the Communications Workers of America, another AFL-CIO union to honor the CTU picket line in New York.

The CWA settled with Western Union recently on a separate contract for its members in New York City."

Union Demands

The union is demanding a 6 per cent pay raise for all employes, who now average $2.52 an hour.

The last company offer Tuesday was a 4 per cent wage hike.

The union also wants another 6 per cent pay hike in the second year of a two-year contract, while the company has offered 3.9%.

In addition to wages, pensions are also a major sticking point in the negotiations.

Bluffs Seeks DST Law In Nebraska

Council Bluffs, Iowa (UPI) —Council Bluffs officials plan to ask their counterparts in eastern Nebraska cities and towns to put pressure on the Nebraska Legislature to legalize daylight saving time.

Iowa currently has mandatory daylight time while Nebraska law prohibits use of anything but standard time. This puts Council Bluffs an hour ahead of Omaha just across the Missouri River, and often causes considerable confusion.

NOTICE

PURSUANT to Title 1, Federal-Aid Highway Act of 1956, Section 116, which provides that "any State Highway Department which submits plans for a Federal-Aid Highway project involving the by-passing of, or going through, any city, town or village, either incorporated or unincorporated, shall certify to the Federal Highway Administrator that it has had public hearings, or has afforded the opportunity for such hearing, and has considered the economic effects of such location."

The proposed location of Highway Number SPUR 806 BETWEEN DENTON AND EMERALD, PROJECT NO. S-552(4), NECESSARY TO RELOCATE A PORTION OF HIGHWAY TO IMPROVE ALIGNMENT AND NECESSARY TO SECURE RIGHT OF WAY WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF DENTON & EMERALD.

Therefore, the Highway Commission before giving its advice thereon extends an opportunity for a public hearing regarding this matter. If a public hearing is desired, the request should be made to the Highway Commission, Room 1202, State Capitol, Lincoln, Nebraska, on or before the 13th day of June, 1966. In the event a request for a public hearing is made, further notice of the time and place of such hearing will be given.

If a request for a hearing is not received, as herein stated, the Commission will complete its study of the matter and will give its advice thereon. You are requested to post this NOTICE in a conspicuous place for the purpose of giving all persons an opportunity to know of this matter and to request a hearing, if desired.

In the event the State Highway Commission does approve this relocation, and the Highway Department does build the new road or fragment thereof, then the State shall offer to relinquish or abandon the old road or fragment thereof, to the proper subdivision of government involved, the county, the city, or the public corporation directly concerned with maintenance of the old road.

It should be noted that the only parts of the road that will be relinquished are the portions of the old road that are not incorporated in the new road. If no governmental subdivision claims the road it shall then be sold or reverted to the adjoining property owner, according to the statute.

If a public hearing is desired on this matter, notice should be given to the Highway Commission before the above mentioned date.

In the event a public hearing is requested, it will be held at the same time and place as the above mentioned relocation hearing, and public notice of time and place of such a hearing will be given. If no request for a hearing is received, the Commission will complete its study of the matter and will give its advice thereon.

It should be made clear that the State Highway Commission has no intention of abandoning or relinquishing the above mentioned road unless and until the new route is approved and completed.

Dated this 27th day of May, 1966.

Lyle G. Trease, Secretary

Space Scientist Is Found Dead

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP) — The body of space scientist Henry Kuhn, 49, was found in his home Tuesday with a bullet wound in the head.

Sheriff's deputies said Kuhn apparently shot himself after an argument with his wife, Alida.

The German-born scientist was manager of the technical staff for earth-satellite stations at Hughes Aircraft Co.'s space systems division in nearby El Segundo.

Mrs. Kuhn told officers she found him sprawled in the den when she returned from taking their daughter, Annetta, 14, to school.

Senate Approves Railroad Boards

Washington (UPI)—Legislation permitting creation of special adjustment boards to settle minor railroad labor disputes was passed by the Senate Tuesday and sent to the President.

Chief purpose of the bill is to eliminate a large backlog of cases in two of the four districts under the National Railroad Adjustment Board.

Surgeon General Names Appointee

Washington (UPI) — U. S. Surgeon General William H. Stewart announced Tuesday the appointment of Dr. Henry C. Huntley as chief of the Public Health Service's Division of Health Mobilization.

Huntley will replace Dr. Gabriel P. Ferrazzano, assigned to the Division of Hospitals.

Bride Price Ceiling

Jerusalem, Israeli Sector (AP)—Young men of the Druse sect in the Israeli village of Pequiin in Galilee have publicly complained that brides cost too much and asked their religious leaders to set a ceiling price of 2,000 Israeli pounds ($686). They said bride prices of up to 15,000 pounds force many men to work for years in the cities to earn the male dowry.

Ohio Staff Unit Backs Hall Hiring

Columbus, Ohio (UPI)—Supporting the appointment of Dr William E. Hall as director of the School of Journalism, the Ohio State University Faculty Committee blamed most of the controversy about the school on misunderstanding

The appointment of Hall, who takes over July 1, was excellent, the nine-member committee said in a report asked by Arts College Dean J. Osborn Fuller.

The selection of Hall, currently director of the Journalism School at the University of Nebraska, aroused protests from some of the school's faculty, students and alumni

The committee said professional journalists who know Hall think highly of him, but it had some criticism of the handling of his appointment

Among its conclusions

—Circumstances in which the appointment was made justified and required appointment of the new director even against expressed wishes of a majority of the school's faculty

—"Inflammatory statements by Dr Hall" after his appointment were "unfortunate but understandable" in view of the faculty's attitude toward him

—"The Professional Journalism Advisory Council gave useful help and advice but "the effect of intervention of certain of its members was disastrous."

—"No evidence is found to support the charge that administration control of the Ohio State Lantern (daily campus newspaper) was a factor in Hall's selection "

—Dean Fuller failed to maintain adequate communications with the journalism faculty

Only 2 Men Appear For Tax Meeting

Only two members of the governor's so-called blue ribbon tax committee showed up Tuesday for the first day of a scheduled two-day meeting to formulate tax recommendations for Gov. Frank Morrison.

"I guess there was a mix-up in the schedule," said Richard C. Brown of Holdrege, executive secretary of the Nebraska School Boards Association

Brown and Mullen rancher Marvin Tucker, the two newest members of the eight-member committee, were the only two who appeared for the meeting.

Other members of the committee include Herbert Hughes of Imperial, Vince Rossiter of Hartington Warren Johnson of Lincoln, and James West Leo A Daly and A P Jacobsen all of Omaha

Gov. Morrison has said he will make major tax recommendations to be based in large part on the findings of the blue ribbon committee.

$12,705 OK'd For Hall County

Gov. Frank Morrison announced Tuesday he has approved a $12,705 grant to the Hall County Opportunity Program, Inc.

The organization, of which Mrs. Lawrence V. Anderson of Grand Island is president, will use the funds for planning and developing an area-wide community action program. The organization plans to employ a director, clerical help and five non-professional resident aides.

The Hall County opportunity program is the ninth community action agency to be approved officially by the governor.

Morrison said he expects to approve a similar grant for Kearney before June 30
